CAMPBELL'S TRIAL SET FOR OCT. 21

WORLD SERIES MAY END WITH TODAY'S GAME

Philadelphia Can Clinch Title by Victory in Home Park.

GROVE AND HALLAHAN FAVORED AS HURLERS

Win by St. Louis Would Make Seventh Tilt Necessary.

FANS KEEP ALL-NIGHT VIGIL OUTSIDE GATES

40,000 Expected to Attend Sixth Battle; Work of Pitchers Lauded.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 7.—The world series skirmishing breaks out anew on the Eastern front tomorrow with the Athletics intent on a crowning victory over the Cardinals and the bleacherites already bivouacked outside the gates of Shibe Park in anticipation of the major engagement of the series.

Ready to meet the menacing thrust of the Athletics, who need only tomorrow's game to establish American League supremacy for the fourth consecutive year, is the pudgy figure of "Wild Bill" Hallahan, the Cardinals' Horatius of the third series battle, the first St. Louis pitcher to halt the imminent rout of the National Leaguers, and tonight again the man of the hour for the Cardinals.

The Athletics today fell back upon their Shibe Park stronghold after a day of traveling had transported the teams East, with the victory in the final game at St. Louis fortifying Philadelphia with a 3-to-2 lead. Shibe Park was the scene of the Mackmen's first two triumphs, and 40,000 noncombatants will return tomorrow, hoping to be in at the "kill."

Grove vs. Hallahan.

Well has this current world series proven the old axiom that pitching is 60 per cent of a team's strength. Hallahan will be opposed by no Walberg tomorrow. Wise old Connie Mack will not gamble again with other than his two pitching aces, Grove and Earnshaw, and Grove is the man nominated by the concensus to face Hallahan and the Cardinals, with Earnshaw a possibility despite his hard-pitched game of yesterday. And, if necessary, Mack is expected to call both into action tomorrow.

The Cardinals return to Philadelphia commanding a respect that was not theirs in the two opening engagements of the series, when they were summarily defeated by Grove and Earnshaw. The courageous stand in St. Louis in which they recovered many of their batting eyes against Walberg and Grove and produced in Haines and Hallahan two pitchers who could stop the long-distance clouting of the Athletics, has served mightily to shake the confidence of American League supporters.

And, save for the rollicking and all-decisive home run of Jimmy Foxx in Monday's ninth inning, the big guns of the Athletics' offensive were effectively spiked and the top and bottom of the Philadelphia batting order was no more effective than the middle.

Good Pitching Dominates Series.

But good pitching has dominated this world series almost completely. The Cardinals, too, have been pitiful at the plate, and with a meager average of .206, representing 33 hits in 159 times at bat, are leading the Athletics in that respect, as the men of Mack have made but 28 hits in 150 times at bat for a pathetic percentage of .137.

To Big Jim Bottomley is attributable much of the Cardinals grief. Again, he is a "bust" as he was in 1928 against the Yankees, although in 1926 against the same New York club he was a hitting hero. Bottomley has failed the Cardinals at bat in shameful fashion. As clean-up man in the batting order, he has been a loadstone about the collective necks of the Cardinals, making only one hit in 29 times at bat for the indescribably poor percentage of .050.

Good pitching will stop him it seems, for he is a free swinger and eight of his nineteen outs have been strikeouts. The top of the Cardinals' batting order has also failed their pitchers. Jimmy Wilson, batting sixth, and Charley Gelbert, hitting seventh, have been the heroes of St. Louis on the attack, with Gelbert, the particular star of the series thus far, with the fine average of .429

Calvin Coolidge

Says: We ought to get some light on how to conduct our public affairs by observing how we manage our private affairs. When times are good and money is plenty we are willing to make liberal commitments. We take chances even to the extent of reckless extravagance. But at such times we want a conservative government. We disapprove of any proposed radical action.

But when some depression in business comes we begin to be very conservative in our financial affairs. We save our money and take no chances in its investment. Yet in our political actions we go in the opposite direction. We begin to support radical measures and cast our votes for those who advance the most reckless proposals.

This is a curious and entirely illogical reaction. When times are good we might afford to take a chance on radical government. But when we are financially weakened we need the soundest and wisest of men and measures.

The coming election is no time for rash experiments. The best we can get will be none too good. It is a time to use the same care in our politics that we use in our finances.

NYE'S GROUP NEARS SPLIT WITH MEMBER

Ill-Feeling Develops Over Patterson's Stand in McCormick Tilt.

QUIZZES NEAR FINISH

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The Nye campaign expenditures investigating committee has just about come to the end of the rope with Senator Patterson, of Missouri.

The committee held a meeting yesterday after which it was announced that its preelection activities would be confined to Nebraska and Tennessee and maybe North Carolina. It simply has not the time to go into Colorado, West Virginia, Massachusetts and other States, it was explained, although Senator Wagner, of New York, was asked to sort of look into the Massachusetts situation.

But behind the dignified announcement of its future plans is a story of considerable feeling on the part of the other committee members against Senator Patterson, and it is shared by the stanch Republican, Senator Dale, as much as it is by the Progressive Republican, Senator Nye, and the Democrats.

It developed over Senator Patterson's attitude in the committee's tilt with the Widow McCormick out in Chicago. It came at the time when the committee was sorely in need of a friend.

The committee got such a browbeating out there as a Senate committee has never received before and Senator Patterson, by his attitude, is looked upon as having aided and abetted the McCormick attack. For one thing he refused to sign the committee denial that any of its members or agents had been engaged in wire tapping. He explained that he had not been close enough to the committee's work to know whether the charges were true or not. He also wanted the committee to grant Mrs. McCormick's representatives an opportunity to prove their charges.

And even now he blandly laments that the committee did not give Mrs. McCormick's representatives this opportunity. The other committee members say very emphatically that

BODIES OF DIRIGIBLE DEAD REACH LONDON

Humble and Wealthy Alike Crowd Dingy Station as 47 Victims Arrive.

TO LIE IN WESTMINSTER

London (Wednesday), Oct. 8 (A.P.). An engine bearing a huge laurel wreath in front pulled into Victoria Station at 1:25 a. m. today with the special train from Dover bringing into the heart of the empire the bodies of the 47 dead of the dirigible R-101.

The train arrived amid a silence broken only by the puffing of the engine and the sudden, sharp cry, "Present arms!" to a guard of honor from the Royal Air Force lined up on the platform of the dingy station.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, accompanied by his daughter Ishbel, stood waiting at the head of a group of Labor cabinet ministers. Nearby stood a sad group of relatives of the dead.

Representatives of the air ministry, mourning their dead chief, Lord Thomson, and a delegation of air force officers, and other officials were also present.

As the train stopped a number of air force tenders, waiting to bear the bodies to Westminster Mortuary, moved forward to the side of the cars.

They were led by Prime Minister MacDonald, walking with bowed head, amid the nation's other representatives.

Parties of the air force men moved quickly and silently forward to the doors of the cars, which were swiftly opened. The coffins, draped in the union jack, were reverently lifted and borne to the tenders, two being placed on each. Wreaths of flowers were laid upon them.

The transference was carried out with military speed and precision and amid a virtual silence in the building except for words of command.

The 24 tenders then moved forward in a line toward the mortuary through a great throng of the public that had been waiting for hours

HOOVER TALKS OF POLITICS ON HIS WAY HOME

Speaks to Large Crowds in North Carolina as Train Pauses.

THRONGS HEAR HIM AT KINGS MOUNTAIN

WARNS AGAINST RISE OF FOREIGN SYSTEMS

All Would Mean Destruction of Equal Opportunity, President Says.

President Hoover's Special Train, en Route to Washington, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—President Hoover, for the first time since he left the Capital on his swing over the East and South, talked a little politics as he sped homeward tonight across North Carolina, handshaking and speaking from the rear platform.

At Salisbury, to a man in the crowd who yelled that "We are for Hoover 100 per cent," the President replied, "Now that you have the habit, keep at it."

At one small town after another after his departure from Kings Mountain the special train stopped momentarily and the Chief Executive abandoned his practice of not speaking by saying a few words at each stop.

Praises State's Progress.

To the people of Charlotte, where the only prearranged halt had been planned, he thanked the people for the overwhelming welcome he had received and praised the progress of the State.

At Kannapolis, where babies were held up for him to shake hands with them and a band played, he again said a few words.

Not since the days of his 1928 campaign has the Chief Executive taken part in a demonstration like that which greeted him on his trip back across North Carolina, one of the five Southern States which gave him its electoral vote in the last presidential election.

Milling masses of people gathered about the rear platform of his train at each of the small towns, with only a few miles between each.

Wears Cutaway Coat.

Mr. Hoover, still wearing his cutaway coat he had donned for the celebration, but no hat, spent much of the evening on the platform and beside him, smiling and waving her handkerchief, was Mrs. Hoover.

Attendants at times had trouble blocking off persons who insisted upon climbing on the car to shake hands with the Chief Executive.

In a mountain valley close beside the Kings Mountain battleground in South Carolina, descendants of the small band of patriots who fought there in 1780 today heard President Hoover plead for the preservation of American institutions which had their birth in the Revolutionary War.

Citing the growth of foreign systems of government which he said destroy "the driving force of equality," the President said "it is the first duty of those of us who believe in the American system to maintain a knowledge of and a pride in it, not particularly because we need fear those foreign systems but because we have need to sustain ours in purity and strength."

Crowd Stands in Sun.

Thousands of persons, forming a panorama up the hillside across from where Mr. Hoover spoke, stood in a bleaching sun to hear him. Huge

TIGHTER RUM BAN PLAN ABANDONED

Dry Bureau Not to Seek Law for Further Restriction of Doctors' Liquor.

COST CALLED TOO GREAT

(Associated Press.)

The Justice Department yesterday advised Representative Britten (Republican), Illinois, that the Prohibition Bureau has abandoned its plan to propose legislation to restrict further whisky withdrawals by physicians for office use.

Assistant Attorney General Youngquist, in charge of prohibition enforcement, said in a letter to Mr. Britten the plans had been disregarded after discussions with officers of the American Medical Association. Present regulations, which permit the single purchase of six quarts of whisky annually, have been retained, Mr. Youngquist wrote.

Mr. Britten recently filed with Attorney General Mitchell a complaint against a proposed change to require physicians to file a separate application each two months for a single quart of whisky for office or surgical use.

"The suggestion that one quart be allowed every 60 days," Mr. Youngquist said, "was contained in a tentative draft of the proposed legislation prepared sometime ago and submitted to the various bodies interested, including the American Medical Association, for comment and suggestions. The matter has since been discussed with officers of the American Medical Association and it has been decided to retain the present regulations which permit the single purchase of six quarts of whisky annually."

Mr. Britten said if proposed legislation had been made effective it would have required the issuance of millions of applications as well as the employment of large additional office forces at a great expense to the Government.

"It would have cost the Treasury a lot of money and would have been a constant annoyance to reputable physicians everywhere and would not have prevented the legal issuance of a single quart of whisky," he said.

Jobless Veterans Asked To Advance on Capital

New York, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—A call for unemployed World War veterans to march in a parade to Washington was issued today at a mass meeting of the unemployed in Union Square.

One speaker predicted 50,000 would take part in the march, but only 200 attended the mass meeting.

Envoy to U. S. Foresees Bloodshed if Crisis Calls for It.

(Associated Press.)

News of an attack upon American property in Brazil came yesterday coincident with a statement from Ambassador S. Gurgel do Amaral, of that country, saying that his government would resort to bloodshed to quell the revolution "when bloodshed was inevitable."

His statement came shortly before the State Department received word from S. Walter Washington, American Charge d'Affaires at Rio de Janeiro, that the American-owned street car service and elevator service between the upper and lower levels of the City of Bahia had been attacked Saturday and Sunday. State police were understood to have stood off the attack, and the cablegram added that the service would be resumed today.

In a prepared interview Ambassador do Amaral declined to minimize or magnify the seriousness of revolutionary activities in his country. He said that the government would resort to bloodshed "when bloodshed was inevitable."

Embassy reports were that President Washington Luis is himself directing organization of federal resources to combat the revolutionaries, whose number has been estimated at 80,000 men.

Communication facilities into the interior of the immense republic were described as poor, but this was regarded as equally disadvantageous to both sides.

Official reports at the embassy told of riots at Para which were dominated by state and federal troops. Some rioting in Pernambuco was described by revolting state troops in Parahyba. The dispatches said, however, that Sao Paulo and Rio de

DEPARTMENT STORE HEAD DIES SUDDENLY

Morton H. Goldenberg, 48, Falls Dead of Heart Attack at Laurel Races.

Morton H. Goldenberg, 48 years old, sole proprietor of Goldenberg's Department Store, Seventh and K streets northwest, died suddenly of a heart attack late yesterday afternoon while watching the races at the Laurel, Md., track.

An inquest will be held at 11 o'clock this morning in the office of the secretary at the Laurel track. The inquest, it is expected, will be a mere formality at which Dr. B. P. Warren, of Laurel, will be the principal witness. Dr. Warren was called when Mr. Goldenberg fell and pronounced him dead of apoplexy.

Mr. Goldenberg, apparently in the best of health, appeared at his store yesterday morning and left at 1 o'clock for the races to join a party of friends. He had not been ill and his collapse at the track was a complete shock to his friends. He fell just at the finish of the sixth race on the card, but was dead before medical aid could reach him.

According to Charles Finney, advertising manager of the store, who was notified of Mr. Goldenberg's death last night, funeral arrangements have not been completed, but services will be held in Baltimore, where Mr. Goldenberg maintained his residence in the Emersonian Apartments. The body will be removed to Baltimore immediately after the inquest.

Mr. Goldenberg had inherited the department store from his father and brother, The father, M. Goldenberg, founded the firm almost 35 years ago and at his death the store was handed down to Julius M. and Morton H.

COURT DENIES BAIL REQUEST IN BAKER CASE

Arlington Realty Dealer Jailed After Plea of Not Guilty.

AGREEMENT PROOF DECLARED LACKING

U. S. Counsel Objects to Continuing Original $30,000 Bond.

CROWD JAMS ROOM AS CAPTIVE APPEARS

Killing Suspect Expresses Confidence of Gaining Liberty Soon.

The trial of Herbert M. Campbell, accused of the murder of Mary E. Baker, will start in the District Supreme Court on October 21. Bond was refused him yesterday by Associate Justice Jesse Adkins when the prisoner pleaded not guilty at his arraignment.

Campbell was committed to the District Jail when Assistant United States Attorney William H. Collins objected to the continuance of the $30,000 bond, under which the suspect was freed on September 30 by Federal Judge D. Lawrence Groner when Campbell waived removal proceedings in Alexandria.

Justice Adkins, in his declination, asserted that the refusal of bond was made without prejudice and said that the defense could renew application for bail if it desired. Chief Defense Counsel Charles Henry Smith was undecided last night whether he would press for freedom of his client.

Agreement Plea Fails.

William E. Leahy, who appeared with the defense counsel, argued that the Government had made an agreement with the defense to release the man on bond. In the absence of proof of this agreement Justice Adkins sent Campbell to jail.

In voicing objection to the release, Mr. Collins said: "This murder is the most heinous in the history of the District. We say that the defendant committed it. The Government objects to his release under bond."

The suspect appeared in court in the morning. After entering his plea before a crowded courtroom, the jurist adjourned court until 3 o'clock after instructing Mr. Collins to be prepared to make a definite recommendation as to whether the bond should be continued.

Chinese Case Cited.

Mr. Collins had objected to the statement of Mr. Leahy that the Government was agreeable to the bond continuance. "Under the revised statutes," he said, "that matter rests entirely within the discretion of the court and I do not want to make any recommendation whatever."

In support of his argument for bail, Mr. Leahy cited the case of Siang Sung Wan, alleged slayer of three Chinese in a mission on Kalorama road several years ago. He said that the Chinese was granted bail before his case was nolle prossed.

When the hearing was reopened at 3 o'clock Mr. Leahy renewed his plea for the continuance of the bond, asserting that he believed that the Government might object, fearing that the case might operate as a precedent in the District.

New Aspect Claimed.

"But this case," he continued, "presents a new aspect. The defendant has already been freed by a Federal District judge with the agreement of the United States attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia. This attorney, Maj. Paul W. Kear, knew the

Reds Try to Win Over Army Men, Fish Committee Hears

Efforts Fruitless, However, Colonel Testifies, as Inquirers End San Francisco Session and Prepare to Listen to Will Hays in Los Angeles.

San Francisco, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—The Communist investigating committee, headed by Representative Hamilton Fish, jr., of New York, closed its San Francisco session today after hearing testimony tending to show Communist efforts to subvert enlisted men of the United States Army.

The committee will open sessions tomorrow in Los Angeles, where Will Hays, movie mogul, has been summoned to tell what he may know of the alleged distribution of Communist propaganda via the talking screen. The committee heard testimony to that effect in Portland, Oreg., last week.

Witnesses today included Col. Fred L. Dengler, Army intelligence officer; John McFadden, a Boy Scout executive; William Conn, general manager of the Columbia Steel Co. at Pittsburg, Calif., and Capt. J. Sturm, Army reserve officer.

All told of distribution of Communist propaganda to soldiers and workers and the testimony included one instance of distribution of pamphlets to Boy Scouts.

Although Communist organizers worked at citizens military training camps in California this summer, their seeds of propaganda fell largely upon barren ground, the Congressional committee was told.

Col. Dengler presented photostatic copies of eight circulars and one newspaper clipping as proof Communists were active among soldiers and student officers, and testified the propaganda had been "wholly ineffective in military circles."

The commitee recalled William Simons, Communist organizer and asked him whether, in a speech last spring in Oakland, he had told unemployed "Don't be alarmed at this unemployment situation" because it was the result of the plan of Soviet Russia to develop discontent in the United States.

Simons said he never blamed unemployment on Russia "because it is the fault of the boss class, the system here."

THIS IS THE ANSWER

It is sometimes difficult to reconcile the fact that official figures show lower commodity prices today than at any time since 1924 . . . The reason is that the American people have constantly raised their standards of living—we all view as necessities the things that were considered luxuries a generation ago; we all have our automobiles, radios and labor-saving appliances that could formerly be enjoyed by only a few . . . The purchasing power of the dollar HAS increased, and because of this fact we are able to live in greater comfort and derive more pleasure from life than ever before . . . and as we exercise our buying capacity we create American prosperity.

Life Crews Stand By to Aid 23 on Badly Leaking Vessel

Freighter Burlington, Shrouded by Fog, Pounded by Seas, Aground on Lake Michigan Rocks; Help Believed Adequate to Save Sailors.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Shrouded by fog, the freighter Burlington, with a crew of 23 men aboard, was aground on rocks in Lake Michigan, a mile off Cudahy, Wis. Two Coast Guard life crews and the lightship Hyacinth stood by to render assistance.

Moderately heavy seas pounded the Burlington and she was reported taking water fast, but coast guards expressed little fear that lives would be lost.

In case adverse weather springs up and threatens to pound the Burlington to pieces, there is adequate help at hand to prevent loss of life, they said. At present, there is little danger of the ship breaking up.

Chicago, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Coast Guard cutters late today were racing at top speed to the rescue of the steamer Burlington, which went aground a mile off Cudahy, Wis., during the afternoon and wirelessed that it was in danger of sinking. The Burlington, loaded with steel, carried a crew of 23 men. Its S O S messages announced it was being battered severely by the surf and was leaking badly.

Standing by, ready to attempt to rescue the Burlington's crew, was the small U. S. S. Hyacinth, a Milwaukee lightship. Navigation experts said the Hyacinth was only a tender and probably could not take all the wrecked ship's crew aboard, even if it could get close enough.

Experts were convinced that the Burlington must have struck a rock. Had she struck a sand shoal it was unlikely that she would have sprung serious leaks, they said.

The situation of the Burlington and its crew was made more hazardous by a hard-driven mist and rain, which the Hyacinth reported made sight impossible at a distance of 100 feet.

The Burlington, a 2,029-ton steel ship, operated by the D. Sullivan facts of the case and assented to bond.

"The Government, through Judge Groner, admitted him to bond and this court, the same sovereignty, is asked to continue the action of another United States court."

Mr. Leahy emphasized that Campbell returned to court according to his promise. "This defendant has pursued no dilatory tactics. He is concerned only with the clearing of his name and a speedy determination of his innocence. What he wishes is a speedy trial. If he was inclined to escape he could have done it while under bond."

At this point Mr. Collins interposed his objection to the bond, whereupon Justice Adkins declared that if he had heard the facts he might pursue the same course that Judge Groner did when he granted bond.

Removal Right Not Conceded.

Mr. Smith entered the discussion and prefaced his argument with the assertion that the defense did not concede that the Government could have removed Campbell to this jurisdiction.

"The defendant's presence here is the result of an agreement made in good faith by the defense and Maj. Kear. The granting of bond to my client was a return for his waiving his right to fight removal."

The court then pointed out that Mr. Collins was not a party to the agreement and added that the defense, in asking bond in a first degree murder charge, was requesting something unusual.

Mr. Leahy offered to produce the record to show that facts had been presented at the removal hearing that would indicate the innocence of Campbell and asked permission to furnish this record, to which the court assented.

Trial Date Set Instead.

When Mr. Collins pointed out that the presentation of the witnesses would be tantamount to a trial of the case, this course was abandoned and the trial date was set.

The denial of bond came as a surprise to Campbell. He was confident that he would be immediately released. Frank G. Campbell, brother of the accused, was the only near relative in the courtroom.

Fulton R. Gordon, a Washington real estate dealer, was prepared to sign the proposed bond if the signature of Campbell's brother was not satisfactory.

When Campbell was taken from the courtroom, he turned to a friend and expressed confidence that his release would be had shortly. About 100 persons watched him as he was taken from the courthouse in a patrol wagon.

Woman Asks $10,000 For Alleged Slander

Alleging she had been slandered, Betty Gehrman, of Irving street northwest near Fourteenth street, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court, seeking to recover $10,000 damages from Joseph L. Arnold, of Thirty-fifth street northwest, near R street.

The woman, through Attorneys Joseph Bonuso and Joseph C. Turco, declares that the defendant made disrespectful and disparaging remarks about her on a public street and in the presence of others. As a result, she states her reputation has been damaged and she has become the subject of common gossip.

E. K. Mackintosh, representative of the purchasing firm, made the only bid.

The building, an office structure, is eleven stories high, of brick and stone, and was built in 1928 for The Chandler Building Corporation, original owners, by the Fletcher Fireproofing Co. M. G. Lipley was the architect. The estimated cost of the building was listed at $200,000 at that time, and the current assessed value of the land and building is now placed at $351,015 by District building records. The auction was conducted by Vernon G. Owen, of Thomas J. Owen & Son.

The La Salle Apartment at Connecticut avenue and L street northwest, built about four years ago by Barry Wardman at a cost of $1,300,000, has been sold to Maj. W. L. Browning, vice president of the Mayflower Hotel Corporation, for $75,000 cash and the assumption of $800,000 in trusts.

CIVIC FEDERATION RAPS SUPERVISORS

Arlington County Citizens Hit Alleged Unfair Use of Water.

RESOLUTION IS PASSED

The Arlington County Civic Federation at a meeting held last night in the Lyon Park Community House unanimously adopted a resolution offered by Mrs. Florence E. Cannon, delegate from the Arlington Citizens Association condemning the action of the county board of supervisors in permitting Robert H. Forman to connect his residence with water for domestic use from pipes supplying his nursery.

The basis of criticism of the board's action as stated in the resolution is the alleged fact that Mr. Forman's water meter is of the class for commercial users and that the water served through such meters is charged for at the rate of 30 cents per 1,000 gallons.

Mr. Forman, the resolution declares, "is now enjoying the use of water for domestic purposes at a flat rate of 30 cents per 1,000 gallons, with no minimum charge, while home owners generally are required to pay for water used for domestic purposes at the rate of 60 cents per 1,000 gallons for the first 40,000 gallons, and 30 cents per 1,000 gallons of water in excess of 40,000, and, in any event, must pay a minimum charge of $24 per year, whether they use as much as 40,000 or not."

The resolution states that other commercial users of water who happen to be domiciled in the premises where they employ such water commercially are also using water for domestic purposes through their commercial meter and at the commercial rate. Such use of water is characterized by the resolution as "a discrimination in favor of a few domestic water users and against the large body of domestic water users who are required to pay a higher rate."

Wife Awakes to Find Husband Dead by Side

Special to The Washington Post.

Luray, Va., Oct. 7.—Virgil Peterfish, about 60, well-known undertaker, was found dead in bed at his home in Stanley, this county, at an early hour this morning. The discovery was made by Mrs. Peterfish, was was sleeping with her husband. His body was cold when she attempted to arouse him about 7 o'clock. When Mr. Peterfish retired he was in his usual health.

During the flu epidemic in this county in 1918, Mr. Peterfish is said to have buried more people than any other country undertaker in Virginia. It was his oft-expressed wish to die suddenly and in his sleep. He was a member of one of the oldest families in the Shenandoah Valley, his ancestors coming to this section about the year 1740.

The man found on the Washington-Richmond Highway near Virginia Highlands at an early hour Sunday morning in an unconscious condition was yesterday identified at Gallinger Hospital as Henry Gentry, an employe of the Smoot Sand & Gravel Co., residing in a houseboat near the Highway Bridge. His condition was said last night to be critical.

Identification was made by T. G. Gilbert, head of the company, who went to the hospital when Gentry failed to report for work Monday morning.

Jefferson Shrine Pays Mortgage

Formal Ceremony Is Held to Devote Lifting of Debt.

New York, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Dr. George J. Ryan, president of the New York City Board of Education and chairman of the bond committee of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation, received today in a formal ceremony a receipt, denoting payment in full of $300,000 second mortgage on Monticello, Jefferson's Virginia estate, which the foundation purchased in 1923 for $500,000 as a national shrine.

The receipt was handed to Dr. Ryan by Col. Robert L. Harrison in the presence of the trustees of the fund, educators and representatives of New York school children, who contributed $90,000 in pennies to the foundation. Dr. Ryan in turn handed the receipt to Stuart G. Gibboney, president of the foundation.

The foundation purchased Monticello for $500,000 from Jefferson M. Levy, paying $100,000 cash and giving the second mortgage and a $100,000 first mortgage. In all $683,598 has been raised to purchase and rehabilitate the estate.

Woman, 90, Dies From Old Injury

Mrs. Margaret R. Barbour Was Leader in Church at Manassas.

Special to The Washington Post.

Manassas, Va., Oct. 7.—Mrs. Margaret R. Barbour, granddaughter of John Williams, the first court clerk of Prince William County, and wife of the late Dr. C. C. Barbour, died here this morning following an illness brought on by a fall in August. She was 90 years old, but up to the time of the accident had remained active in the social and church life of the community in which she had lived for so many years.

Mrs. Barbour was a charter member of Manassas Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and until August each Sunday taught an adult Sunday school class in the Baptist Church.

Funeral services will be held in the Baptist Church here Thursday at 2 p. m., with burial in the family plot near Brentsville.

PAVING JOB IS LET TO BETHESDA MAN

TO BE DONE IN 45 DAYS

Montgomery County Commissioners yesterday awarded the contract for paving the center strip along the car tracks on Wisconsin avenue from Bradley Lane to the Bank of Bethesda to Raymond H. Burrows, Bethesda contractor. The low bid was $11,487. The work is to be completed in 45 working days.

The paving will add greatly to the appearance of Wisconsin avenue in the business district of Bethesda and will eliminate a dangerous condition. At some points the avenue is as much as a foot above the level of the car tracks. A curb is to be built along the car tracks to eliminate this danger and the widespread paving strip will provide a more usable and safer street for the heavy traffic at this point.

The county commissioners directed that the new courthouse building under construction be adequately protected by insurance. The insurance is to be purchased as the construction work is carried forth so that it will equal the value of the completed structure. Rapid progress is being made on the building, the brick foundation work being nearly completed and work on the steel construction having been started.

Plans and a contract for the construction of the Boyd pedestrian underpass by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad were received yesterday from H. A. Lane, chief engineer of the railroad. The plans were turned over to Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, counsel to the county commissioners, for study and report.

The commissioners approved a petition for rezoning of a tract on the Colesville pike at Silver Spring from residential "A" to commercial "D" which had been filed by Theodore Johnson, of Silver Spring. No objections were presented at a hearing on the rezoning held October 3 at the Silver Spring County Building.

The report on the county almshouse for the last year was presented by Lacy Shaw, county commissioner in charge, and was approved.

Davis Estate Contest Settlement Reached

Settlement of family litigation involving trust funds by heirs of former United States Senator Henry G. Davis and by Mrs. Hallie D. Elkins, of this city, widow of Senator Stephen B. Elkins and daughter of the late Senator Davis, was announced yesterday by the Davis Trust Co., of Elkins, W. Va.

The legal action had been in the form of a suit instituted by children of John T. Davis against the Davis Trust Co., which announced that an order dismissing the case in the Circuit Cour tof Preston County, W. Va., had been signed.

Man Held for Jury On Woman's Story

Complainant Says Thompson Impersonated Officer and Made Threat.

Charged with impersonating an officer, Harry R. Thompson, 40 years old, said to be a former employe of the Police Department, was held for action of the grand jury yesterday when arraigned in Police Court before Judge R. E. Mattingly. Bond was fixed at $1,000.

Miss Margaret Bailey, of Ridge place southeast near Thirteenth street, appeared as the complainant. She declared that Thompson had approached her and told her that unless she made an affidavit concerning another woman to be used in a divorce suit she would have to "ride in the patrol wagon." The woman declared that Thompson had told her he was a detective from police headquarters.

Thompson and Samuel E. Proffitt, his alleged employe, both testified that they had told the woman that Thompson was a private detective. The affidavit, it was brought out, was to be used against Proffitt's wife.

DOMINICAN LEADER ON VISIT TO CAPITAL

Dr. Gillet, Master General of Order, Is Now on Tour of U. S. Friaries.

ASSOCIATE ALSO IN CITY

Head of the Dominican Order throughout the world, the Most Rev. Martin Stanislaus Gillet, maintaining headquarters in Rome, arrived here yesterday afternoon on an official visitation of the Dominican House of Studies at Catholic University.

The master general of the order of preachers, as he is known by reason of his position as seventy-ninth successor to St. Dominic, founder of the order, was accompanied here on his tour of friaries over the country by the Very Rev. Raymond Meagher, provincial of the order in eastern United States, and the Very Rev. Thomas Garde, Father Gillet's associate.

The ecclesiastic is widely known as an authority on educational psychology and as both a preacher and the author of various works, which have been translated into several languages.

Born in a village in the diocese of Verdun in 1875, he pursued his classical studies in France and joined the order at Amiens. With the confiscation of church property by the French government, he went with associates to Belgium and studied at Flavigny and Ghent, being ordained to the priesthood in 1903 and sent to the University of Fribourg, Switzerland.

After receiving his doctorate, he served as professor of moral theology at the University of Louvain, and also lectured from 1909 to 1914 at Saulchoir. The World War intervened and during this period he was made a member of the French Legion of Honor.

After the war he lectured at the Catholic Institute of Paris and gained further prominence as editor of the periodical, "Revue des Jeunes." He served as provincial of the Dominican Order in France and in 1929 was elevated to the highest position in the order. His choice was at once ratified by Pope Pius XI, who gave him a private audience to congratulate him.

Fishing Reel Presented To Hoover by Scouts

Kings Mountain, N. C., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Three Boy Scouts of Troop 2, Gastonia, N. C., got the kick of their lives today when, just before President Hoover's special train pulled out of the station for Washington, they gained permission to board the train to present a new fishing creel to Mr. Hoover.

The creel, presented on behalf of the troop by R. R. Summerrow, scout master, had "Herbert Hoover" tooled in leather on the shoulder strap. The President, an ardent fisherman, accepted the gift with a smile and thanked the young donors warmly.

Daughters of America Elect.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Providence, R. I., was selected for the next convention of the Daughters of America at the biennial session here today. Mrs. Hattie Van Buren, Cesining, was named national councilor.

COURT WILL PUSH RUM CASES AHEAD

Three Days Each Week to Be Devoted to Jury Trials, Instead of Two.

INNOVATIONS ARE MADE

In an effort to clear up the docket of liquor cases in which jury trials have been demanded, the Police Court during the next three weeks will devote at least three days a week to such cases and two judges and perhaps three will preside. In this manner, it is hoped that the docket will be "current" by November 1, Judge Gus A. Schuldt, presiding judge of the tribunal, stated yesterday.

At present, and for many months back liquor cases have had the right of way in Police Court jury branches only on Mondays and Tuesdays, and during that period only one and sometimes two courts have been operating. Judge Schuldt, however, stated that two courts at least would operate after October 13, and indicated that at least another part-time court could be expected.

The decision came late yesterday after a conference between the judge, Assistant United States Attorney David A. Hart and Assistant United States Attorney John R. Fitzpatrick. Mr. Hart is in complete charge of prosecutions in Police Court but specializes in prohibition enforcement. Mr. Fitzpatrick is in charge of the group of asiastants who handle other cases that come under the criminal code. This latter class of cases usually occupies the Wednesday period in the jury branches, while Thursday and Friday are given over to cases arising from the corporation counsel's office.

Mr. Hart announced that he was elated over the new arrangement and declared that he expected to clear the docket of liquor cases before November 1. Mr. Hart has made many innovations in an effort to clear up the docket, which prior to January 1 was several hundred cases behind. He expressed the belief that police efforts to make fewer but better cases is largely a contributing factor.

Two Killed on Freight Train Are Identified

Bringing proof of indentification, a Cumberland, Md., undertaker will arrive in Alexandria, Va., today to take from that town's potter's field the bodies of two young men, buried in nameless graves September 30, after they had been found on top of freight cars in Potomac Yards, presumably killed by a low bridge.

Police circulars and photographs led to the belated identification of the hapless couple as Harvey Keesucker, 21, and Robert Stickley, 22, both of Cumberland, Md. The bodies will be returned today by Stein's Undertaking Co., of Cumberland. Parents of the young men said that they had left their homes early in September to seek work in the South.

Taxicab Driver Reported Missing.

Maurice Adamson, 26 years old, a taxicab driver, is missing from his home on N street near Thirty-second street northwest, his wife last night told police of the Seventh Precinct. Adamson left home a week ago and has not been seen since, police learned.

COTTONSEED QUIZ AT RALEIGH BEGUN

Carolina-Virginia Inquiry of National Association Is Launched.

GROWERS TO BE HEARD

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—The Federal Trade Commission delved into the affairs of the North Carolina-Virginia division of the National Cotton Seed Products Association today in its investigation of cotton seed prices.

The commission seeks to determine if there is evidence of a "price fixing" agreement among cotton oil mills, or whether the mills are attempting to control cotton gins where seed are bought by ownership, loans or otherwise. The investigation was authorized by the Senate.

Maj. W. W. Sheppard, examiner for the commission, opened the hearing in Raleigh after hearings in Georgia and Alabama. W. F. Marsh, secretary of the North Carolina-Virginia division of the Cotton Seed Products Association, occupied the stand throughout the day. He will resume his testimony tomorrow and slated to follow him is W. N. Gregory, of Norfolk, Va., chairman of the division.

Examiner Sheppard announced the Raleigh hearing probably would last two or three weeks.

Individual ctton mill operators, ginners and possibly cotton growers, will be examined, he said.

Under questioning by Walter B. Wooden, trade commission attorney, Mr. Marsh testified he had urged North Carolina oil operators as individuals to maintain a "uniform spread" throughout the season. He denied, however, he has suggested that all of them agree on the same "spread."

By "spread," it was explained, was meant the difference between the cost of the cotton seed to the oil mill and the price received by the mill for the finished cotton seed products. This was figured, Mr. Marsh testified, on a basis of production cost and "a fair profit."

Early in his testimony, Mr. Marsh said there had been "a tacit understanding" between a cotton gin and fertilizer company of which he was president, and the Buckeye Cotton Oil Company, from which he obtained a loan, that cotton seed were to be sold to the Buckeye company on "an open markets." This loan, totaling $9,000, has been repaid, he said.

Members of the association, Mr. Marsh testified, purchased approximately 256,000 to 261,000 tons of seed reported received by North Carolina oil mills last season.

Two Boys Nearly Die Of Water-Heater Gas

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Oct. 7.—John Gaynor, 11, of Baltimore, and Jack Wyatt, 12, this city, were found almost dead from inhaling gas from an automatic water heater in the Wyatt home here yesterday, but were revived through strenuous efforts by the Wyatt youth's father and use of a pulmotor from a local hospital by two physicians.

The lads had gone to the bathroom to bathe. Mrs. Gaynor, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt here with her son, investigated when they failed to return downstairs and found them unconscious. They were reported recovered.

Removal of Gum Ends Boy's Nasal Affliction

Keystone, W. Va., Oct. 7.—After being treated by physicians for five months and being examined by specialists on five or six occasions during that time for a nasal affliction, Bobbie West Holland, 3, son of Mrs. Gertrude Holland, is well and his whole trouble was nothing but a piece of chewing gum.

This was discovered by a Bluefield specialist, who removed the wad in three particles. It is presumed the child swallowed the gum while asleep and it was forced, by breathing, into the nasal cavity.

Industrial Hurts Fewer for Month

Decrease in Work Hours Chiefly Responsible, Official Reports.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Frank P. Evans, statistician of the Virginia Industrial Commission, announcing a decrease of 117 industrial accidents in the State this year, said it did not mean there was a marked improvement in accident experience, but that there was a decrease in the total hours of work over the same months last year.

During the month of September this year there were 3,066 industrial accidents in the State and 10 deaths. In the same month in 1929 there were 3,183 accidents and 8 deaths.

Last month the industrial commission approved 813 agreements by which injured employes received compensation on account of injuries received from industrial accidents. This was an increase of 125 over the same month last year.

New Show Horse Farm Is Planned

Julian Morris May Locate New Undertaking Near Charlottesville.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 7.—Julian Morris, of Keswick, widely known horseman, has returned from the North and is now looking for a suitable farm on which to school horses for a show string which he hopes to make as good or better than his old stable which included such nationally known winners as David Gray, Keswick and Taconite.

Mr. Morris will be connected in this undertaking with A. R. Balsam, of New York and Pinehurst, N. C. He hopes to find a suitable place near the Farmington Country Club, on the Ivy road, just west of the University of Virginia, in the heart of a fine fox hunting section. He will handle hunters and saddle horses.

Mr. Morris is one of the best known men in Virginia at the horse show game and in past years has developed hunters and jumpers that have taken high rank at the big shows of the East, including those at Madison Square Garden. He is a show ring authority and from time to time has been called upon to officiate as judge at many of the big shows of the country. Last year he officiated at one of the California shows.

Orphanage Man's Trial Date Is Set

Official Accused of Taking $37,000 to Face Jury on October 28.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—James P. Jones, under indictment on six counts of grand larceny and embezzlement in connection with a $37,976.40 alleged shortage in his accounts as treasurer of the Virginia Methodist Orphanage, will go to trial October 28.

Date for trial of the former treasurer of the orphanage, who is also a former treasurer of the Virginia Antisaloon League and is at present a member of the General Assembly, was set today by Judge John L. Ingram in hustings court after six indictments were returned against Jones by a grand jury yesterday.

Five of the indictments charge embezzlement and the sixth grand larceny, entailing a total of $37,976.40. The indictments charge that Jones converted to his own use money belonging to the orphanage over a period from July 29, 1927, to April 10, 1930.

Charlottesville Thieves Take $125 Microscope

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 7.—A check-up on apparatus at the University of Virginia biology laboratory building has revealed that the activities of burglars around the section this summer was not confined solely to fraternity houses. One ingenious person took from the first-year laboratory room a microscope, the value of which is estimated at $125.

The microscope was a two-power objective one. It was taken from the laboratory some time between the close of the summer quarter and September 22, when the university opened for regular sessions. A reward has been offered for its recovery.

Miss Frances Hamill was chosen treasurer and Norval Speelman, secretary. Other members of the committee are Robert L. Wilson, Kitzmiller; S. K. Schlossnagel, Accident, and J. L. Ralston.

Bishop Installs College President

Dr. Vernon Lee Phillips Becomes Shenandoah College Head.

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., Oct. 7.—The Christian college today has a definite task to perform in instilling a high moral sense into those who will be the leaders of tomorrow, Bishop G. T. Batdorf, United Brethren Church, of Harrisburg, Pa., declared today in installing Dr. Vernon Lee Phillips, formerly of Kensington, Conn., as president of Shenandoah College at Dayton.

President Phillips, a native of Rockingham County, returns to head the institution he entered as a freshman 23 years ago. He was graduated from Shenandoah, Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio; Bone Brake Theological Seminary and Yale. Shenandoah, a junior college, is one of the seven institutions supported by the United Brethren Church in the United States.

President G. D. Goassard of Lebanon Valley College, Annville, Pa., and W. G. Clippinger, of Otterbein, brought greetings to the sister college and welcomed Dr. Phillips. E. N. Funkhouser, Hagerstown, Md., chairman of the board of trustees, presided.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 7.—Mrs. Harriett P. Early, wife of Dr. J. E. Early, one of the city's best known physicians, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at her home on Park street.

Mrs. Early was, before marriage, Miss Harriett Powell Strother, and was born and reared in Richmond, Va. She had been prominent in the work of local Confederate organizations. Besides her husband, she is survived by one son.

Former District Man Dies in Fredericksburg

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Oct. 7.—Fee L. Williams, 61 years old, formerly of Washington, died in the local hospital today as the result of a 60-foot fall when a scaffold collapsed at Colonial Beach.

R. M. Parr, a coworker, received critical injuries in the fatal crash, and two colored men escaped unhurt. All were engaged on the scaffold.

Cisterns Are Used For School Water

Washington County Classes Resumed Following Shutdown.

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., Oct. 7.—Nearby service as a new source of water for service as a new source of wate rfor two schools in Washington County, which were closed yesterday when the Edgemont and Smithsburg reservoirs became dry. The Chewsville Public School was reopened today, and the Smithsburg High School will resume classes tomorrow, the board of education announced. The high school is being equipped with outside toilets.

The Smithsburg School has secured its drinking water from a nearby spring because the intake pipe from the reservoir is above the chlorinating plant, which makes use of the reservoir water for drinking purposes prohibited by the State department of health.

Residents along the Hagerstown-Smithsburg pike must carry water until rains fill the reservoirs. Farmers along the pipeline are finding it difficult to haul sufficient water for their live stock.

DRY LAW REPEAL AID ASKED OF A. F. OF L.

Resolutions Seek Change in Federation Policy of Modification.

JOBLESS HELP IS SOUGHT

Boston, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Change in the prohibition policy of the American Federation of Labor from modification to repeal was requested today in resolutions submitted to the annual convention. The federation now favors modification to permit the use of beer of 2.75 per cent alcoholic content by weight.

Support of the movement to obtain repeal of the eighteenth amendment and control of liquor dispensing by States was asked in a resolution submitted by Robert Hesketh, of Cincinnati, delegate of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes and Beverage Dispensers International Alliance.

The amendment was referred to as "this solitary sumptuary statute, the intrusion of which into contstitutional realms has so severely hurt our country."

The resolutions were referred to a committee headed by Matthew Woll, third vice president of the federation.

Jobless Insurance Law Urged.

A resolution which delegates predicted would produce much discussion in the convention was one submitted by Thomas A. Stavens, of Newport, R. I., asking for the federation's support of unemployment insurance legislation.

Help in organizing workers in the garment manufacturing centers was asked by the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union. A resolution to that effect said it might be necessary to resort to strikes to obtain "humane and decent living conditions" in those centers.

Other resolutions presented:

Favored extension of the age limit for applicants for employment in Federal Government service.

Protested against the labor policy of chain stores.

Railroad Is Attacked.

Protested against the labor policy of the Union Pacific Railroad.

Proposed indorsement of a bill designed "to correct abuse of patents in the radio art."

Urged the federation to call for the establishment of a bureau for study of the effect of chemical compounds on the health of workers.

Salt Lake City, Utah, through its State federation president, M. I. Thompson, launched a campaign today to bring the 1931 convention to that city. Other cities which extended invitations were San Francisco and Philadelphia.

Lost Deer Hunter Returns.

Reno, Nev., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Carl Schulstrom, of New Rochelle, N. Y., returned to Reno safely today after losing his way in the mountains while hunting deer. He spent nearly two days wandering about before he found his way out. Schulstrom has a divorce action pending here.

HOOVER RAPS CORRUPTION

The address of President Hoover at the celebration yesterday of the 150th anniversary of the Battle of Kings Mountain was as follows:

My Fellow Countrymen:

This is a place of inspiring memories. Here less than a thousand men, inspired by the urge of freedom, defeated a superior force intrenched in this strategic position. This small band of patriots turned back a dangerous invasion well designed to separate and dismember the united colonies. It was a little army and a little battle, but it was of mighty portent. History has done scant justice to its significance, which rightly should place it beside Lexington and Bunker Hill, Trenton and Yorktown, as one of the crucial engagements in our long struggle for independence.

The Battle of Kings Mountain stands out in our national memory not only because of the valor of the men of the Carolinas, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky and Virginia, who trod here 150 years ago, and because of the brilliant leadership of Col. Campbell, but also because of the devotion of those men revived the courage of the despondent colonies and set a nation upon the road of final triumph in American independence.

No American can review the vast panorama of human progress, so mightily contributed to by these men, without renewed faith in humanity, new courage and strengthened resolution.

My friends, I have lived among many peoples and have observed many governments. Each has its own institutions and its own ideals, its own spirit. Many of them I have learned to respect and to admire. It is from these contrasts and these experiences that I wish to speak today—to speak upon the institutions, the ideals, upon the spirit of America.

Great Experiment Unfolded.

In the time since the Battle of Kings Mountain was fought our country has marched from those struggling colonies on the Atlantic seaboard to the full sweep of the Pacific. It has grown from fewer than 3,000,000 people to more than 120,000,000. But far more inspiring than its growth of numbers has been the unfolding of a great experiment in human society. Within this land there have been builded new and powerful institutions designed of new ideas and new ideals in a new vision of human relations. Through them we have attained a wider diffusion of liberty and of happiness and of material things than humanity has ever known before. Our people live in a stronger security from enemies abroad and in greater comfort at home than has ever before been the fortune of a nation. We are filled with justifiable pride in the valor, the inventions, the contributions to art and literature, the moral influence of our people. We glow with satisfaction at the multitude of activities in the Nation, the State, the local community, which spread benefits and blessings among us. We may be proud of our vast economic development over these 150 years, which has secured to the common man greater returns for his effort and greater opportunity for his future than exist in any other place on the earth.

In the large sense we have maintained open the channels of opportunity, constantly refreshing the leadership of the Nation by men of lowly beginnings. We have no class or caste or aristocracy whose privilege limits the hopes and opportunities of our people. Science and education have been spread until they are the universal tools of the common man. They have brought to him the touch of a thousand finer things of life. They have enlarged the horizon of our vision into the inspiring works of God.

Product of Ideas and Ideals.

This unparalleled rise of the American man and woman was not alone the result of riches in lands or forests or mines; it sprang from ideas and ideals, which liberated the mind and stimulated the exertion of a people. There were other parts of the world even more easily accessible to new invasion by man, whose natural resources were as great as those of the United States, yet their history over this 150 years presents no achievement parallel to the mighty march of the United States. But the deadening poverty of other lands was in the absence of the stirring ideas and ideals which have lightened the path of the whole American people. A score of nations have borrowed our philosophy from us, and they have tempered the course of history in yet a score of others. All have prospered under them.

These ideas and these ideals were in the hearts and inspired the souls of the men who fought the Battle of Kings Mountain. They had spurred the migration of their fathers from the persecutions and restricted opportunities of Europe, had been sustained by their religious faith, had been developed in their conflict with the wilderness, and had become the spirit of the American people, demanding for man a larger mastership of his own destiny. Our forefathers formulated them through the Declaration and the Constitution into a new and practical political and social system unique in the world. Devoted generations have secured them to us. It is never amiss for us to review these principles, that we uphold our faith in them, that we search our fidelity to them, that by stretch of our vision over the vast pageant of our accomplishment we should gain courage to meet the difficulties of the day.

Revolt From Dictatorship.

Our political system was a revolt from dictatorship, whether by individuals or classes. It was founded upon the conception that freedom was inalienable, and that liberty and freedom should rest upon law, and that law should spring from the expressed wisdom of the representatives of the majority of the people themselves. This self-government was not in itself a new human ideal, but the Constitution which provided its framework, with the checks and balances which gave it stability, was of marvelous genius. Yet of vastly more importance than even the machinery of government was the inspired charter of the rights of men which it guaranteed. Under them we hold that all men are created equal, that they are equal before the law, and that they should be safeguarded in liberty and, as we express it latterly, in equality of opportunity to every individual, that he may achieve for himself and for the community the best to which his character, his ability and his ambition entitle him.

No student of American history can fail to realize that these principles and ideals grew largely out of the religious origins and spiritual aspirations of our people. From them spring at once the demand for free and universal education, that the door of opportunity and the ladder to leadership should be free for every new generation, to every boy and girl. It is these human rights and the success of government which has maintained them that have stimulated the initiative and effort in each individual, the sum of which has been the gigantic achievement of the Nation. They are the precious heritage of America, far more important, far more valuable, than all the riches in land and mines and factories that we possess. Never had these principles and ideals been assembled elsewhere and combined into government. This is the American system.

We have lived and breathed it. We have seldom tried even to name it. Perhaps we might well abandon efforts to define it—for things of the spirit can be little defined. Some have called it liberalism, but that term has become corrupted by political use. Some have called it individualism, but it is not an individualism which permits men to override the equal opportunity of others. By its enemies it has been called capitalism, and yet under its ideals capital is but an instrument, not a master. Some have called it democracy, yet democracy exists elsewhere under social ideals which do not embrace equality of opportunity.

American System Unique.

Ours is a system unique with America—an expression of the spirit and environment of our people—it is just American.

Parallel with us, other philosophies of society and government have continued or developed and new ones have come into the world, born of the spirit of other peoples and other environments. It is a function of freedom that we should search their claims with open mind, but it is a function of common sense that we should reject them the moment they fail in the test. From experiences in many lands I have sometimes compared some of these systems to a race. In the American system, through free and universal education, we train the runners, we strive to give to them an equal start, our Government is the umpire of its fairness. The winner is he who shows the most conscientious training, the greatest ability, the strongest character. Socialism or its violent brother, Bolshevism, would compel all the runners to end the race equally; it would hold the swiftest to the speed of the most backward. Anarchy would provide neither training nor umpire. Despotism or class government picks those who run and also those who win.

Whatever the merits or demerits of these other systems may be, they all mean the destruction of the driving force of equal opportunity, and they mean the destruction of our Constitution, for our political framework would serve none of them, and many of its fundamental provisions are the negation of them. They mean the abandonment of the Nation's spiritual heritage.

It is significant that some of these systems deny religion and seek to expel it. I can not conceive of a wholesome social order or a sound economic system that does not have its roots in religious faith. No blind materialism can for long engage the loyalties of mankind. Economic aspiration, though it strongly marks the American system, is not an end in itself, but is only one of many instruments to accomplish the profound purposes of the American people, which are largely religious in origin. This country is supremely dedicated, not to the pursuit of material riches, but to pursuit of a richer life for the individual.

Destructive Forces Always at Work.

It would be foolish for me to stand here and say that our political and social system works perfectly. It does not. The human race is not perfect yet. There are disheartening occurrences every hour of the day. There are always malevolent or selfish forces at work, which, unchecked, would destroy the very basis of our American life. These forces of destruction vary from generation to generation; and if we would hand on our great inheritance to our children we must successfully contend with them.

While we can not permit any foreign person or agency to undermine our institutions, yet we must look to our own conduct that we do not by our own failure to uphold and safeguard the true spirit of America weaken our own institutions and destroy the very forces which upbuild our national greatness. It is in our own house that our real dangers lie, and it is there that we have need to summon our highest wisdom and our highest sense of public service.

We must keep corruptive influences from the Nation and its ideals as we would keep them from our homes. Crime and disobedience of law are the very incarnation of destruction to a system whose basis is law. Both pacifism and militarism court danger from abroad, the one by promoting weakness, the other by promoting arrogance. Failure of many of our citizens to express their opinions at the ballot box is at once their abandonment of the whole basis of self-government. Manipulation of the ballot is a denial of government by the people. Corruption or even failure of moral perceptions in public office defiles the whole spirit of America. Mere destructive criticism destroys leadership and substitutes weaklings.

Destructive Government Forces.

Any practice of business which would dominate the country by its own selfish interests is a destruction of equality of opportunity. Government in business, except in emergency, is also a destruction of equal opportunity and the incarnation of tyranny through bureaucracy. Tendencies of communities and States to shirk their own responsibilities or to unload them upon the Federal Government, or of the Federal Government to encroach upon the responsibilities of the States, are destructive of our whole pattern of self-government. But these evils can not shatter our ideals or subvert our institutions if we hold the faith. The knowledge of danger is a large part of its conquest.

It is the first duty of those of us who believe in the American system to maintain a knowledge of and a pride in it, not particularly because we need fear those foreign systems, but because we have need to sustain ours in purity and in strength.

The test of our system of government and of our social principles and ideals as compared to others may in part be interpreted by the practical results of the 150 years of growth that have brought to us the richness of life which spreads through this great Nation. I can give you some measurement both of our standards and of our social progress. In proportion to our population, we have one-fourth more of our children in grade schools than the most advanced other country in Europe, and for every thousand of our young people we have six and one-half times as many in colleges and universities. And I may add that today we have more of our youth in institutions of higher learning than all the rest of the 1,500,000,000 people of the world put together.

Compared with even the most advanced other country in Europe, we shall find an incomparably greater diffusion of material well-being. We have twice the number of homes owned among every thousand people that they have; we consume four times as much electricity and we have seven times as many automobiles; for each thousand people we have more than four times as many telephones and radio sets; our use of food and clothing is far greater; we have proportionately only one-twentieth as many people in the poorhouse or upon public charity.

Opportunity Still Unimpaired.

There is a profound proof, moreover, that the doors of opportunity have indeed been kept open. The posts of leadership in our country, both in government and in other activities, are held by men who have risen to command. A canvass of the leading administrative officials of our Federal Government, of our industries and of our professions, shows that 90 per cent of them started life with no financial inheritance. Despite the misrepresentations of demagoguery, there are today more chances for young men to rise, and for young women, too, than there were 30 years ago.

We shall not have full equality or opportunity until we have attained that ultimate goal of every right-thinking citizen—the abolition of poverty of mind and home. Happily for us we have gone further than others on this road and we make new gains every decade.

But these tangible things which we can reduce to statistics and comparisons are but a part of America. The great intangibles of the spirit of a people are immeasurable—our sense of freedom, of liberty, of security, our confidence of future progress, our traditions of past glory and sacrifice, the example of our heroes, the spiritual enrichment of our people—these are the true glories of America.

The world about us is tormented with the spiritual and economic struggles that attend changing ideals and systems. Old faiths are being shaken. But we must follow our own destiny. Our institutions are a growth. They come out of our history as a people. Our ideals are a binding spiritual heritage. We can not abandon them without chaos. We can follow them with confidence.

Our problems are the problems of growth. They are not the problems of decay. They are less difficult than those which confronted generations before us. The forces of righteousness and wisdom work as powerfully in our generation as in theirs. The flame of freedom burns as brightly in every American heart. There need be no fear for the future of a republic that seeks inspiration from the spirit of the men who fought at the Battle of Kings Mountain.

Four Hooded Robbers Loot Bank in Louisiana

New Orleans, La., Oct. 7. (A.P.).—Four bandits with white flowing hoods reaching down to their shoulders today held up the Metairie Bank, on Metairie road a half mile from New Orleans, and escaped with approximately $2,500.

Two of the men who rifled the cash cage, while three employes were forced to lie down on the floor, carried shotguns and the other two carried pistols. A fifth member of the gang waited at the wheel of an automobile.

PRESIDENT UPHOLDS FREE GOVERNMENT

THRONG HEARS ADDRESS

microphones carried his voice across the hills. Rows of automobiles stretched away into the surrounding cornfields. Towering above the scene was a monument to the memory of the Americans who died in battle there.

It was a scene reminiscent of the President's address at Elizabethton, Tenn., during his preelection campaign in 1928, and once again the man who just 24 hours before had been the stern economist dealing with business problems before the American Federation of Labor in Boston, turned his words to the ideals and intangibles of government.

Only a few miles away were the textile mills which only last year were torn by Communist-stirred strikes. To employes of those mills who grouped in front of him, many of them in overalls, Mr. Hoover warned that "socialism or its violent brother, bolshevism" would destroy the spirit of equality upon which this Government is founded.

Umpire of Fairness.

"In the American system," Mr. Hoover said, "through free and universal education, we train the runners, we strive to give them an equal start, our Government is the umpire of its fairness. The winner is he who shows the most conscientious training, the greatest ability, the strongest character. Socialism or its violent brother, bolshevism, would compel all the runners to end the race equally; it would hold the swiftest to the speed of the most backward. Anarchy would provide neither training nor umpire. Despotism or class government picks those who run and also those who win.

"Whatever the merits or demerits of these other systems may be, they all mean the destruction of the driving force of equal opportunity and they mean the destruction of our Constitution, for our political framework would serve none of them and many of its fundamental provisions are the negation of them. They mean the abandonment of the Nation's spiritual heritage."

Holding that he could not conceive of a wholesome social order or a sound economic system that does not have its roots in religious faith, the President said "it is significant that some of these systems deny religion and seek to expel it."

Only One Instrument.

"No blind materialism can for long engage the loyalties of mankind," he said. "Economic aspiration, though it marks strongly the American system, is not an end in itself, but is only one of those many instruments to accomplish the profound purposes of the American people, which are largely religious in origin. This country is supremely dedicated not to the pursuit of material riches, but to pursuit of a richer life for the individual. * * *.

"While we can not permit any foreign person or agency to undermine our institutions yet we must look to our own conduct that we do not by our own failure to uphold the safeguard and true spirit of America weaken our own institutions and destroy the very forces which upbuild our national greatness."

Mr. Hoover added any practice of business which would dominate the country by its own selfish interests also is a destruction of equality of opportunity.

Incarnation of Tyranny.

"Government in business, except in emergency," he said, is * * * "the incarnation of tyranny through bureaucracy."

Soon after the special train upon which the President and Mrs. Hoover came to Boston crossed the North Carolina State line, evidence was given of the welcome which he was to receive in the Southern State which gave him its electoral vote in 1928.

Groups of people advised of the coming of the Chief Executive appeared at several points along the railway tracks and at Greensboro, the first stop in the State, hundreds awaited the Presidents coming at the station.

At Thomasville, while several hundred school children stood at attention along the sidewalk, at Salisbury and Charlotte, the train paused while the President and Mrs. Hoover bowed and smiled.

Governors Attend Celebration.

Arriving at Kings Mountain, N. C., where the boom of the presidential salute greeted him, the President was driven to a reviewing stand in front of which a military parade lasting nearly half an hour passed.

About him in the stand were Govs. Richards of South Carolina, Gardner of North Carolina and Hardman of Georgia; Stuart Cramer, North Carolina Republican leader and textile man; Gens. Frank McCoy and Albert J. Bowley and Senators Overman, of North Carolina and Smith and Blease of South Carolina.

After motoring eight miles across the State line into South Carolina to deliver his address at the battleground, the President returned immediately to his special train to depart for the Capital, completing his swing which included two speeches yesterday in Boston.

The departure was the only part of the long trip that failed to function smoothly, however. The President's special train had been parked behind another and when he arrived was blocked off from the station.

For nearly 15 minutes Mr. and Mrs. Hoover sat in their open car in the sun, while crowds milled about the guards who kept them at a distance.

70,000 LEGIONNAIRES IN BRILLIANT PARADE

400 Bands Play as Boston Cheers Men Who Fought in World War.

FLAGS DRAPE STREETS

Boston, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Streets that once echoed the tread of revolutionary heroes rang today with the tread of 70,000 American Legionnaires in one of the greatest military spectacles New England has ever seen.

Before a crowd that packed every bit of available street space and peered down from office buildings the legionnaires and their military members marched through flag-draped streets to the tunes of 400 bands in a parade which started in the morning sunlight and ended after the darkness had fallen.

Feet that sloughed through the mud of Flanders, that packed down the snow of Archangel and paced the decks of battleships, sounded their cadence under a clear blue sky. From right and left came the cheers of the crowd and from overhead the Navy dirigible Los Angeles and scores of small planes sent down the steady drone of motors.

There were the tunes of 1917. "The Long, Long Trail," "Hinky Dinky Parlez-Vous," "K-K-K-Katy," and scores of others. It was thoroughly a veterans' day. The business of a national convention was forgotten in the riot of color, the bands and the cheering.

The parade route carried the marchers past "the cradle of liberty," Faneuil Hall; over the scene of the famous Boston massacre, past the old Statehouse, wherein spoke Hancock and the Adamses; along Boston's historic common and the Lafayette Hall and over Beacon Hill past the present Statehouse.

In front of the Statehouse sat a group of white-haired men, their figures bent by the years, but extending a welcome and a salute to these vigorous men in the prime of life who filed past. They were of the legion that answered the call in '61.

NYE INQUIRERS NEAR SPLIT WITH MEMBER

the reason they withdrew from the Chicago front was to save themselves more browbeating and it is asserted that the Missouri senator must realize this.

Republican leaders have long looked upon the committee as a Democratic instrument of torture, and have sought to prevail upon Senator Dale that he should not cooperate with it. Senator Dale, however, is one of those conscientious senators who considers that it is his duty to carry out the mandate of the Senate resolution directing the expenditures inquiries, and the Republican leaders shake their heads wearily.

It so happens that with the exception of two instances, all of the reported excessive expenditures center around Republican candidates. The exceptions are North Carolina and Tennessee.

So the committee decided that to offset the criticism of partisanship it would let Senator Patterson go to either North Carolina or Tennessee and have the Republican time of his life. After looking over the two States, Senator Patterson thought North Carolina afforded the better opportunity.

Tennessee Not Inviting.

Tennessee does not offer a very inviting field because there is no strong Republican opposition in the senatorial fight there and the reports of excessive expenditures have largely to do with the losers in the recent Democratic primary.

In North Carolina there is a possibility that a hard-working Republican investigator might be able to do the Republican cause some good. To illustrate that it is difficult to dissociate partisan politics from these matters the charge of excessive expenditures in the North Carolina Democratic primary do not come from Senator Simmons, the loser in the Democratic primary, or his friends, but from Republican sources.

Representative Pritchard is the Republican senatorial candidate against Josiah W. Bailey, the Democratic nominee.

Can't Make Up Mind.

The committee thought that the situation afforded Patterson an excellent opportunity to dig up some Democratic dirt, so to speak.

But Senator Patterson can't make up his mind whether he wants to go down there alone. Apparently he wants the whole committee to go with him. He plans to make known his decision today. If he won't take the job alone Senator Nye apparently intends to make the inquiry, but that will divert him from other fields.

The curtailed committee program is what might be called a politically bad break for former Senator Neely, seeking a comeback in West Virginia. Charges are rife that the Republican candidate, James Ellwood Jones, 60-year-old political novice, but reputed to be worth $50,000,000, is spending money freely. Whether the charges are true or simply born of the fact that Mr. Jones is as a new-born baby in the hands of "boys" who know how to spend money and the fear of Mr. Neely's friends that they will make the most of their opportunity is not known.

Mr. Neely's friends are apprehensive enough to have wanted the committee to at least throw a scare into the Jones crowd.

Riding Academy's Closing Is Urged

Northwest Residents Ask District Chiefs to Revoke License.

Residents of the neighborhood of Forty-fifth and Lowell streets northwest yesterday appeared before the District Commissioners to urge that they refuse to renew the license for a riding academy in the neighborhood.

Licensing of the riding academy has been the subject of a bitter private battle for several weeks, with residents seeking to force closing of the riding academy. Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, was one of those who was active against the stable and called on the Commissioners in an effort to have it closed. Other duties kept Dr. Ballou away from the hearing held yesterday by the Commissioners.

Owners of the riding academy pointed out that their stable had been in the same location for a number of years and that the persons who now are seeking to have it closed had built their homes near it in the full knowledge that it was in operation. The Commissioners got reports from the Health Department that the stable complied with all regulations governing operation of stables and it is likely that the Commissioners will approve renewal of the stable license.

Ban on Husband's Suits Are Sought

Wife Asks Court to Restrain Divorce Action in West and Mexico.

Mrs. Lillian M. Ricketts, of California street northwest near Florida avenue, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to restrain her husband, Charles W. Ricketts, jr., from filing further suits for divorce or from prosecuting others which she says he has filed against her in Los Angeles, Calif.; Nogales, Mexico, and Magdalena, Mexico.

The wife states that she and her husband were married June 23, 1927, at Washington. She declares that in November of that year her husband left her and she has not seen him since. In fact, she declares, the only messages she has received from him have been notices from his attorneys and United States marshals. Most of the papers, she declares, have been written in Spanish, a language of which she has no knowledge.

Through Attorney Godfrey L. Munter, Mrs. Ricketts declares her husband is a resident of the District and that the suits filed against her in foreign jurisdictions are embarrassing and will cause her great expense to defend.

REBELS' GUNS DOWN BRAZILIAN AIRPLANES

Two Federal Occupants Are Seized While Two Others Desert Government.

NAVY SENT INTO ACTION

Buenos Aires, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Dispatches to La Nacion today said that a federal airplane dropping bombs upon the city of Bello Horizonte, capital of the insurgent state of Minas Geraes, had been shot down by the rebels. Its two occupants were taken prisoner.

The news was contained in a message sent by the insurgent commander in Bello Horizonte, to the commander of the insurgent army in Rio Grande do Sul. It was forwarded to La Nacion from Porto Algero, seaport of Rio Grande.

The airplane, a powerful federal army machine, was shot down yesterday. The pilot and observer, Adherbal Oliveria and Jose Gomes Ribeiro, had dropped two bombs before they were forced down.

Two Planes Seized.

The same message, signed by Christiano Machado, secretary of the interior, said that another federal army plane flying over Bello Horizonte had landed, and its aviators had joined the insurgents. Their names were Casimiro Montenegro and Antonio Lemos Cunha.

Through these events the insurgents were put in possession of two fully equipped military airplanes as a weapon against the federal air forces.

Montevideo, Uruguay, Oct. 7 (A.P.). Frontier dispatches tonight reported that the vanguard of the insurgent army advancing upon the great coffee-exporting center of Sao Paulo had crossed the border of the state of Parana into the state of Sao Paulo.

Rebels Occupy Town.

A rebel communique stated that 8,000 insurgent soldiers yesterday occupied the town of Itarare, only 250 miles from Sao Paulo and on the direct railway line from Sao Paulo to the south. They were commanded by Gen. Miguel Costa.

This vanguard is being rapidly followed by 5,000 insurgents under Col. Souza Filho. The second body yesterday crossed the state of Santa Catarino.

Federal soldiers today reassured milk and food supplies to the capital by occupying the Town of Palmyra, State of Minas Geraes, nearly all the rest of which is in the hands of the insurgents.

Heads of banks, which have been closed for fifteen days by the government, held a meeting for several hours with government officials.

Admiralty Denies Mutiny in Fleet

Statement Hits Reports in Press of Trouble Aboard the Revenge.

London, Oct. 7 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The British admiralty today flatly denied the report that there had been a mutiny by some of the crew of the battleship Revenge which is anchored at Golfe Juan, off Nice.

The admiralty statement said:

"Certain sections of the press have published a rumor to the effect that men of H. M. S. Revenge behaved in an insubordinate manner. The admiralty desires to deny this rumor categorically. During a stay at Golfe Juan, Nice, lasting over nine days, an average of 340 men have enjoyed leave on shore daily. In this period there have been 35 men who have returned late from their leave.

"Included in this number are two who have not yet returned and are posted as deserters. There is no truth whatever in the allegations of men refusing to return on board nor of men behaving with disrespect to their captain, nor of trouble having broken out in the ship, nor of complaints having been made about food."

WHERE REVOLT GRIPS BRAZIL

AMERICAN RAILWAYS IN BRAZIL ATTACKED

Janeiro, strongholds of the federal government, remained tranquil.

Reports from Montevideo, Uruguay, attributed to revolutionary centers in the insurgent state of Rio Grande do Sul, which stated that the northern states of Pernambuco, Rio Grande do Norte, Piahuy, Ceara, had joined Parahyba in the revolutionary movement, lacks official confirmation here.

Rebel Claims Discounted.

Embassy officials said that statements by revolutionary leaders regarding a junction of their forces were misleading. They described Rio Grande do Sul as the center of the revolt and pointed to the many physical obstacles which would impede a march to Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro.

The distance was roughly calculated as equal to that between Maine and Florida with every natural peril known to the tropics lurking along the way.

of conditions in Brazil, Ambassador do Amaral said:

"We must neither belittle nor magnify the gravity of the situation. It is a serious movement which requires severe treatment of repression. The federal government relies on the loyalty of the army, navy, and auxiliary forces of the republic.

"A general offensive will take place shortly and the government is confident it will be able to restore order as soon as possible in the Brazilian family. The federal army is very well trained by a French military mission and the efficiency of our small navy could not be better owing to the training of the American naval mission contracted by Brazil eight years ago.

Navy's Defection Denied.

"I seize this opportunity to inform you that the news concerning the defection of a part of the navy is entirely devoid of foundation. I am very postive about this.

"We are a peaceful nation and indeed a closely united large family, with some sporadic disagreements. We do not like bloodshed, but it has always been the characteristic of the Brazilian government to resort to bloodshed when bloodshed was inevitable, and to fight for the principle of authority, the maintenance of public order and the established rights of the community.

Duties of Government.

"We consider that the duty of our government is to resist any attempt toward its overthrowing. It is not a new principle among governments. That great master of statesmanship, Abraham Lincoln, resorted to bloodshed when it was the only means to preserve the union of this great country. No better example could be afforded us.

"I am glad to say that, barring a few reports from neighboring countries, which reflect the natural confused information in the present circumstances, the service of the great press associations of the United States has been characterized by a sincere endeavor to keep the American public well informed of the situation in Brazil."

Erstwhile Assistant to Oklahoma Prosecutor Starts Term.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 7 (A.P.). W. Oscar Gordon, confessed extortionist, who for fifteen years conducted investigations for the State as an assistant attorney general, began a twelve months' term in the Logan County Jail at Guthrie tonight.

Sentence was pronounced today by Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught when Gordon pleaded guilty to a charge of extorting $800 from Homer Knappenberger, former Mayor of Earlsboro. Knappenberger testified at the trial of Pottawatomie County liquor conspirators case here last winter that he paid Gordon $2,300 to fend off prosecution after Gordon had discovered Knappenberger and his officers were collecting protection money from bootleggers.

Gordon was sentenced on only one of five counts; the others being dismissed.

COURT BEGINS STUDY OF PACKERS' DECREE

Meat Firms Ask Modification to Permit Entry Into Retail Field.

LENGTHY TRIAL LOOMS

(Associated Press.)

The District of Columbia Supreme Court yesterday began a study of the Packers' consent decree to determine whether packing companies shall be permitted to enter the retail field and sell meats direct to the consumers.

Three witnesses, Government employes called by the Packers, gave data on meat packing establishments and their productions. John F. Daly, Census Bureau employe, testified the value of manufactured food products for 1927 was $11,000,000,000 and that 327 meat packing establishments in that year did more than a million dollar business each.

Government counsel objected to much of the testimony as irrelevant, while Frank J. Hogan, for Armour & Co., and Swift & Co., contended it would fit into a mosaic that would show the decree which limits the companies to meat packing and closely related lines should be modified.

Lengthy Trial Seen.

The Packers' consent decree, entered into by Armour & Co., Swift & Co. and other concerns in 1920, has been before the courts in one form or other since 1924. Prior to the consent decree, the Government brought antitrust proceedings against the Packers, charging they had a monopoly in certain meat products.

The Packers later brought suit to vacate the decree, but it was upheld by the Supreme Court in 1928. A petition for modification followed and this is the basis for the hearings now under way.

The case already has been before the District courts for several months and a lengthy trial is in prospect. The way was cleared for testimony yesterday when Justice Jennings Bailey denied the motions of the American National Live Stock Association and the National Wool Growers to intervene. They were permitted, however, to file briefs supporting the packers.

Opposed by Grocers.

Many agricultural organizations favored the packers' petition. They expressed belief that if the packers are allowed to sell meat at retail better prices would result from the ensuing competition. On the other hand, grocery organizations generally are opposed and the National Wholesale Grocers Association and the American Wholesale Grocers Association were given permission to intervene in opposition to the modification petition.

If Justice Bailey should grant the petition, the case may go back to the Supreme Court again. Government counsel in the openng statement said modification would in effect reverse the previous ruling of the Supreme Court and doubt was cast on the authority of the District Supreme Court to grant the modification.

CLAUDE EXPERIMENT IS TERMED UNSOUND

Ocean Water-Power Plan Merely Interesting, Scientists Say.

COST HELD TOO HEAVY

(Associated Press.)

Government scientists yesterday described the feat of Prof. Georges Claude, French engineer, in harnessing the water of the ocean to generate power as "scientifically interesting but far from warranting the building of similar hydroelectric plants along the Atlantic seaboard."

Power experts at the Bureau of Standards said scientists have long recognized that utilizing the thermal differences in water to generate steam and run a turbine is a sound scientific principle, but they doubt whether such a method of power production ever will be comercially valuable.

The cost of extracting power by the Claude system, they said, makes the project economically unfeasible.

Physicists here said they did not question the success of Claude's experiment last night when he used warm and cold water pumped from the Gulf Stream to generate steam and actuate a power plan which kept forty 500-watt electric lamps burning for more than half an hour.

Dr. J. W. Humphreys, chief physicist at the Weather Bureau, said it was questionable, however, whether Claude produced more power than he was required to use in pumping the water from a depth of 1,800 or 2,000 feet.

"There are many ways of drawing power from nature," he said, "but the difficulty is that the expenditure required usually greatly exceeds the returns from the power derived."

To obtain sufficient power to serve a city the size of Havana, Dr. Humphreys said, would require a tremendously elaborate and expensive plant. Such a project, he held probably would prove economically unsound.

Boston-New York Mark Broken by Capt. Hawks

Valley Stream, Long Island, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Capt. Frank Hawks, transcontinental speed champion, brought his fast plane down here at 3:40 p. m. today, having flown from Boston in 55 minutes.

Hawks' flight was the first ever made from the City of Boston to the City of New York in less than one hour, it was declared, since the 57-minute record of R. Curtiss Moffett in 1924 was from Boston to the Long Island Country Club at Hicksville, fifteen miles nearer Boston, while Hawks had to fly over a part of New York City to land at Curtiss Field. The flier said he traveled at 215 to 220 miles an hour.

THOMPSON STORMS AT WIFE'S ROBBERY

Chicago Mayor Hurls Down Gauntlet to Head of Police Department.

GANG WAR FUND CITED

Chicago, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Mayor William Hale Thompson tossed down the gauntlet to his police chiefs today to find the men who robbed his wife of $17,000 worth of jewelry and sent her to bed prostrated by the shock. Police are guarding the home. John H. Alcock, acting commissioner of police, accepted the responsibility with the word "the whole department is working to apprehend the robbers."

Between the lines that told of the midnight holdup in front of the Thompsons' Sheridan road apartment the public read two questions, "Who?" and "Why?" The "Why" inspired by a theory that underworld foes of the Alcock administration took the sensational method of robbing the mayor's wife to jeopardize the commissioner's post.

Full Investigation Promised.

"I have my own ideas about that," Alcock said. "The matter will be fully investigated."

Another theory as to the motives behind the robbery was that Mrs. Thompson was the victim by a mere chance, that the robbers were waiting to hold up anyone who came along or possibly that they had "spotted" her because of her expensive jewels.

The three men who tore the jewelry from Mrs. Thompson and slugged and robbed her policeman-chauffeur said nothing to indicate that they knew Mrs. Thompson's identity.

"If they had known it was Mrs. Thompson," Chief of Detectives John Norton argued, "they would have known that her chauffeur was a policeman. They were just amateurs who happened to bump into $17,000 in jewelry."

It was recalled that last week the underworld was reported gathering a million-dollar fund to combat the police and especially to bring about Alcock's removal.

Alcock Made Responsible.

Alcock, who was swept into the office of commissioner in the storm that followed the slaying of Jake Lingle, was made personally responsible for solution of the Thompson robbery.

"It's up to Alcock," said the mayor in a brief statement to the press. "We'll see if he can make good."

"And if he doesn't?" the mayor was asked.

"We'll talk about that later," he replied.

Mrs. Thompson had been the victim of thieves twice before. In 1917 her jewels and money were taken in a sleeping car en route to New York, and in 1922 she was robbed on an ocean liner en route to New York.

MR. AND MRS. ERNST LUBITSCH, prominent figures in film circles, who were central characters of a fist fight which took place at a ball given by Douglas Fairbanks.

Wife Declares Director Hit Dancing Partner in Jealous Rage.

Hollywood, Calif., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Film circles buzzed today with echoes of a fist fight at a ball given by Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford at the exclusive Embassy Club Saturday night.

Ernst Lubitsch, film director, was accused by his divorced wife, Helene Lubitsch of having given way to "jealousy" in striking her dance partner, Hans Kraly, scenarist.

Reports which Lubitsch readily confirmed were that he aimed for Kraly's chin and hit his chest. Mrs. Lubitsch promptly swung an open right to her former husband's face. Other film personages ended the fight.

"They taunted me, ridiculed my dancing," Lubitsch was quoted as saying.

DRY LEADER CLAIMS TREND TO SOBRIETY

Christgau Analyzes Recent Figures Compiled by Prohibition Bureau.

(Associated Press.)

C. G. Christgau, assistant to the general superintendent of the Anti-saloon League, said in a statement last night that the recent "speculative estimate" by the Prohibition Bureau on the amount of liquor produced in the United States, "indicates a tremendous trend toward sobriety under extremely adverse conditions."

The Prohibition Bureau estimated the per capita production of beverage alcohol at .602 gallons for the last fiscal year and presented Internal Revenue Bureau figures placing such production in 1914 at 1.705 gallons.

"Wets will doubtless assume and assert," Mr. Christgau said, "that this country actually drank as much as it might have been possible to make. But sober students of the facts will note the vast partition between the possible production and probably consumption of intoxicating liquors for the year ended June 30, 1930."

"The Government's guess," he added, "shows that available materials, diversions and illegal importations could possibly amount to 35 per cent of the normal preprohibition consumption of illegal liquor, but the statement that this amount was actually used assumes the twin absurdities of 100 per cent use of available materials for lawless liquor and 100 per cent consumption of liquors made."

Mr. Christgau said that in 1914 the maximum possible production of wine from available grapes was 100,000,000 gallons, while the actual production was only 52,000,000 gallons.

"With liquor manufacturing difficulties created by prohibition it is not unreasonable to conclude," he asserted, "that there is now an even smaller percentage of actual production from available materials. Also, allowance must be made for the wide difference between production and consumption, for 'there is many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip.'"

COURT OPENS AS 500 ANSWER JURY CALL

Nine Branches of District Supreme Tribunal Start Work.

HEAVY DOCKET IS FACED

More than 500 residents of Washington packed the corridors of District Supreme Court yesterday in response to jury-duty summonses. The group was the largest ever called at any one time and from it Justice Peyton Gordon selected 23 as prospective grand jurors and six traverse jury panels each composed of 26 persons.

The unusual number of jurors was made necessary by the fact that the court, when it opened, saw nine branches function, with a justice presiding over each court. The nine branches face the heaviest calendar in the history of the court. There are more than 400 criminal cases to be handled by the three criminal branches; more than 1,200 cases await trial in the two law courts, while equity cases exceed more than 600 which are scheduled for the two equity divisions. Several hundred condemnation cases also are pending.

Justices Peyton Gordon, Jesse C. Adkins and Oscar R. Luhring are in the Criminal Courts; Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat and Justice Joseph W. Cox are in the District division, in which condemnation cases are scheduled; Justice Wendell P. Stafford and Justice Frederick L. Siddons are in the law courts, while Justice Jennings Bailey and Justice William Hitz are in the Equity branches.

After the opening of the fall term of the District Supreme Court, Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat repaired to the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, where he assumed the place on the bench of that tribunal, temporarily made vacant by the illness of Justice Josiah A. Van Orsdell.

It has been the practice for a number of years for members of the District Supreme Court to fill in during absence of members of the appellate tribunal, but hitherto Chief Justice Wheat has not had that honor.

Immediate Relief for INDIGESTION

WHAT most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. Food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention, it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate with no harmful after-effects.

Once you learn this perfect way you'll never deal in any other manner with the headaches, gas, bloating, nausea, dizziness, indigestion, biliousness, etc., due to an over-acid stomach and bowels.

Be sure to get genuine Phillips'. It is always a liquid; never made in tablet form. Look for the name Phillips on the bottle. All drug-stores—25c and 50c.

JURY FREES MAN, 70, IN 1883 DEATH CASE

Alabaman Says Conscience Had Made Life Unhappy Since Fatal Fight.

GIRL BASIS OF TROUBLE

Guntersville, Ala., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—After spending two thirds of his life evading the law during which time he said his conscience made life unpleasant, James Neely, 70-year-old mountaineer, was a free man again today.

Accused of first degree murder following the death of young Hiram Cooley in 1883 as the result of a fight over alleged remarks made about a girl, Neely was acquitted in Marshall County Superior Court today by jurors who were born since the indictment was returned.

The defendant was arrested in Tyler, Tex., a month ago, when recognized by the husband of his niece, who also is a son of Hiram Cooley.

Neely pleaded not guilty by reason of self-defense. He probably will go back to Texas, he said, and live his declining years in peace.

Neely has two sisters, Mrs. J. R. Hulsey and Mrs. L. A. Rainwater, who live within a mile of where the fatal fight occurred 47 years ago. He said he would spend some time with them, as he had not seen them since he left home after Cooley died.

While Neely was a bit overcome as he heard the verdict read, a ripple of applause swept through the large crowd.

The trial had been brief. Only three witnesses including the defendant took the stand. Neely said he and his brother Tom were returning from Manchester Church and met James Cooley, one of the two State witnesses. James Cooley suggested, he said, that Hiram Cooley be summoned, and that they settle their differences then. When Hiram arrived a battle began, during which Hiram received injuries from which he died.

James and Tom Neely fled when deputies approached their farm home and later an indictment charging both with murder was returned. Tom died in Tennessee more than 30 years ago and James married, reared a family, and continued his intermittent wanderings until arrested.

Neely said the original trouble with Cooley grew out of remarks Cooley accused him of making about a girl.

Co., Chicago, and owned by the Rutland-Lake Michigan Transit Co., was bound from Gary, Ind., to Jones Island, off Milwaukee. It was under the command of Capt. W. J. Flanders. It cleared from Gary at 5:30 this morning, loaded with steel.

Officials of the company owning the Burlington expressed confidence the Burlington would not break up. Shipping authorities also declared that, kept up by shoals or rocks, the ship was not likely to go down before the Hyacinth and Coast Guard boats could effect a rescue. Coast Guard stations at both Racine and Milwaukee had dispatched ships to the scene.

Capt. Maynard, in command of the tender Hyacinth, late today sent the following radiogram to the Associated Press, via Radio Corporation of America:

"Steamship Burlington aground just off Cudahy, on bottom and making water so that captain dares not pull her off. Everything seems all right aboard and lighthouse tender Hyacinth standing by, and when Coast Guard arrives will be in communication with him. Expect him 5 o'clock. CAPT. MAYNARD."

THE PRICE OF LIBERTY.

President Hoover caught the spirit of the occasion in his address commemorating the 150th anniversary of the battle of Kings Mountain. He asked the country to reflect upon the struggles that made America free and opened the way for its marvelous growth. It is well that the country should turn from its economic problems occasionally and ponder upon the fundamentals.

Unless reminded of their debt, Americans are prone to forget that the advantages they enjoy are a result of the struggles of their forefathers. Liberty is taken for granted, as some natural right that costs nothing and can not be destroyed. The celebration at Kings Mountain and the President's words are a reminder that blood was spilt to secure the blessings and opportunities that are a common heritage of modern youth. Liberty is never lightly purchased, and it can not be maintained without vigilance and intelligence on the part of those upon whom it is conferred.

Mr. Hoover uttered a timely warning against giving encouragement to those forces that are trying to tear down all that has been built up since the great American experiment with representative government began. He pointed out the fallacies in some of the systems that are being brought forward in the world as a substitute for democracy. He compared the systems to a foot race. "In the American system," he said, "through free and universal education, we train the runners, we strive to give them an equal start, our Government is the umpire of its fairness. The winner is he who shows the most conscientious training, the greatest ability, the strongest character. Socialism or its violent brother, bolshevism, would compel all the runners to end the race equally; it would hold the swiftest to the speed of the most backward. Anarchy would provide neither training nor umpire. Despotism or class government picks those who run and also those who win."

The superiority of the American system of government does not depend, however, upon theory. President Hoover offered measurements of social progress to prove America's leadership in education as well as material achievement. The door of opportunity is still open, and so long as it remains open the country will continue to advance.

The so-called "liberals" who would scuttle the Constitution and replace it with the socialistic doctrines that have grown out of Europe's upheavals have lost their American orientation. They have forgotten the price that was paid for the liberties they would throw away. It is not to be supposed that the President's address, nor the commemoration of heroic events of the past, will recall them to their senses, but the thoughtless and improvident can well profit by a study of the reasons why they are free. Let them consider the heroes of Kings Mountain.

IRRESPONSIBLE TAXICABS.

Data gathered by Richmond B. Keech indicates that the 35-cent taxicab fare now in vogue in Washington is not so unprofitable as was supposed. Those who expected the companies operating on this basis to go broke and their drivers to be thrown upon charity did not reckon with a fundamental economic law. The lower price has been a great stimulant to the taxicab business, and the increased number of fares has worked to the advantage of operators. Drivers are earning a fair wage and the companies are collecting a good return on their investment.

This is interpreted in some quarters as a settlement of the taxicab problem. But it has little relationship to the most vital question arising from the present taxicab situation. Whether or not companies engaged in this business are making money is not of public concern. These companies can take care of themselves. If they find the business unprofitable they will withdraw. The fundamental question is whether or not any motor car owner who wishes to earn a few extra dollars is to be allowed to serve the people of Washington as a common carrier without regard for his financial responsibility.

The right to operate taxicabs in Washington should be restricted to responsible companies who are capable of satisfying all rightful liability claims that may be made against them. If it is then found that this safeguard tends to create a monopoly and unwarranted rates are inflicted upon the public, the Public Utilities Commission should be given authority to regulate prices also. But the heart of the problem is to eliminate unreliable and irresponsible drivers who are now cruising the streets in the guise of public carriers.

BRAZIL'S REVOLT.

The rebellion in Brazil has reached most formidable proportions, and some of its features are unique. It is obviously not a conspiracy engineered by any army clique or a few agitators in key places. Uprisings in several states, widely separated, and drawing large sections of the population into revolt, are evidence of deep-seated public feeling that has finally culminated in rebellion. The rebels seem to be centering around Getulio Vargas, president of the State of Rio Grande do Sul, and recent unsuccessful rival of Julio Prestes for the presidency of the republic. Vargas has quitted his civil office and will lead the southern faction of the rebels in an effort to gain control of the government and prevent the inauguration of Prestes.

The desperate condition of Brazil resulting from the world depression and the slump in the coffee trade, following the failure of the valorization scheme, is supposed to have lighted the match of rebellion in that country. But in Brazil, as in Peru, Bolivia, and Argentina, the immediate causes of revolution are not distinctly revealed to the world. Doubtless personal and party ambitions are taking advantage of popular unrest in an appeal to force as a cure for adversity.

If the army and navy remain loyal to the central government the revolt can be put down, notwithstanding its widespread manifestations and its success in capturing several state governments. The outcome hinges upon the loyalty of the forces which President Washington Luis is calling into action. The vast expanses of Brazil make it difficult to exert governmental authority in remote states, and the difficulties of transport will probably prevent either side from bringing about a quick decision. A long-drawn-out campaign is in prospect.

M STREET SHOULD BE WIDENED.

Several correspondents of The Post have called attention to the congestion of traffic on M street and the necessity of widening that thoroughfare west of Connecticut avenue. It is one of the most important cross-town streets, extending to Georgetown over the new M Street Bridge.

At this time, when estimates for the budget are being made up, it would be advisable for the District Engineer's office to consider the public convenience in regard to cross-town traffic. The widening of M street would afford relief to every part of the city. Increased traffic is making this relief an early necessity.

PREVENTION OF SICKNESS.

The medical profession always resents inferences from outside sources that it is giving insufficient attention to preventive medicine. But when complaints arise from within the profession they can not well be ignored. Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood, professor of clinical surgery at Johns Hopkins University, who is a recognized authority on cancer, told a group of Massachusetts physicians last week that the profession was not doing its share to combat cancer. Prevention is a much better weapon against cancer, but doctors, he says, have not been taught to think and act in terms of prevention. The minds of the people are in a receptive mood, the press has uniformly offered its services, but the medical profession is holding back, both as a great organization and individually.

The only effective way of dealing with cancer is through preventive measures and cure in its early stages. According to Dr. Bloodgood, the medical profession is in a position to protect millions from this virulent disease. Cancer of the skin, he says, is a "disease of dirt, ignorance and delay," and other forms usually result from causes that could be removed by proper medical care.

This is but one phase of a general problem. It is well known that the benefits of medical science are not available to all the people. Application of therapeutic measures lags far behind their discovery, and thousands of lives are sacrificed each year for want of either medical advice or care. No one can dispute these facts, but there is a difference of opinion as to the profession's responsibility for such conditions.

It has been customary to call a physician only in case of sickness. Then it may be too late. The modern conception of medical science places greater emphasis on the detection of physical impairments, predisposition to disease, and faulty living habits. The medical profession could perform a far greater service by removing these causes of illness than by applying curative measures when the disease or disability has reached a crucial stage. The profession is more keenly aware of this fact than the public, yet the progress of preventive medicine is not satisfactory.

To make preventive measures effective it is necessary to set up facilities through which the public can reach the doctor for physical examinations and consultation during periods of good health. If this service is to be available to all, it must be rendered at reasonable prices. Periodic examinations are expensive. It is necessary to convince the public of the fact that it costs less to keep well than it does to ignore the warnings of nature and suffer the consequences.

It is not unreasonable to expect the medical profession to cooperate in promoting this preventive work. At present the ethics of the profession requires the physician to retire to the background. A medical man must be sought out by the public. As a result ignorance prevails and the public spends millions on quack remedies. Can the unorganized public be expected to change this condition? Must the States force physicians to shake off their modesty and sell health rather than sick treatment to the public? It is time for the profession to bestir itself and take the initiative in the movement to supersede healing, wherever possible, by removal of the causes of illness.

More than 600,000 pounds of feathers were imported into Switzerland last year, probably for replacements in those little green hats.

Now that the Government allows income-tax deductions for race track losses a way has at last been discovered for making money on the ponies.

Two boa constrictors are running loose in Camden. It's almost impossible for a man to be sure he's had enough to drink when real snakes are running around.

SCIENCE IN INDUSTRY

By MAURICE HOLLAND,
Director of Division of Engineering and Industrial Research, National Research Council.

Dr. Irving Langmuir, pursuing his researches of the hydrogen atom in the laboratories of General Electric Co., eventually gathered an exhaustive array of facts on the action of gases in incandescent lamp bulbs. His investigations, prosecuted over a period of three years, had no immediate purpose in view. Then it was discovered that lamp engineers had been working on an unsound theory, and today three significant results have come from Langmuir's discoveries.

Approximately $2,000,000,000 annually is saved by lamp users; the way was paved for the creation of the power tube, essential to broadcasting; and the basis was laid for atomic hydrogen welding, a process which now simplifies the welding of aluminum and its alloys to the benefit of aviation and automotive industries.

Dr. George Simon Hertz, German physicist, more than 40 years ago, discovered and recorded unusual phenomena in connection with the action of ultra-violet light in a spark gap. Further investigation led Hertz to the discovery that an electric current, exposed to ultra-violet light produced definite reactions. Result? None at the time, but today Hertz's discoveries are the basis of the photoelectric tube, or the electric eye.

This remarkable device, the possibilities of which have as yet only been touched, is daily finding wider application in industry. It is used in connection with the transmission by telephone of photographs; in television; it will sort articles, operate electric signs, detect fires, discover burglars, count persons passing a given point. Its applications go still further. The paper industry is employing it for the detection of pulp mixtures in which the fiber proportion is incorrect; industries dependent upon the accurate matching of colors are finding that the electric eye can not be tricked. The matching of colors becomes a matter of absolute precision with this device.

President Baker, of Carnegie Institute, predicts the passing of the coal car, and the substitution therefor of pipe and power lines for the transportation of liquefied coal and electricity to industrial centers. Natural gas is already being piped hundreds of miles from the oil and gas fields, where it was formerly wasted, to cities where it can be employed.

When you pick up your convenient office telephone in Chicago and say, "Hello, Berlin," remember that long years of painstaking research by experts of the Bell Telephone laboratories made transatlantic telephony as simple as it is today. It is no "magic" that carries your voice across the continent to the outbound radio transmitting station at Rocky Point, L. I.; that amplifies it some 100,000 times preparatory to hurling it across 3,000 miles of ocean to a remote Scottish town, whence it is carried by land and sea cables to Berlin.

Two way television, color television, sound picture making, and research on the three-dimensional photo camera are among the activities supervised by Dr. Frank B. Jewett, president of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, but Dr. Jewett will tell you that while many by-products of telephone research are frequently being made available to outside industry, the telephone is still the major function of the laboratories.

To improve automotive engineering is the job of the General Motors research staff under Charles F. Kettering. General Motors engineers have contributed largely to research and development of the self-starter, ethyl gasoline, chromium plating and crankcase ventilation. They have made instruments which, figuratively, enable them to peer through the walls of a cylinder in order to determine just what happens in that fraction of a second it takes an engine to fire. Studying explosions that occur hundreds of times a minute, they are daily getting nearer to the solution of the problem of the internal combustion motor.

Because the linseed oil in automobile paint took so long to dry, it formerly required 37 days to paint an automobile. Under Kettering's direction the General Motors' research staff produced a quick-drying lacquer. In cooperation with the staff of the Du Pont research laboratory Duco was evolved, saving the automobile industry millions and the public an untold sum in paint bills.

PARADES AND BANDS.

J. H. Webb, who, according to the Cleveland Plain Dealer, has reported many a parade in his time, was reminded by the Knights Templar procession of the old standard practice of newspapermen in covering parades. The reporter would station himself in front of the parade, and then as it advanced he would walk in the opposite direction. This took him past the parade, and the parade past him, in half the time, and by multiplying the elapsed time by two he had the number of hours it took to pass a given point. This used to be of great interest to newspapers, and then they stopped giving points. Hearing 40 bands reminds us that the outlet for band instruments is now mostly the fraternal orders and the high schools. The old-time silver cornet band you and I knew, the band which practiced Friday nights in the fire engine house and played in the square Wednesday nights, has just about passed out.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

OLD-FASHIONED COURTING.

Last night we got to talking of the dear old long ago
When all our wives were sweethearts and every man a beau.
We had no automobiles then. The trolley lines we rode
And always that last car at night of lovers bore a load.
But after seeing Nellie home in weather foul or fine,
Ere I should reach my dwelling place a four-mile walk was mine.

Those golden days were full of thrills
our youngsters never know,
It is no trick for them to take their sweetheart to a show.
But when we sought the theater an early start it meant
Because the fastest trolley car but very slowly went.
Then getting home was difficult. The schedule I recall:
Past midnight was one car an hour, and sometimes none at all.

I dared not step inside her door nor linger long to spoon.
That lonely all night Trumbull car would pass the corner soon.
And if I stayed to say good-by, the warning gong I'd hear
And get there just in time to see that trolley disappear.
But little did it matter then. I'd walk four miles or more
To earn those few glad minutes with Miss Nellie at the door.

Now seldom is a footstep heard along the walks at night.
This is an automobile age and speed is youth's delight.
The dads and mothers shake their heads as youngsters stay out late.
"It was not so when we were young!"
they very truly state.
Of course not. Times were different then and distances were far
And dreary were those long walks home for us who missed the car.

It Is Crooked to Take Money When You Know Your Bank Can't Repay It.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE law has emancipated women, but it hasn't changed human nature. Girls still depend upon men for their pleasure.

A young woman might leave home alone, as many a young man does, and spend the evening in quest of pleasure without endangering her life or horrifying the neighbors, but she has no liking for lone adventure. She wants a "date."

An evening that threatens to be dull is made bright by the promise of male company. With a male along she feels safer, less conspicuous and better poised. Also she has the assurance that she need not pay cash for her entertainment.

In short, a male escort is so essential and life without one so unsatisfactory that she will welcome an undesirable male if no other appears.

How many millions of girls give "dates" to young men they almost abominate rather than spend an evening alone! They choose the less of two evils—and they employ every feminine wile to keep the chosen one from discovering that he is regarded as an evil.

And thus they blacken the reputation of their sex.

What do you think of a young man who amuses himself by pretending to love a girl, wins her affection and caresses, continues his courtship until she prepares the greater part of her trousseau and then deserts her? Doubtless there are no printable words adequately to express your contempt for him.

Yet thousands of girls, guilty of nothing more than a desire to escape boredom, trick and shame men in that fashion without a qualm of conscience.

If the ordinary young man respects and admires a girl so much as to covet her society and ask for repeated "dates," he can not be with her often without danger of falling in love.

The girl who "kids him along" to feed her vanity or provide herself with a convenience has little understanding of honor. When at last she dismisses him, she destroys his faith in her sex; and if at last she marries him to use as a greater convenience, the inevitable end is misery and shipwreck.

To play with a play-boy is fair enough, and to go places with one who understands that he is merely a convenience is equally fair; but to encourage a sincere simpleton in order to use him as a pass and a meal ticket is to be a "gold-digger," but one degree more respectable than the ones that are kept.

PRO AND CON

Various Aspects of Political Issues Discussed by the Press.

Party and Beverage Lines.

New Orleans Times-Picayune.

When is an upset not an upset? One answers when it refers to a double-barreled political situation as now exists in Montana. One of the soundest Eastern critics, he more or less in the Republican field, expresses the conviction that Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, is more than likely to be defeated in the forthcoming election by his Republican opponent, Albert J. Galen. At first thought this would seem to be a bit of party optimism, since obviously Senator Walsh's fine record in the Teapot Dome and other investigations has given him great strength. But a different facet appears when it is observed that Senator Walsh is a confirmed dry and that former Justice Galen, his antagonist, is a vigorous and outspoken wet, and, furthermore, that Montana is a wet State. The time is plainly drawing near when party lines and beverage lines will have about equal potency.

The Delaware Campaign.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The Delaware campaign, formally opened with a series of speeches by Vice President Curtis, promises to be one of the liveliest the Diamond State has known in years. In answering Democratic attacks upon the tariff, which is essential to great industries in Delaware, emphasizing the Republican record in the last decade and praising the achievements of Senator Daniel O Hastinga and Representative Robert H. Houston, who head the party's ticket, Mr. Curtis outlined the issues upon which its campaign will be based. The Democrats will stress their wet platform, with special reference to the repeal of the Klair law, the drastic State enforcement act, which curbs even the use of medicinal liquor.

Congressman Houston, who is seeking his fourth term in the House, seems certain to win over Col. John P. Lefevre, the Democratic nominee. The main fight will be the Senate contest between Mr. Hastings and ex-Senator Thomas F. Bayard, whose family has been prominent in public life in Delaware since colonial times. The Democrats are naturally eager to carry the home State of National Chairman Raskob. But in Senator Hastings the Republicans have a nominee whose record at the bench and bar commands the respect of all the voters and who has displayed marked ability during his short period at Washington. Furthermore, the Republicans, despite some desertions because of their dry platform, seem more harmonious than the Democrats, many of whom resent the treatment of Josiah Marvel, who opposed Mr. Bayard for the senatorial nomination, at the recent convention in Dover.

Shouse Picks Losers.

Topeka Capital.

Sympathy will go out to Brother Shouse, manager of the Democratic party, for his failure to convince the Hoover administration that some $25,000 lost by Mr. Shouse in betting on horse races in 1923, 1924 and 1925 can not be deducted from his income tax returns. However, in fairness to Jouett, he does not claim that the Hoover administration general inefficiency was the cause of his picking the wrong horse.

What Price Togas?

Macon Telegraph.

"Know what you want and then buy it," counsels Col. Friedsam, and he can't say that Mrs. McCormick isn't doing her darndest.

Between Drinks.

Philadelphia Inquirer.

Spokesman for the Antisaloon League says there are 74 senators who are "still dry." And that is probably no exaggeration.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Prof. Kelly Miller Foresees Disaster to Democratic Party if It Goes Wet.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Mark Sullivan, the political analist, predicts that the Democratic platform of 1932 will be wet and that the Republican platform will be dry. If the latter be true, the stand will become intolerable, for Republicans in urbanized States who are just now viewing with their Democratic rivals as to the relativity of their wetness.

States' rights, personal liberty and antisumptuary laws constitute a part of the traditional Democratic creed. It was only when the old aristocratic regime had been overthrown in the South that the dry contingent, for the time being, gained the upper hand in party counsels. No sooner had the Northern city contingent gained control than the party returned to its ancient moorings. Gov. Smith, with matchless audacity, baptized the Houston platform with a sprinkle that will last until the party is decisively defeated on the prohibition issue.

Republicans who are now taking words out of Gov. Smith's mouth and writing them into their State platforms will cut a sorry figure at the next National convention. But should the Grand Old Party lose a few heavy States in the East, the loss would be thrice retrived by the solid West and the upper tier of Southern States. Prohibitionists are overjoyed at the prospect. As the old hymn runs: "They see the triumph from afar, and seize it with their eye."

KELLY MILLER.

Suggests Tax on Residential Parking to Permit Use of Space by Occupant Rather Than by Strangers.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A new and peculiar branch of the race of men has come into existence. Its members may be divided into two classes: the merely irresponsible and the actively malicious. Both are irritating to the last degree. They buy one or two automobiles—model 1912—to keep on the street, preferably in front of a neighbor's house, and should that unfortunate complain, they announce with glee that the law is on their side. Strangely enough, it is. These men jeer at the normal, conservative home-owner and his natural desire to avoid anything that impairs the value of his property as well as his conviction that when he drives up to his own door the parking space should be vacant and ready for his own occupancy.

The old laws do not fit new conditions. Each class deserves consideration, and a way ought to be found to bring this about. I suggest that, on payment of a certain sum, the space before certain houses in residential districts would be kept clear. Signs with the caption, "Private Parking Space," could be used. Such a plan would greatly increase the District revenues.

Prof. Mariotti, of Rome, Disputes Assertions by George Seldes as to Conditions in Italy—Mussolini and the King Are Still Favored.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Having the pleasure to be in Washington for the International Road Congress I read in The Post the article of Mr. George Seldes predicting the downfall of Mussolini within a year. As his ideas in this instance purport to be founded on facts, I consider it my duty to say that the situation in Italy today is quite different from that which he would have your readers believe.

It is not true, for example, that the financial crisis in Italy is more pronounced than anywhere else, or that unemployment is general. Nor is it true that the Italian government courts a war with France or Jugoslavia.

The ideas of Mr. Seldes, that Mussolini will change himself into a "red dictator" and that a Soviet state will be declared in Italy are mere phantasms. Mr. Seldes apparently does not believe that the Italian government and people have the same feelings of devotion to the king's majesty and to the greatness of our nation. But we do. A. MARIOTTI,
Professor of Economics in the Royal University of Rome.

Washington Merchants Have an Unparalleled Opportunity to Make the City a Retail Trade Center.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: For some years in Washington too much dependence has been placed on the purchasing power of the Government employe. The merchant, to a large extent, has considered it unnecessary to make an effort to get new business and in many instances to hold that which he already possesses.

The Government pay roll should be considered as so much capital available, and with that foundation upon which to build, the business should be advanced in line with modern progressive methods. The merchants of Washington have a tremendous advantage over those of other cities. There is no reason why Washington should not be a leading center of distribution for retail merchants.

I predict that if the merchants of this city would employ qualified persons to train their sales forces and to help establish systems of modern merchandising in their establishments, citizens of the National Capital would not wish to make their purchases elsewhere and out-of-town clients would be attracted to the city.

W. GASTON BULLOCH.

Lots of Money to Be Spent on Wet Side in Delaware, Says a Passing Traveler:

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is common talk here that the Du Ponts who favor the wet side intend to spend any amount of money necessary to win the senatorial election for Thomas F. Bayard. He is a wet, and the Du Ponts and John J. Raskob feel that they must deliver Delaware over to the wet cause. Delaware is normally a dry State, but if money is spent like water for the wet side, while the Republicans fail to make an active campaign, the Democrats will gain a seat in the Senate.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Social Circle Sees Opening Of Race Track

Laurel Track Thronged by Members of the Capital Set.

ALWAYS on the quivive to "follow the horses" at nearby tracks large crowds from Washington and Baltimore assembled for the opening of the fall meet at Laurel yesterday afternoon. Members of official Washington, however, were conspicuously absent. But the real racing fans were there, in gay and festive mood.

Smiling autumn skies—or to use the vernacular of the sporting world—weather clear and track fast—brought group after group to the attractive clubhouse and grand stands for the meet which opened the 23-day program at the popular course. Whether the bumpy boulevard between the Capital and the Maryland track scared off some of the social contingent or whether every one is too busy, the crowd was noticeably lacking in official representation. But the crowd was there, enthusiastic as always with boxes filled with interesting people from Baltimore.

Among those seen at the track and in the clubhouse were Mr. Edward Everett Gann, much interested as usual, but without the familiar figure of his brother-in-law, Vice President Charles Curtis, devotee of the races, who is out of town this month and missed the opening.

Mrs. Rush M. Holland, wife of a former Assistant Attorney General, was seen with Mrs. Macpherson Crichton; Mrs. Zella Smoot Nibley, daughter of Senator Reed Smoot, smart in a dark blue suit and king's blue hat, was seen intent on the track. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Orme, daily patrons of the club, were there with a group of guests, including Mrs. Register Polk, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Irving Adams, of Baltimore.

Mrs. Alvin Dodd watched from the boxes of the clubhouse, wearing a smart outfit of green and white lace tweed with a small green hat to match. Mrs. Stanley Harris with Mr. Harris and Mrs. Caroline Wilkins looked on from the terrace below the boxes. Others seen about the club were Mr. George Garret, Miss Jessica Harvey, Mr. Richard Hume, Mrs. Edward Eynon, Miss Jane Eynon, Miss Ruth Richards, daughter of Brig. Gen. George Richards, U. S. M. C., and Mrs. Richards, and Mr. Edmund Burke.

Mrs. Taft Returns For Residence Here.

Mrs. William Howard Taft has reopened her home on Wyoming avenue after passing several months in Europe and at her summer home in Murray Bay.

Mrs. Joseph E. Davies has returned from Pelham, N. Y., where she has been visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Patten Cheesborough, jr.

Judge and Mrs. T. T. Ansberry have taken an apartment at 2101 Connecticut avenue. Their son, Peter Ansberry, has entered Georgetown Preparatory School.

Mrs. Leland Harrison is at the Mayflower. Mr. Harrison, who has been placed in charge of the tariff relations division of the Tariff Commission, is about to leave Montevideo now and will arrive here by the end of the month.

Mrs. James W. McAndrew, widow of Maj. Gen. McAndrew, has returned to Washington after passing the summer at Martin Cottage, Blowing Rock, N. C. Mrs. McAndrew will spend the winter at 2400 Sixteenth street.

Mrs. Douglas Robinson, of New York, is with Mr. and Mrs. Owen Johnson in Stockbridge, Mass., for a brief stay.

Mrs. George Mesta and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Adams, who have occupied the estate of Mrs. Henry Clews at Newport this summer, have concluded their season there and have returned to New York. Mrs. Mesta will come to Washington later.

The Ambassador of France, M. Paul Claudel, gave a dinner on Monday evening in honor of a group of officials and engineers attached to the French ministry and to the cabinet of public works in France and other delegates who are in Washington in attendance at the sessions this week of the Sixth International Road Congress.

The Ambassador's guests included Senator Lawrence C. Phipps, Mr. Roy B. Chapin, Mr. H. H. Rice, former Assistant Secretary of Commerce; M. Concon, state counselor of France; M. Launay, state counselor of France; M. Chaix, M. Lourieux, Mr. Thomas H. MacDonald, Mr. Thomas P. Henry, Mr. Dyke Johnson, M. Gavrian, secretary general of the International Association of Road Congress; Viscomte Rohan M. Jarbe, director of the French air ministry; M. Savier, M. Vicaire, M. Jasquet, chief of the cabinet of the ministry of public works; M. Picard, M. Brunache, M. Lipmann, M. Beau, Mr. J. Walter Drake and the counselor of the Embassy, M. Jules Henry.

Ambassador Claudel recalled invitations for the reception arranged for yesterday afternoon in honor of the delegates because of the brief period of national mourning set aside by the French government as a mark of respect to the victims of the R-101.

Former Surg. Gen. Rupert Blue, of the United States Public Health Service, who has been on duty in Europe for two years, has been transferred to Washington for temporary duty. Dr. Blue is at the Mayflower.

Mrs. Tracy Dows has reopened her residence in Georgetown after spending some time at Foxhallow Farm, in Rhinebeck-on-Hudson.

Mrs. Dows' son, Mr. Olin Dows, will spend the winter in New York, pursuing his art career. He will be engaged this year in painting murals.

Mr. and Mrs. Newbold Noyes have returned to Merrywood, their home in McLean, Va.

Mr. Jefferson Patterson Joins Capital Bachelors.

A recent addition to the bachelor coterie—always in need of new recruits in Washington—is Mr. Jefferson Patterson, who hails originally from Ohio, although, as a member of the Diplomatic Corps, he has just returned from foreign duty at Constantinople and has come to the Capital for service at the State Department.

Mr. Patterson has taken the house at 10 Thompson Circle, in Massachusetts Avenue Park, near the home of Maj. and Mrs. George S. Patton.

The marriage of Miss Janet Evans, of Erie, Pa., to Mr. James Bliss Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Austin, of Washington, took place at the home of the bride's parents in Erie, yesterday.

After a wedding trip to Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Austin will make their home in Westfield, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund H. Stinnes, of Berlin, are at the Mayflower while Mr. Stinnes is in Washington attending the Road Congress. Mrs. Stinnes was Miss Marga von Schunze Gaevernitz, daughter of the former member of the German Parliament and well-known professor of economics. Mr. and Mrs. Stinnes have made their home in Berlin since their marriage in New York last November. They expect to remain in this country two months longer and will then go to South America.

Miss Atlee Wayne Wirgman, daughter of Mrs. W. Wayne Wirgman, has returned from Lexington, Va., where she spent the week-end.

Mrs. Henry K. McHarg, jr., of East Tawas, Mich., has taken an apartment at the Mayflower, where she has been joined by her daughters, Miss Jane McHarg, who has resumed her studies at the Washington College of Law, and Miss Estherbelle McHarg, of Holton Arms School.

Navy, War, Diplomatic Folks Are Invited by British Officers.

Capt. E. G. Brent, commander of the British cruiser, Danae, at anchor in the Potomac this week, with his officers proves the inspiration for a series of smart dinners, teas and receptions which crowd each other from day to night hours with officials of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, of the State Department and of the British Embassy vying to do honor to the visitors.

Tonight Admiral William V. Pratt will give a dinner at his house at Observatory Circle in honor of Capt. Brent. Admiral Pratt's other guests will be Capt. J. S. M. Ritchie, naval attache of the British Embassy; Capt. E. B. Larimer, assistant chief of the Bureau of Navigation; Capt. Sakano, Japanese naval attache; Capt. H. A. Baldridge, director of the Naval Intelligence Bureau; Capt. R. E. Ingersoll, Capt. E. S. Land, of the Naval Operations Division; Lieut. C. W. A. Campbell, aid to Admiral Pratt; Commander Twinedarrow and Lieut. Comdr. Bishop, R. N.

On the Danae everything is spick and span for the reception which Capt. Brent and the officers of the ship will give this afternoon from 4:30 until 6 o'clock. High officials of the State, War and Navy Departments, of the British Embassy, Canadian, Irish and South African legations, foreign air attaches and others in offical and diplomatic circles will be included among the long list of guests attending the tea.

Among those planning to go will be the Secretary of State and Mrs. Stimson, the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Adams, the Secretary of War and Mrs. Hurley, the Minister of the Irish Free State and Mrs. Michael MacWhite, the Minister of South Africa and Mrs. Eric Hendrik Louw, Gen. and Mrs. Charles P. Summerall, Admiral and Mrs. William V. Pratt.

Also Rear Admiral and Mrs. Hugh Rodman, Rear Admiral Jesse B. Gay, Rear Admiral and Mrs. F. H. Clark, Rear Admiral and Mrs. H. B. Butler, Rear Admiral and Mrs. H. S. Smith, Rear Admiral and Mrs. R. McLean, Rear Admiral and Mrs. John Halligan, Rear Admiral and Mrs. N. N. Taylor, Rear Admiral and Mrs. William A. Moffett, Rear Admiral S. S. Robison, commandant of the United States Naval Academy, and Mrs. Robison, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Mark L. Bristol, Rear Admiral and Mrs. John V. Chase, Rear Admiral J. R. Blakeley, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Robert M. Kennedy, Brig. Gen. Rufus H. Lane, U. S. M. C., and Mrs. Lane; Brig. Gen. William D. Connor, commandant of the Army War College, and Mrs. Connor; Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Ben H. Fuller., Brig. Gen. and Mrs. G. Williams, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. J. T. Myers, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. H. Mathews, Capt. C. C. Bloch, commandant of the navy yard, and Mrs. Bloch; Col. Campbell B. Hodges, aid to President Hoover.

Also Maj. Gen. and Mrs. James E. Fechet, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Guy V. Henry, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Preston Brown, Col. and Mrs. Robert C. Foy, Col. and Mrs. Harry Coontes, Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Ernest Lee Jahncke, Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aeronautics and Mrs. David S. Ingalls, Assistant Secretary of War Trubee F. Davison and Mrs. Davison, Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. William R. Castle, jr., Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Francis White, Undersecretary of State and Mrs. Joseph P. Cotton, Assistant Secretary of War and Mrs. Frederic Payne, the Assistant Secretary of Labor and Mrs. Robert Carl White and many others.

Also in the group will be the foreign naval and air attaches of several embassies, including the British, French, Japanese, Italian and Brazilian officers, members of the staff of the British Embassy and of the Canadian, Irish and South African Legations.

Yesterday afternoon Capt. Ritchie, Naval Attache of the British Embassy, and Mrs. Ritchie gave a tea at their home for Capt. Brent and his officers, their guests including also the members of the embassy staff and their wives.

Mr. and Mrs. Childress Buckner Gwyn have as their guest for October Mr. Gwyn's mother, Mrs. Henry D. Capers, of Moultrie, Ga., who has come to Washington from Thomaston, Ga., where she attended the Georgia State Confederate Reunion as matron of honor for the division, also making an address on the last day of the reunion. Mrs. Gwyn is giving a tea this afternoon for Mrs. Capers.

The American Association of University Women will hold the first of a series of bridge luncheons at the clubhouse on I street on Saturday, October 18, at 1 o'clock. Mrs. Frank W. Ballou is chairman of the committee in charge of the bridge luncheons for the winter and will be assisted by Mrs. George B. Woods and Mrs. Selden M. Ely at the first luncheon.

The board of lady managers of the Episcopal Church Home will give a tea at the home, Wisconsin avenue and Macomb street, on Saturday from 3 until 6 o'clock.

U. S. Attache Takes Bride In New York

Mr. and Mrs. Watson to Remain Some Time in Washington.

A marriage of interest to Washington which took place Monday afternoon in New York, was that of Miss Sydney Marsden Cooke, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Harvey Cooke, of East Orange, N. J., to Mr. Osborn Stone Watson, American commercial attache to Finland and head of the American Aeronautical Commission to Northern Europe. The ceremony was performed in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church by the Rev. Dr. Robert Brewster Beattie, pastor of the Munn Avenue Presbyterian Church of East Orange, in the presence of relatives and a few close friends.

Mrs. Paul Garrigue was matron of honor and the bride's attendant. A dinner at the St. Regis followed the ceremony.

The couple have motored to Washington where Mr. Watson will complete Government work before sailing for Denmark, whence Mr. and Mrs. Watson will fly to Finland.

Mr. Watson was a teacher of aeronautics in the Army during the World War and followed that service with five years in China. Since then he has been in Finland.

Mrs. Hobart to Be Luncheon Guest.

Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will be the guest of honor at a reception and luncheon today given by the committee in charge of the arrangements for the annual State conference at Long Beach, Long Island.

The October dinner of the business and professional section of the Women's City Club will be held on Wednesday, with Mrs. Villya Poe Wilson as guest of honor and speaker. Other especially invited guests are Miss Martha Strayer and Miss Jackie Martin. Mrs. J. Garfield Riley will preside.

Among those subscribing are Mrs. William Lee Corbin, president; Mrs. Grattan Kerans, Mrs. Lawton Miller, Mrs. William E. Chamberlin, Dr. A. Frances Foye, Judge Mary O'Toole, Mrs. Clyde B. Aitchison, Miss Virginia S. Benjamin, Mrs. J. K. Freiot, Mrs. L. H. Mattingly, Mrs. Francis D. Merchant, Mrs. Edward Quintard, Mrs. Clara Wright Smith, Mrs. Lyle B. Steever, Miss A. Hazel Swift, Miss Florence Christman, Dr. Edith L. Allen, Miss Mary E. Black, Miss Mabel B. Hiatt, Miss E. R. Freburger, Miss Florence W. Layton and Miss Carolina V. Sudler.

The board of governors of the National Woman's Country Club have sent out invitations for the first of their musicales of the season. On October 20 at 4 o'clock a delightful program will be given for the members and their guests by Marian Chace and Lester Shafer, talented members of the Denishawn Dancers and Katherine Ellis, pianist. Mrs. Franklin Ellis is one of the leading musicians in Washington.

Among the out-of-town members who have recently been chosen to membership in the National Woman's Country Club are Mrs. Robert A. Gardiner, Mrs. Carroll J. Post, jr., and Miss Florence Van Rensselaer, of New York City; Mrs. Thomas Shaw, of Worcester, Mass.; Mrs. Potter Palmer, of Chicago; Mrs. Norman King Evans, of Menton, Ohio; Mrs. Philip Andrew Myers, of Ashland, Ohio; Mrs. Frederick W. Edmondson and Miss Harriet B. Turnbull, of Pittsburgh.

Mr. V. Kronin and Mr. A. Malysheff, of Moscow, Russia, have been at the Dodge Hotel for several days while in Washington just before going to New York to sail for Europe. They have spent several months in the United States.

Mrs. Henry Breckenridge and Miss Grace Turner, of New York, are now in Washington at the Mayflower.

Mrs. Wallace Dillon has returned from Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., and has taken a house at 1713 R street for the winter.

Mrs. John J. Stahl has returned to her apartment in the Portner after a three-month sojourn in Europe.

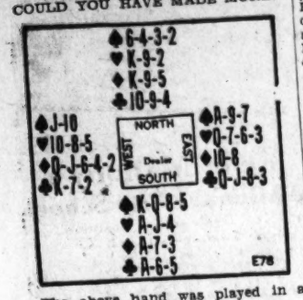
WORK ON BRIDGE

COULD YOU HAVE MADE MORE?



The above hand was played in a recent Auction Bridge tournament. South bid one No Trump and obtained the contract. If it had been played at Contract, South would have bid two No Trumps and North three.

When West opened the play by leading his fourth best Diamond; the Declarer, realizing that he was skating on thin ice and that it was important to lead from the dummy hand toward South's King-Queen of Spades, took the first trick with the King of Diamonds. He then led dummy's Deuce of Spades and, East playing small, played the King from closed hand. When the King won, needing another lead of Spades from dummy, he placed that hand in the lead with a Heart, and led the Trey of Spades. Once again East played small and the Queen took the trick.

As the Ace was the only adverse Spade unplayed, it was drawn by the lead of the Five from closed hand, and East then led a Diamond which West won and returned. South won the third round of Diamonds and then cashed his good Spade, making a total of three Spades, two Diamonds and one Heart—six tricks up to that point. With the Club Ace and the Heart tenace still in hand, Declarer could have gone game had he been able to get into his dummy for the Heart finesse; as it was, he made only eight tricks—one short of game.

Could you have pulled off that vital finesse?

THE CORRECT PLAY.

Why, of course, you could have by leading the Spade Eight to the fifth trick and keeping the Spade Five to be overtaken later by dummy's Six; then when South's Ace of Diamonds won, dummy could have been put in and the Heart finesse taken.

Missing Aviatrix Located in Persia

Mrs. Bruce Is Attempting to Retrace Amy Johnson Trail to Australia.

Jask, Persia, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—The Hon. Mrs. Victor Bruce, noted sportswoman who had been lost since Sunday afternoon on a lone flight to Australia, arrived here at noon today in her own plane.

Mrs. Bruce had been forced down by engine trouble on Mount Murabak, 20 miles from here, and when she did not arrive at the expected time a searching party was sent out to scour the lonely desert. The party picked up a distress call from the woman aviator and found her yesterday afternoon.

Her engine was repaired yesterday and Mrs. Bruce flew into Jask today. Mrs. Bruce is flying a small bluebird biplane equipped with an automatic radio transmitter. She is attempting to reach Australia over the general route followed last summer by a countrywoman, Miss Amy Johnson.

Art Interprets the Mode

A graceful gown of white satin by Molyneux for Gertrude Lawrence's appearance in a new production.

New York, Oct. 7.

PARIS and the American woman! Every now and then the American woman stirs restlessly in her silken bonds of "Paris says this, Paris says that; Paris wears this, and Paris wears that; smart European women wear this, that and the other . . ." and says to herself, impatiently, "Yes, yes; what of it?"

The intelligent American woman realizes that while the Haute Couture undeniably offers the most delightful models procurable, and that unquestionably Dame Fashion reigns from Paris, the Paris sartorial world is not necessarily law. And while admitting also that the Parisienne is unquestionably fitted by both inheritance and environment to display the utmost good taste and that elusive quality called "chic," she realizes that the American elegante is also fitted by nature and intelligence to display extremely good taste in her clothing.

Have Parisienne's Respect.

American women do very well not to accept without question all and everything that Paris offers. By so doing they have gained the profound respect of the Parisienne and an international appreciation of their beauty and chic, the extent of which they, themselves, are not fully aware.

* * * *

"Arty"-looking sleeves are no longer smart. But interesting-looking sleeves are smart and really important to a coat or dress these days. And necklines, oh, how unusual and smart they have to be!

Really, the sleeve and neckline problem is a very important one in the modes of today, and that's why Dare has made you an illustrated leaflet of necklines and sleeves, for which you can send a stamped-self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post. Before you think of making a new dress, or even of buying one, and had better look at this leaflet and get the real lowdown on the season's sleeves and necklines! Not to mention giving your old dresses and coats a completely new lease on life with a new pair of sleeves.

True beauty needs no embellishment; in fact, should not be put in an ornate frame. Therefore it is with the master-hand of a real artist that Molyneux creates a gown for Gertrude Lawrence to wear in her new production—creates a gown to act as a frame for her undisputable beauty, making the gown subservient to it.

Just white satin, beautifully cut and made. And there I have sketched it for you today, thinking you might like to see it.

I must say that the beret is the accepted head-covering of the day, but a Basque would never recognize his national headgear, so many feminine touches have added to its charms.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

LITTLE TYPHOID IN CITIES.

SO far as the larger cities are concerned typhoid has become a negligible disease. It is also declining in the rural districts and in the towns and cities, though the exact facts as to these are not so easy to get at. The indications are that within another ten years we will practically be free from this menace, and the arguments for pure water, pasteurized milk, clean foods and fly eradication will need to find other foundations.

The American Medical Association has recently made its eighteenth annual report on the prevalence of typhoid in the large cities of the United States. This report shows an average typhoid rate of 1.56. In the group of 81 large cities, in which live 34,000,000 people, there were only 531 deaths due to typhoid. Chicago alone had more than three times that number in 1891, when it had scarcely 1,000,000 inhabitants.

Of the 81 large cities 5 had no typhoid deaths. If Proctor Knott could come back to life he could remake his Zenith City speech for Duluth leads all the rest. Twenty-eight cities had rates of less than one. Such large cities as Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit—all in the over a 1,000,000 class—were in this list. In 53 the rate was less than two. New York and Boston were found in this larger list. In 20 the rate was over two, but less than five. In seven it was over five, but less than ten. Only one city—Nashville—had a rate that was higher than ten, and theirs was only 12.8. This looks bad for Nashville, but the picture has another side. The record shows that in 1906-1910 Nashville had a typhoid death rate of 61, and as late as 1911-1915 it was 40. To improve from 61 to 12 in 23 years is something to brag about.

This record was begun in 1906. At that time 74 cities were covered. Two had rates of over 5 and less than 10, and 72 scored more than 10. In that first five-year period—1906-11—only seven cities had typhoid rates lower than Nashville had in 1929. These were Cambridge, Worcester, Bridgeport, Camden, Yonkers, Jersey City and San Diego. Most of these were in the East, in which section the effort to control typhoid was begun earlier than elsewhere in the United States.

A full generation ago nearly all the elderly people had had typhoid and were immune to the disease. There must have been hundreds of thousands of typhoid carriers. Ten years from now persons under 40 who are immune because of having had the disease will be few in numbers. On the other hand, there will be very few typhoid carriers. In that day an army can be called together without causing typhoid to run riot as it did in the American Army as late as 1898.

KEROSENE FOR HAY FEVER.

W. R. writes: I had hay fever for 30 years during every season spent near where ragweed grew. I spent three seasons in regions where there was none of the weed and I escaped. After experimenting with many remedies I tried kerosene. I poured a little in the hollow of my left hand and used my right little finger to get it up my nose and into my eyes. It caused much smarting. I used some soothing antiseptic as a palliative. In recent years I have found that one application of my remedy, made as soon as the hay fever starts, will bring it to an end.

What Today Means to You

"LIBRA."

IF October 8 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to 11:15 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 6:30 a. m. to 7:45 a. m. and from 8 p. m. to 9:30 p. m.

Astrological influences on this date will be inspirational, and brain workers should profit from these unseen forces and produce rather than dream. Occult manifestations. Your spiritual faith will be sorely tested.

The child born on this October 8 will be by nature impulsive, quick in thought and action and inclined to go to extremes in all things. It will be very frank and outspoken and will make enemies through want of tact. It will desire to excel in its work and studies and will have high ambitions.

You have a defeatest mind and are beaten before you begin to fight. If you were more violent in your pessimism, you would do something instead of sitting and moping. Fear and lack of self-confidence crucify your self-expression. When there is some one to encourage you, some one to show you how to reach your goal, you buck up and are a different person. Others have to meet you more than half way. No matter how friendly your heart may be, you seldom extend your hand first.

A life of ease and luxury would appeal to you very much, for you are neither overly mentally nor physically ambitious. You do not want to take either your play nor your work too seriously. You do not like to dip into things too deeply; a superficial skimming pleases you much better. This attitude is, of course, cheating you out of many of life's most exquisite fruits—those for which you have to dig the deepest, or reach the highest.

Your passions are quite quiescent, although you are capable of very deep feelings and very fiery emotions, if they are once awakened. If you allow yourself to fall completely in love with some one of the opposite sex, you may so forget yourself, so wake up, that you will become an entirely different and more alive being. Your nature is naturally responsive. You love music and, had you sufficient ambition, you could excel as a musician.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

The Matter of Ages.

DEAR Miss McDonald: I am 25 years of age and have never cared to associate with men as individuals. About six months ago we moved back to the town where we lived five years ago. I came in contact with a man 40 years of age who was one of our group when I lived here before. He is generally regarded as a respectable citizen and is very active in church work, in which I have always been interested.

My parents consider this man a fine character in every respect, but they strenuously object to the difference in our ages. I have associated with men near my age, but none has ever appealed to me. Would you suggest that I give this man up on account of this one and only objection when there are many other objections to be considered in other men.

Will you be kind enough to let me have your opinion on this.

SUSAN H.

How perfectly silly even to consider giving the man up. In ten years he will probably look younger than you. The men of 25 today are really only about 16. No mature woman could be satisfied with their deficiencies. If you have met a man who attracts you and whose character recommends him to an entire community, the only thing you should be worrying about is the possibility that some one else might grab him.

It seems a pity that despite the general enlightenment upon almost every other subject, we still retain so many of the pet prejudices of our grandmothers on the subject of marriage. Girls will marry men who drink, men who are brainless, men who are shiftless and men who combine all those attributes, but let a man happen to come under the ban of one of grandma's prejudices and behold, the whole family in hysterics. Here you are, a girl evidently of very retiring nature and serious minded. You are in your tastes 30 instead of 25, and you are all upset because an otherwise perfectly congenial and satisfactory man hapens to be 40.

Marry him, and down one of the jinxes.

This column is for you! Your experiences, opinions and suggestions will help those who read this page. Express you views and help those in need of advice. You need not sign your name.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

BRINGING YOUR GARDEN INDOORS.

SO many people stand aghast when they realize that their garden is over for this season. They want to save everything in sight and at the same time realize the futility of this. It is not practical for more reasons than one. Therefore, we must lift only plant that will yield 100 per cent dividends when it comes to converting them into house plants.

The question of geraniums must be solved first, for every garden has them. There are three things you can do with these plants. The most practical, provided you have the space, is to take off cuttings from the old plant and thus start an entire stock of these cheerful plants. If started now you should have small blooming plants in late February or early March. For these cuttings use a good garden soil, sand and manure, equal parts. The second thing you can do is to lift the plants and hang them (tops down) to the rafters in a sunny, well-ventilated part of your cellar, where they will, without further attention, keep alive until next spring.

The third and less desirable way to winter geraniums is to trim them, removing one-third of each branch. These plants which have been blooming all summer in the garden will not bloom in the house in winter, but they will keep alive and at once start to grow and set buds when planted in the open in the spring.

Should you have snapdragons in your garden, at this time, do not forget that these plants will not only live, but really bloom if you cut them back to within 6 inches of the roots and lift them to a warm, sunny window. They may take a little time to get over being disturbed, but they will grow and flower in the house before Christmas.

Ageratums are worth lifting and carrying indoors. Cut the plants back severely, pot them in small pots, set in a shady place and water. Do not bring them indoors until forced to do so by fear of frost. Spray them at least twice a week while indoors with cold, soapy water to prevent the advent of the red spider. If kept in a sunny window these plants should continue to bloom until after the holidays.

Impatience sultana is another garden plant that can be easily converted into a splendid house plant. These cheery plants, when given a sunny location, are never failing in their blooms.

Lift your Jerusalem cherry about this time. It has probably set fruit, and if kept in a cool, well ventilated place, where there is plenty of sunshine, will keep its fruit until after Christmas. The secret of success with this plant, while in the house, is to keep it cool, but at the same time give it plenty of sun and water. This is one variety that is apt to be attacked by the red spider. To prevent damage from this source spray the plant once a week with cold soapy water.

Mrs. Pauline MacArthur Granted Reno Divorce

Reno, Nev., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Mrs. Pauline Arnout MacArthur, daughter of the late Judge William H. Arnout, of New York, was granted a divorce here today from John R. MacArthur on the grounds of desertion. MacArthur, head of an engineering firm in New York and formerly in the United States Diplomatic Service, did not contest the suit.

They married June 27, 1889, in New York and have two grown sons. Mrs. MacArthur said her husband was worth upward of a million dollars and asked $12,000 a year alimony, but did not receive judgment for it. MacArthur is understood to make his home in Paris.

Guiding Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE.

Self-Deception.

The course of many human lives appears in perspective as a path of flight and evasion. There are too many people whose crucial decisions are made not upon the basis of realities with which they are faced, but upon the constant necessity for self-deception.

The ability to be honest with one's self is acquired through proper training in childhood. Parents who are frank, honest and not afraid to admit their own limitations bring up children who will tend to possess these qualities.

But the child who is brought up by parents who refuse to face their own problems honestly will evade his own, pretending things are not as they are but as he wishes they were.

It is a mistake to develop in children ambitions for the kind of achievement for which they have not obviously a genuine gift.

The pressure brought to bear upon a child whose parents definitely want him to engage in some particular profession or to achieve some particular goal often makes him unable to face within himself the limitations which make these things an impossibility for him.

He can not bear the thought of his parents' disappointment. He can not admit his obvious inadequacies or free himself to discover what natural bents and actual abilities may be his.

To be wilfully or unconsciously blind to the facts which bound one's life is as sad a handicap as any one can have. It makes a full, significant existence impossible.

It forces the individual to wear a mask and prevents him from developing a really well-integrated personality.

He does not admit to himself wherein his happiness and fulfillment lie and therefore he can not learn how to live.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

TRAINING CHILDREN IN THE USE OF MONEY.

(U. S. Department of Agriculture.)

A very simple method of starting children in the use of their allowances is that employed by social service agencies in dealing with foreign or illiterate families. It consists of several envelopes—preferably stout manila for durability—one for each kind of expenditure. Two would be enough for a child at first, one marked "To spend" and one "To save for something nice."

Many parents give their children a few pennies each week when they are as young as 4 or 5 years old. When a child has learned to make change, to add or subtract amounts, and can be sent to the store, he is old enough to have some money of his own to handle. The envelope system is a help until he can write his "accounts" down in a book. Then he should be taught gradually how to find out what he has spent and what is left, how to save for definite purchases greatly desired for himself or for gifts, and ultimately how to manage larger sums which include personal money and money for definite uses such as "school," "carfare" and "lunches." A child who is old enough to ride on street cars alone is ready for a notebook system of accounts.

As the number and kind of expenses increase, the Bureau of Home Economics does not consider the envelope system satisfactory. It necessitates keeping more money on hand than is desirable. It provides no permanent classified record on which future estimates can be made. It is confusing because in order to make change money is borrowed from one envelope to another.

By the time a boy or girl is in the last grammar grade or ready for high school, a clothing allowance may be added and its use taught. This is a good time to introduce a check book. If the local bank does not handle accounts for minors, checks may be drawn on the parent up to the amount of the allowance and all transactions made as businesslike as possible. Poorly chosen purchases will occur from time to time, but after a little experience the student trained in this way can be trusted away from home at college to handle funds intelligently.

Jean Miller, 2-year-old Salina, Kans., child, was kept alive twelve days and nights by artificial respiration.

A New Foe to Fat

A few years ago, millions of people suffered from excess fat. It was a blight to beauty, health and vim. Lives were shortened, all life's joys reduced.

Now look about. Excess fat is fast disappearing. Not by starvation, not by harmful drugs. Science has discovered that a great cause of excess fat lies in a weakened gland. That gland largely controls nutrition. Its secretion helps turn food into fuel and energy. A scanty secretion lets too much food turn to fat.

Now doctors the world over combat that cause. They feed the lacking factor until weight returns to normal.

That factor is the basis of Marmola prescription tablets. A world-famous medical laboratory prepares them to fit the average case. Thus any obese person may employ this method in its best form at small cost.

Marmola has been used for 24 years—millions of boxes of it. Users have told others, and the use has spread. Now a large part of the slenderness you see is due to this master help.

Now excess fat is folly. It is also folly to starve or overdo, or use methods harmful or absurd. The right method—the method which all doctors now employ—is at your call. The price at your drug store is only $1.

Go get it today if you need it. A book in the box gives the formula and explains the reasons for results. Don't carry this burden longer when people all about you have so easily thrown it off.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

NEWS from the National is to the effect that this theater is booked solid to the Christmas holidays, with splendid attractions all the way. The last show to be scheduled is Earl Carroll's "Sketch Book," with Will Mahoney and the Three Sailors. It will begin operations here Sunday night, November 16.

Monday night's opening at the National Theater broke the house record for such events, only a few seats being vacant. Furthermore, 'twas mostly all money; which means that Mr. George Lederer and his latest opus, "The Pajama Lady," got away to a good start. All they need now, according to popular opinion, are a few new jokes to take the place of several old gags that have been doing service since the days of Nat Wills and Lew Dockstader. This, of course, will be attended to during the week.

JUST when Mr. Stoddard Taylor, manager of the Belasco, gets all set for the season of seasons, the city fathers give an order to tear up the pavement in front of his theater. It means that all patrons who want to see "Everybody's Secret," this week's attraction, must make a detour—if they come by automobiles—and get off at either one of two corners. Next week the pavement may be completed.

"Michael and Mary," a comedy by A. A. Milne, is an early attraction at the Belasco. Aside from being a phantasy from the pen of a great dramatist, and the second play to be produced here by the Professional Players, the star is no less a personage in the theater than Miss Madge Kennedy. She has not been seen in this city for several years, her last appearance having been at the National in a Phillip Barry comedy.

DAVID BELASCO is about to descend upon the city with a new play, the first he has scheduled here in several years. He will bring to the theater bearing his name the latest work of Lillian Hatvany, a play called "Now, or Never"—the premiere to take place the week of November 3. Unless the advance notices are wrong, Miss Helen Gahagan will have the lead role. She was last seen here in the all-star cast of "Thelawney of the Wells."

To make sure that the dramatic critics, editors, et cetera, and the leading teachers of history in the schools have a first peep at the superphoto film made by D. W. Griffith, "Abraham Lincoln," that all-talking picture will have a special showing at the National on the afternoon of Sunday, October 12, which is by way of being Columbus Day. After the matinee the general public will be admitted at the night performance.

(Using leftover.)

4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon sugar
1 cup cooked beans (lima, kidney or green)
1 cup corn (cooked and cut from cob)

Melt butter and add flour. When blended add the milk and cook until a creamy sauce forms. Stir frequently. Add the rest of the ingredients. Cook for two minutes and serve.

Caramel Rolls.

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons lard
2-3 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons dark brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Mix flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in lard with knife. Mixing with knife, slowly add milk. When soft dough forms, pat it out until ½-inch thick. Spread with butter and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Roll up like jelly roll. Cut off ½-inch slices and place, flat side up, in caramel mixture.

Caramel Mixture.

4 tablespoons butter
½ cup dark brown sugar
¼ cup water

Mix ingredients and cook two minutes. Pour into shallow, greased pan. Add rolls and bake 20 minutes in moderate oven. Turn out upside down and serve warm.

Baked Ham Bettina.

1½ pound slice of ham (2-3 inch thick)
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup dark brown sugar
½ cup vinegar
½ cup water
¼ teaspoon cloves

Fit ham into baking pan and sprinkle with flour, mustard sugar and cloves. Add rest of ingredients and lid. Bake one hour.

READ THIS FIRST.

Robin Smith, a young and rising but extremely sensitive poet, is invited to make one of a country house party. He accepts because Lady Gwendolen Winston, with whom he is desperately in love, will also be present. At the house party Robin meets Lady Gwendolen, the Earl of Winston, her brother; Donald Flint, wealthy business man, and Andree Opie, with whom Robin had once been in love.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER III.

And these two, Robin and Andree, were not slow in resuming acquaintance.

"As susceptible as ever, I see!" She took her revenge good-naturedly.

"Why shouldn't I be?" he turned tables upon her. "And I can't see that you have lost any of your charm."

"Now, now, Robin!" and she held up a warning finger. "You know well what I mean. Wasn't thinking of myself at all. But take a woman's word; don't lose your heart to that girl. She wants a man with——"

"With spurs on his heels, I suppose you're going to say!" he completed the sentence for her. And a look of disgust came into his face.

"You're the same sweet boy, Robin," she said, taking his arm. "Always the poet, looking for romance, but finding the world cold and nasty. Isn't that so, Robin?"

Her manner quite melted him, and his eyes looked softly on her. "And you're the same dear Andree, who has always understood me, and always been nice to me. Yes," he said, with sudden abruptness, answering the question she had first asked him. "I do remember that night in the Luxembourg Gardens. That was years ago . . . before you married. It seems yesterday. I shall never forget that kiss. I went home and wrote a poem about it. One of my best!"

Andree, squeezing his arm, laughed light-heartedly.

But he looked at her with a hurt look in his eyes. "Why do you laugh at me?" he asked. "Why does everybody laugh at me?"

"There! There!" she patted him—maternally, he thought. "You have your own remedy. You don't know how fortunate you are. All you have to do is to kiss a woman, then go home and write a poem about it. In that way you get the lady out of your system. I shouldn't say you've written a poem about Gwen yet. Now, have you?"

"No, I haven't!" he answered defiantly. "And I don't intend to!"

"Now, that sounds serious!" said Andree, looking at her companion thoughtfully.

"Let's talk about the roses," said Robin, feeling he had made a fool of himself.

"I thought we were!" retorted Andree, good-naturedly. "Gwen is surely a rose, if there ever was one." Then she added, as she squeezed his arm once more: "I like you, Robbie. And I understand you. And we are friends, aren't we? The same as we ever were?"

There was a pleading sincerity in her voice. Robin felt its truth, and that she meant all she said.

"We are, aren't we, Robin?" she repeated.

"Yes, we are. You always have stood by me, Andree," he asserted solemnly. Before she could make the teasing rejoinder which was on her lips, they were interrupted by the reappearance of Lady Gwendolen, walking slowly and sedately toward them, leaning on the arm of a handsome man of about 35.

"This is Mr. Flint," introduced Lady Gwendolen. "We came to tell you that Lady Dorothy is waiting tea for you."

"Oh, I'm sorry," Lady Opie apologized contritely, while she surveyed the tall man with obvious interest.

Robin, too, was surveying the new arrival, and wondering what possible chance he could have with Lady Gwendolen in competition. Those flashing black eyes, and that broad, sensuous mouth, to say nothing of the man's millions and impending title!

"Why so silent, Mr. Poet?" he heard Lady Gwendolen's gently taunting voice. "Is a new masterpiece struggling for existence?"

"I don't know what you're talking about," Robin said sulkily, as he turned on his heel and offered his arm to Andree. He could feel the hot flush spread up to his ears. For the moment he was completely humiliated and abashed.

Andree pressed his arm consolingly; but even that did not make up for the sound which rang in his ears, the sound of a soft, gurgling, feminine laugh, mingled with a deep, hearty masculine one.

As they approached the more formal garden bordering the long, lily-flecked pond, Robin discerned Lady Dorothy and several people seated near a table, from which his hostess was pouring tea, while two maids, immaculate in their black and white, passed tiny sandwiches and cakes. His steps grew perceptible slower, and Andree quickly realized the reason.

"Don't be shy, Robin," she said in a low voice. "They won't bite. It's only my dear old husband and Muriel Haddon and Gwen's brother. That is, I fancy it's Lord Winston, judging from the descriptions I've had of him."

"It isn't that . . ." commenced Robin, then stopped. Why should he try to explain to any one even good, loyal Andree? No one understood. It was as if a fish came to a peacock party; he was the fish.

Lady Dorothy had already spied them, and was beckoning Robin to her side.

"We're all here but Prince Pozolevsky and Mr. Armstrong," Lady Dorothy was saying, as he approached. "And here's our poet. Mr. Smith, let me introduce my other guests. The big man over there, talking to the pretty woman, is Sir George Opie, and the pretty woman is Miss Haddon, who is going to play the violin for us. And this," putting her hand out toward a tall, lean figure, which was draped over a garden chair, "is Lord Winston, Gwen's brother."

Robin bowed awkwardly to each person in turn. He felt that his face must be a deep carmine by now. His long tapering fingers drummed uneasily on the front of his coat.

Lord Winston was clad in white flannels and a dark coat. When his name was spoken, he rose slowly to an upright sitting position, and, taking a monocle which was dangling from his neck by a long black ribbon, deliberately adjusted it to one of the small, pale-blue eyes. Then, running his fingers through his ruddy red hair, he began to speak slowly. Robin realized with an unpleasant start that he was addressing him.

"How do you do, Mr Smith? Curious thing, I never met a real poet until today!"

Robin, aware of the antagonism behind the man's suavity, bristled as definitely as does a dog when he is confronted with a cat, but he could think of no crushing reply. The silence was rather awful. Andree tried to break it lightly, by saying:

"You haven't introduced me, Lady Dorothy. I want to meet Gwen's brother."

"That's all right, Lady Opie," replied Lord Winston for his hostess. "I feel as if I knew you already. But somehow I thought that poets were a kind of definite species—or a sort of secret guild. Fancy a man admitting being a poet!" He readjusted his monocle with the last words, and Robin knew that he was being victimized, despite Lord Winston's smile.

"If you find me disagreeable and unnecessary . . ." commenced Robin savagely, when Lady Dorothy interrupted him with what was meant to be a gay laugh, but what succeeded in being little better than a cross between a sigh and a scream.

"Come! Come!" she said. "We are all friends here. You really mustn't . . ."

"Here's Prince Pozolevsky," interpolated Lady Gwendolen, who had been indolently watching the encounter. Lady Dorothy turned to the small, slight but wiry foreign-looking man as a drowning man grasps at a straw.

"Oh, dear Prince Pozolevsky," she gushed, "we were wishing you would come. This is Lord Winston, just returned from Canada, and so anxious to meet you . . ." It wasn't at all true. As far as Lady Dorothy was aware, Edward Winston had never heard of the prince, but she felt it was imperative to divert him from the poet.

"Ah, prince!" exclaimed Lord Winston, rising, and heartily extending his hand. "I'm delighted!"

Prince Pozolevsky brought his heels together with a clink, and bowed coldly. The small, nervous hands remained clasped behind his back. He turned to his hostess.

For a moment Robin thought Lord Winston was going to strike the prince, but he seemed to think better of it, and slipped back into his chair without a word. The singular gleam in the prince's eyes had not escaped Robin. He scented a dramatic poem here, and almost forgot his recent discomfiture in imagining the details he felt he never could discover in reality.

Lady Dorothy was thankful to see him thus absorbed. When the turned-in look came into his eyes she always felt safer. She turned to her other guests, talking and jesting, while at the back of her head was always the question: Why had the prince insulted Lord Winston? For in no other way could his action be construed. She began to fear her week-end was not going to prove a success.

Marker Is Presented To Honor Evan Morgan

Morgantown, W. Va., Oct. 7.—To honor the memory of Evan Morgan, Revolutionary soldier, preacher and educator, who resided in the Fairview community, the Col. John Evans Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held a memorial service and program Sunday afternoon at the grave in the Fairview Cemetery on the Evansdale pike. More than 200 attended. Mrs. W. R. Harris presented the marker and Miss Georgia Wade, regent, accepted it on behalf of the chapter.

Charles Stevenson, Morgantown, a great-great-grandson of Mr. Morgan, read a history of the life of the veteran, who died in 1853 at the age of 100 years and 18 days. Catherine Henry, a great-great-granddaughter, unveiled the tablet. Mrs. Guido Camisa extended greetings to the Daughters of 1812 and T. Ray Tille, those of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Bothered With Pimples Nine Months. Healed by Cuticura.

"My trouble first began with small pimples on my face. Later the pimples became hard, large and red, and festered and scaled over. At times they would itch and burn causing me to scratch. The pimples were scattered and disfigured my looks very much. They bothered me about nine months.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they gave relief after a few applications. I continued using them and in about three months was completely healed, after using four cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Miss Eva Cliatt, Cuthbert, Ga.

A clear skin is irresistible...

in fact, popularity depends upon it

YOU KNOW your skin is constantly undergoing a change!

Invisibly you shed the old skin and take on the new. The quality of the new depends very largely upon the quality and the vitality of your red-blood-cells—those vital "cells" that build, nourish and repair tissue.

Whatever treatment you may use for your complexion, remember the important fact that natural beauty—a clear skin and a rose-petal complexion—comes from within.

More red-blood-cells and of the right quality! That's the answer to a sallow complexion and to pimples and boils.

The way to regain the red-blood-cells is to take S.S.S.—the Tonic that will help Nature build up and enrich your blood. Your skin will clear up! Your whole body will be strengthened!

If popularity and a clear skin are slipping away from you try S.S.S. Its successful record of over 100 years is a guarantee of satisfaction.

Complexion cleared up beautifully

Miss Mary Rank, Clearwater, N. Y., writes: "My face was blemished with many pimples. No treatment I used did them any good. I also had boils. My appetite was poor. My weight was off and I felt nervous. After taking S.S.S. my complexion cleared up beautifully. My appetite improved. I now rest well at night and am greatly benefited in every way. Because S.S.S. helped me I think it is the best blood medicine!"

Pimples and blackheads disappeared

Mrs. Mary E. Parker, Bahama, N. C., writes: "Because of a rundown condition my appetite was poor. I felt tired in the mornings and was troubled with pimples and blackheads. Red bumps came on my face once or twice monthly. After taking S.S.S. the pimples and blackheads disappeared and my skin became clear. I do not feel tired upon rising in the mornings. I had tried a number of medicines but S.S.S. is the one that helped me."

Blood is Life!

You cannot count your own red-blood-cells—that is technical! But you should know that they are the "ships" that sail in the blood and carry nourishment to all parts of the body. Also, they remove impurities from the tissues.

Pimples and boils, body weakness, lack of appetite, underweight, paleness and sallow complexion are symptoms of a low blood count. These may indicate that you need S.S.S.

BRITISH DOMINIONS TO BARE CONDITIONS

Session in London Today to Furnish Basis of Further Economic Discussions.

SECRECY IS QUESTIONED

London, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—The rising tide of nationalism that beat against the shores of England as the dominion premiers convened for the imperial conference has been checked, temporarily at least, while the delegates grapple with the economic problems common to all units of the empire.

A plenary session will begin at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, with J. H. Thomas, speaking for the home government, surveying Britain's economic position. Each Dominion spokesman will give a similar outline, telling of his country's needs in relation to Britain and the world at large. These declarations are expected to take two days, and upon them will be based the further economic considerations of the gathering of premiers.

Meanwhile, in the "Moses room" of the House of Lords, gathered around a horseshoe table over which hangs a large painting of Moses, the lawgiver, there sits an important committee under Lord Chancellor Sankey, unraveling complicated empire political problems.

Settlement of Disputes.

The Sankey committee is an interchangeable group of home and dominion constitutional, political and legal experts, and when it sends its findings back to the chief delegates the question of how high empire nationalism will flare depends on the success the committee has achieved.

Its first problem today was the proposed empire tribunal to settle legal disputes among the dominions. The need for such a court arises from the fact that all empire units except the Irish Free State, have signed the optional clause of The Hague Court, with the reservation that interimperial disputes are to be settled within the empire. The Free State opinion is that even the decision of an empire tribunal would be subject to international review at The Hague.

Comment on Secretary.

The committee also began a study of empire nationality. The question is whether British Empire nationality is to be broken into seven distinct nationalities — Canadian, Australian, South African and the like—or whether a formula for dual citizenship within the British commonwealth will be found. The highly intricate question of women's nationality also was discussed.

British journalists tonight again raised the question of secrecy surrounding the conference proceedings, declaring that Prime Minister MacDonald at the Llandudno Labor party meeting had referred to various economic proposals now before the empire premiers. No details concerning them had been made public, and objections were made to the use of conference material for political party purposes.

Miss Wiggins Left $1,640,000 Estate

Baltimore Trust Firm Is Designated Trustee in Document.

An estate valued at more than $1,640,000 was left by Miss Rowe Wiggins, formerly of the Grafton Hotel, who died September 24, according to petition for probate of her will filed yesterday in District Supreme Court. At the same time her will was offered for record. The petition and the will were filed by the Safe Deposit and Trust Co., of Baltimore, through Minor, Gatley and Drury, local law firm.

The document specifies that real estate holdings are to be converted into cash by the Wilmington Savings and Trust Company, of Wilmington, N. C., and the proceeds turned over to the Baltimore company which is designated as trustee of the estate.

The trustee then is to divide the estate into two trust funds. Income from one fund is to be paid to Adele E. Jones, a niece, for life, while the income from the other fund is to be distributed among two grandnieces and a grandnephew. Provision is made that Elise M. Van Dusen is to receive one-half of the second fund and that the remaining half be divided between Mildred S. Griffith and G. Herbert Smith, jr. Descendants of the beneficiaries are to divide the estate.

Miss Wiggins' estate, according to the petition for probate, consists of real estate at Wilmington, N. C., valued at $50,000; securities estimated at $1,500,000; cash $91,000 and household effects, $1,500.

Drought Damage Seen In Fair at Danville

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Oct. 7.—Danville's fair opened today for its annual four-day run. The exhibition halls were filled with various exhibits, the tobacco exhibit not being as good as in other years and reflecting the damage done during the long summer drought.

A concern under contract to supply the midway gaiety arrived in time, after having its equipment levied on at Martinsville.

Public School Exhibit Launched.

An exhibition of books, pamphlets, clippings and pictures of Washington's public schools from their inception to the present time is being held by the Washingtoniana Division of the Public Library on its second floor this week under the direction of Miss Katherine K. Patten, curator of the division.

THRONGS SEE BODIES OF AIRSHIP VICTIMS ARRIVE AT LONDON

outside the station. The crowd kept perfectly still and silent.

People of all classes, from mechanics to diners-out in evening dress, gathered in homage. Such a throng had not been seen before in old Victoria Station since the Prince of Wales returned from his African hunting trip at the time of King George's serious illness in 1928, nearly two years ago.

Several women fainted in the crush and were taken off in ambulances. Many people carried wreaths to place upon the coffins as they passed on the way to the mortuary.

Drawn up beside the officials of the air ministry on the station platform was a little group of uniformed men who drew comments and whispers on every side. They were the members of the relief crew of the R-101, come to pay homage to their dead comrades.

Relatives of the three survivors who came over with the bodies, H. J. Leech, A. V. Bell and J. H. Binks, were admitted to the car in which they had traveled. Onlookers caught a hurried glimpse of embraces and smiles of happy welcome, in striking contrast with the scene of grief being enacted upon the platform.

Stately Westminster Hall, shrine of British history, was chosen last night through special permission of King George for the lying-in-state of the bodies of the 47 dead of the dirigible R-101.

The king, by sanctioning use of part of the ancient palace for this solemn occasion, associated himself personally with the nation's homage to the dead.

The bodies will be laid in the center of the great hall and from 8 o'clock Friday morning until 10 at night the public will be admitted freely. Arrangements are being made for their filing past the coffins in payment of a last tribute of reverence.

It was in this hall, built in 1097 by King William I and rebuilt and enlarged in 1397 by Richard II, that the body of King Edward VII lay in state in 1910. Among others to whom a similar honor has been ordered in modern times was William Ewart Gladstone, the Victorian statesman.

Destroyer Returns Bodies.

Dover, England, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—A rakish British destroyer speeding through choppy channel seas tonight brought back to Britain and the honors of the Empire, 47 coffins containing the remains of the brave company of air experts and airmen that perished in the wreck of the dirigible R-101 at Beauvais on Sunday.

The destroyer Tempest slipped into her berth at the Admiralty pier to the salute of an honor guard of 50 men of the Royal air forces and of representatives from every arm of the British military service.

A single accident marred the return of the dead from the stirring farewell of France at Boulogne-sur-Mer across the channel.

The Tempest came in alone, bringing all the coffins. At the start she had been accompanied by her sister ship, the destroyer Tribune, but rough seas after leaving Boulogne the Tribune ran aground in the "roughs seas" after leaving Boulogne breakwater.

Common Grave Planned.

When it was found that the Tribune had damaged her propeller, all the coffins she had aboard were transfered to the Tempest, which then started under full steam for Dover. The Tribune went to Portsmouth for repairs.

A common grave, to accord with their common fate, is being planned for them at Cardington, home port of the R-101, from which she set out on Saturday night for her disastrous voyage to India.

Slowly and reverently, the coffins were carried to six railway cars attached to a special train. Each was draped with a union jack. An entire car of the train was filled with wreaths from France and from home.

Son Represents Premier.

High government officials and Malcolm MacDonald, representing his father, the prime minister, stood by while the coffins were being placed aboard the special train.

The ceremony was rigorously simple. The Tempest docked at 9:40 p. m., and at 11:10 p. m., an hour and a half later, the funeral train steamed slowly out of the station for London.

Rites in French Cities.

Boulogne-sur-Mer, France, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—The plain people of France paid to the victims of the R-101 disaster today a tribute that amply justified the warm words of gratitude which King George expressed to Premier Tardieu through the British Ambassador at Beauvais where France's national day of mourning was centered in a religious service of memorial.

Army, navy and aviation officials and citizens in all walks of life assembled to pay honor to the officers and men and passengers of the fateful airship.

Both at Beauvais and Boulogne vast crowds assembled. Officials estimated that more than 100,000 persons attended the ceremonies in these two cities and that 60,000 peasants added their tribute as the funeral train bearing the bodies later passed through Picardy, where the British troops fought to liberate France in the World War, on its way to this port.

Crowds Line Route.

Few state funerals ever have brought forth such general and spontaneous expressions of sympathy in this country. Where people could gain access to the coffins containing the charred remains or to the carriages bearing them, this sympathetic outpouring took the form of decoration with simple autumn blossoms gathered from the fields made familiar to many throughout the world in song and story of the war.

Along the rail route from Beauvais to Boulogne and especially in towns where the funeral passed without stopping the crowds lined the tracks and platforms.

French aviation paid its tribute to the victims of the pioneering air navigation effort. There were eight squadrons of French planes in the air as the destroyers Tempest and Tribune filed solemnly out of the harbor into the turbulent channel on their melancholy homeward mission.

King Grateful to Tardieu.

The close bond of sympathy which the misfortune so clearly revealed between France and Britain found its expression at the conclusion of the Beauvais ceremonies when British Ambassador Tyrrell, acting upon orders of King George, handed a letter to Premier Tardieu in which he said he was instructed by his sovereign to express the profound gratitude of the king for the "precious aid of the French Government and the local authorities in connection with the terrible catastrophe."

The testimonial continued that Premier Tardieu, by his presence and by presence of detachments of the French army, navy and air force, had given evidence of the link of friendship and bonds of sympathy which "unite our two countries." The message continued that France, by her decision to proclaim a day of national mourning, had manifested the sorrow which all French people feel and that the king wished to send to all a warm expression of thanks and appreciation.

$15,000 in Narcotics Seized Aboard Ship

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Narcotics estimated by Federal agents to be worth $15,000 were seized with the schooner Carmina off the coast near here today. The ship's captain and crew of seven were arrested and placed in prison here, pending a preliminary hearing.

Federal authorities said seizure of the drugs and vessel was brought about through a "tip" from Havana, Cuba, from which port the Carmina cleared last Friday. Names of the captain and members of the crew were not available.

How Old Are You?
I'm Fat No More—I'm 44

My Birthday Today—No Presents Please—I Lost My Fat With Speed and Ease

Why will people be fat—Is it because they never heard of Kruschen Salts—and the Kruschen way of losing fat—and at the same time gain in activity—energy—ambition—and keenness of mind?

Let me tell you how I did it—I ate three meals a day—but moderate ones—I cut out candy, pastry and ice cream—very little potatoes—plenty of vegetables and fruit—

But most important of all—I took one half a teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—didn't miss a morning.

Nothing hard about that—is there? and best of all it's inexpensive—for a bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks cost but 85 cents at Peoples Drug Stores or any drug store in the world. Not much to pay for freedom from fat slavery and to make yourself feel years younger.

These happy women from various States tell how many pounds they lost with Kruschen.

Montana—19 pounds in 4 weeks—North Carolina—47 pounds in 3 months; Kentucky 24 pounds in 31 days; Wisconsin 11 pounds in 6 weeks; Ohio 10 pounds, no time stated; New York 14 pounds with one bottle.

M'DONALD WINS AID OF ERSTWHILE FOE

Maxton Says Socialist-Labor Group Will Lend Support on Jobless Issue.

ACTION CAUSES SURPRISE

Llandudno, Wales, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—The Labor government, headed by Premier Ramsay MacDonald, presented a more strongly consolidated front to its enemies tonight as the result of developments in today's proceedings of the Labor party conference. James Maxton, extreme left wing leader and critic of the MacDonald administration, created the surprise of the day when he informed the premier that if he went to the country on the unemployment issue he would have the whole Socialist-Labor strength solidly behind him.

It had been popularly supposed that Maxton, frequently a severe critic of the MacDonald administration, had come here to further express his disapproval of Labor cabinet policies. Premier MacDonald was present and a speaker on today's program. Observers felt that Maxton would not let slip the opportunity to take a rap at the prime minister to his face. Instead, much to the surprise of all, Maxton remained, not to praise, but to strongly assure the Laborites of his sympathy with their attempts toward amelioration of business and employment conditions.

There had been no reason at yesterday's session to anticipate any such action on Maxton's part. The Independent Labor party, of which Maxton is the titular head, had scheduled a motion of censure of the MacDonald government and it had been felt that today's proceedings well might emphasize the breach between the left wing and the government.

When the reverse happened political wiseacres at once became busy seeking the whys and wherefores of this new shift in the situation. The most popular theory current was that Mr. MacDonald's action of yesterday in announcing, through Foreign Secretary Henderson, that repeal of the trade disputes act would be proceeded with immediately after the opening session was, in fact, a sop to the extremists.

Mr. MacDonald heretofore had been suspected of lukewarmness in pressing for a repeal of this measure, which was regarded by extremists and orthodox trade unionists alike as the most reactionary measure on the statute book. Political leaders tonight pointed out that the premier could in no way more effectively have united the left wing dissentients and the rank and file of his party than by lining up with them in pressing for repeal of this act.

Keys and Bullet Clews in Attack

Homicide Squad Searches City for Assailant of Louis Bush.

With a bunch of keys, four cartridges, and a bullet extracted from the wall of a nearby house, as their only clues members of the Homicide Squad of the local police department yesterday searched for the gunman who waylaid Louis Bush, prominent local financier, wounding him twice after a desperate hand-to-hand encounter.

The wounded man, who is in a critical condition at Emergency Hospital, told investigators that he had never before seen the man and could furnish but a meager description of him, because of the dim alley light at the rear of his home, 3534 Fulton street northwest. Mr. Bush was shot once through the abdomen and once through the arm after he apparently had the best of the encounter with the man who waylaid him.

Mr. Bush, who is 60 years old, last night was reported to be in a weakened condition and blood transfusions were being considered by his physicians.

Bridge Worker Killed By Concrete Conveyor

Arthur Kinsland, 32, of Clyde, N. C., was instantly killed Monday afternoon when a heavy concrete conveyor fell upon him at Little Hunting Creek, Va., where he was employed in constructing a bridge on the George Washington Memorial Boulevard.

Kinsland was beneath the bridge in a boat with a man named Hester when the conveyor fell, striking him in the head and sinking the boat. His body was recovered shortly afterward and was taken to Fairfax to await instructions from his wife, who lives in North Carolina. Dr. Ford Swetnam, of Fairfax, acting as coroner, issued a certificate of accidental death.

NIPPON NAVY TESTS ARMS PACT EFFECT

Maneuvers Will Also Find if Planes Can Replace Submarines.

EMPEROR TO COMMAND

Tokyo, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—To determine how far the limitations imposed by the London Naval Treaty have "crippled" Japan's sea defenses and to what extent more airplanes can take the place of 26,000 tons of submarines which that pact lopped off the Japanese naval program is the purpose of the 1930 grand maneuvers of the imperial navy.

To use the vague phrase of the navy ministry, this sham campaign will be fought in "the seas somewhere south of Japan," and when its critical stage is reached, between October 20 and 23, his imperial majesty, Emperor Hirohito, will be directing operations in person from aboard his flagship, the battle cruiser Kirishima.

In spite of hard times and its difficulties over revenue for next year's budget, the government has appropriated 4,000,000 yen ($2,000,000) for these war games.

70 Ships to Participate.

About 70 warships of the first line will participate. It is known that the defenders, the Blue Fleet under Vice Admiral Eisuke Yamamoto, with the superdreadnaught Mutsu as his flagship, will be based on Kure, the naval port in southwestern Hondo, and will steam out to meet the invading Red Fleet approaching from the south.

The main forces are scheduled to engage between October 20 and 23 south of Shikoku, probably in Tosa Bay. The "enemy" will be commanded by Vice Admiral Ryozo Nakamura, aboard the Nagato, sister of the Mutsu.

Preliminaries of the war games began today with units of the Blue fleet moving toward its concentration at Kure and the "enemy" ships shifting mysteriously in southern waters, as far down as Formosa. Until the emperor arrives the maneuvers will be under the direction of Admiral Naomi Taniguchi, new chief of the navy general staff.

Grand Review Planned.

Ships participating in the maneuvers will include four battleships, two battle cruisers besides the emperor's flagship, eight first-class cruisers, smaller cruisers, destroyers and submarines. Since aircraft is to play a leading role, nearly all naval aviation forces will be mobilized, including the three aircraft carriers, the Akagi, Kagi and Hosho, and hundreds of planes from the naval air bases at Kasumigaura, Oppama, Tateyama and Omura.

To be with his fleet the emperor will be absent from Tokyo from October 18, when he boards the Kirishima at Yokosuka naval base, until October 27. When the sham battle is finished October 23 he will transfer his imperial standard from the Kirishima to the 10,000-ton cruiser Haguro, newest unit of the fleet, and visit the Naval Academy at Etajima, the Annapolis of Japan, on October 24. The following day the Haguro will carry the sovereign to Kobe, off which port a grand naval review will be held in the presence of the emperor on October 26. More than 60,000 persons besides the participants are expected to witness this spectacle from aboard other craft in Oksaka Bay.

For the first time a description of the maneuvers will be broadcast over the National Radio System from aboard the imperial flagship.

Pilot, Two Passengers Die as Plane Explodes

Bryson City, N. C., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—A pilot and two passengers lost their lives in the explosion and crash of an airplane at Cherokee, 10 miles north of here, this afternoon. Several hundreds persons attending the Cherokee Indian Fair witnessed the tragedy. They said the plane caught fire in midair and then struck the ground, burning the three occupants to a crisp.

The victims were identified as Fred Ziehm, of Montgomery, Ala., the pilot; Robert Gibson and Vermont Sherrill, young unmarried man, of Ela, near Bryson City, N. C.

Rheumatism!

"I tried various treatments for Rheumatism without much relief. Then Mountain Valley Mineral Water brought much benefit and great improvement"—says a letter. Another says, "Mountain Valley Mineral Water without a doubt banished Rheumatism for me." And another, "The pains of Rheumatism are gone. Five weeks of Mountain Valley Mineral Water brought me relief." Take hope, Rheumatic sufferer—this famous mineral water from Hot Springs, Arkansas, should do for you what it has done for thousands of others. Physiologically balanced, its action is natural, scientific—it helps Nature to neutralize the irritating uric acid and by inducing elimination through the kidneys tends to prevent the accumulation of trouble-making toxins and waste products of digestion. Couple Asking $15,000, Citing Injuries in Fall

As the result of injuries alleged to have been received August 31, 1929, by Mrs. Elizabeth Lombardi, of 3323 Eleventh street northwest, she and her husband, Anthony Lombardi, filed suits yesterday in District Supreme Court, seeking to recover a total of $15,000 from Julius B. Gay, operator of a poultry and commission establishment, at 917 Louisiana avenue northwest.

Through Attorney P. J. J. Nicolaides, it is alleged that Mrs. Lombardi fell in front of Gay's establishment. Negligence on the part of Gay in not keeping the sidewalk free from rubbish, trash and other substances is alleged. Mrs. Lombardi wants $10,000 for personal injuries while the husband asks $5,000 for loss of her services and medical expenses.

Senator La Follette Will Aid Democrats

Madison, Wis., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Senator Robert M. La Follette, jr., of Wisconsin, a Republican, will campaign in behalf of Senator Thomas Walsh, Montana, and Edward Costigan, of Colorado, his office said today. Both are Democrats.

Senator La Follette now is in Rochester, Minn., but he is to return here this week and then will go West.

Newspaper Cash Boxes To Be Closely Watched

Extra precautions by police in all precincts yesterday were ordered by Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, to guard the contents of newspaper cash boxes on the streets.

The order was issued for the purpose of capturing a band of Negro youths riding in automobiles, who have been seen rifling the boxes. An early arrest is expected, it was said at police headquarters.

Grand Jury to Act On Cases of Four

Quartet Accused of Theft of Cigarettes From Drug Store.

Charged with housebreaking in connection with the alleged theft of cigarettes valued at $11.90 from a drug store at 5550 Connecticut avenue northwest, four young men were arraigned in Police Court yesterday and ordered held for grand jury action under bonds of $1,000.

The men, whose ages range from 22 to 25 years, are: Richard Cozzens, of Irving street northwest near Fourteenth street; Horace W. Trice, of Thirtieth street northeast near W street; Robert E. Coleman, of Twentieth street northwest near Ashmead place, and Robert R. Rattew, of Hyattsville, Md.

In addition Rattew was arraigned on a petty larceny charge in connection with the theft of automobile accessories from Rudolph & West, hardware merchants, and was held under $500 bond for jury trial.

$410 Robbery Reported.

How four strangers whom he met in a lunchroom robbed him of a $250 diamond ring, a check for $150 and $10 in cash was told police yesterday by Harold F. Nash, of Detroit, Mich. Nash said that he invited the men to his room in a downtown hotel where the robbery followed a drinking party.

McCormick Seat Denial Forecast

Independent Foe Says Vote for Republican Will Be Wasted.

Chicago, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Lottie Holman O'Neill, independent candidate for the United States Senate, told members of the City Club today that a vote for her Republican opponent, Ruth Hanna McCormick, would be a wasted vote, for Mrs. McCormick "unquestionably would be denied a seat in the Senate."

Mrs. O'Neill said the Senate had decided in the Newberry case that $195,000 was too much to spend for election to that body.

"Yet his (Newberry's) expenditures were scarcely more than half of what Mrs. McCormick is known to have spent," Mrs. O'Neill said. "Mrs. McCormick and her political allies realize there is little chance of her being seated, even if she were elected.

"Therefore I warn the citizens of Illinois that a vote cast for the Republican nominee is a wasted vote, and the State of Illinois should not have to apologize for the person it elects to the Senate. It is worthy of honest representation."

CHINA REBELS FLEE, NATIONALISTS CLAIM

Rebellion End Held Near as Chengchow Capture Is Reported.

U. S. BOAT RETURNS FIRE

Nanking, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—The Nationalist government asserted tonight its troops had driven Gen. Feng Yu-Hsiang and the majority of his 100,000 rebels across the Yellow River in Honan Province and that the end of six months of rebellion was in sight.

Chengchow, important rebel base, the Nationalist claimed, had fallen to President Chiang Kai-Shek after weeks of stubborn resistance westward of Chengchow. Other Nationalist forces were reported to have captured Honafu, causing northern alliance rebels to retreat from the Haichow-Tungkwan Railway.

While these claims could not be confirmed immediately, they were regarded as probably true, and a natural denouement of the collapse recently at Peking of the northern rebellion, when Manchurian troops took the city.

Yen Hsi-Shan fled then with his Shansi Province rebel troops, leaving his fellow leader, Feng Yu Hsiang, to hold the Nationalist troops fighting northward along the Yellow River.

It is uncertain whether the Manchurians will ally themselves with the Nationalist government at Nanking or attempt to extend their rule south to the Yellow River. They have been credited with both objects.

Feng Yu Hsiang, it is believed, will retire to the Shansi Province mountains and possibly emerge next spring in another of his rebellious movements.

Meanwhile Communist-bandit forces continue to harass foreign shipping in the middle section of the Yangtze River. The United States Gunboat Panay, fired upon today, replied with 3-inch and machine guns, stopping the outlaw fire.

Edge Visits Tardieu; Will Start Vacation

Paris, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—American Ambassador Walter E. Edge called on Premier Tardieu this evening for a discussion of all questions now pending between France and the United States before the ambassador's departure for the United States on his vacation.

Ambassador Edge also will see Foreign Minister Briand. It was said that no particular question received special attention at today's conversation.

Congress May Be Asked For Aid From Set Fires

Increased protection against pyromanacs will be asked of Congress by Fire Chief George S. Watson as a result of the recent discovery of two persons who have been responsible for a series of fires which cost thousands of dollars in damages and the life of at least one person.

Chief Watson said yesterday that he planned to ask Congress at its next session to provide for appointment of an expert photographer to the fire marshal's office. The chief believes that photographs of buildings and ruins of those which are burned will be of material help in detecting incendiary fires. Study is being given also to other measures for their detection, and additional appropriations may be asked for other new jobs.

Child, 2, Breaks Leg.

Two-year-old Herbert Davis suffered a fracture of the left leg yesterday afternoon in the home of his parents at 217 H street northeast when he fell to the floor from a bed on which he was playing. The child was treated at Casualty Hospital.

HALLAHAN, GROVE SLATED TO PITCH IN 6TH GAME TODAY; BLACK MAJESTY WINS CAPITAL STAKE IN STRETCH DUEL

Westbrook Pegler Says

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
Special to The Washington Post.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 7.—In the resumption of the world series in Philadelphia, the two ball clubs will be housed underground again, in the customary dugouts, where their sign language will not be visible to sensitive persons among the patronage. This will be well, because in the two games played in St. Louis, the players sat on benches in the open where their running-fire of opprobrious finger comment was plainly visible to all present.

It is strange but true, that of the two ball clubs Connie Mack's body of refined and exemplary young sportsmen indulged in expressions which were by far the more impolite, not to say shocking, and if the series had had any further to go under these conditions, his honor, K. M. Landis, the Will Hayes of the baseball industry, probably would have felt called upon to censor the conversation in the interests of the sport. The boys sitting on the bench with Mr. Mack were setting no very fine moral example to the little dirty-mouthed kids in the street, and the repartee was becoming so coarse that his honor might have felt called upon to handcuff them or put mittens on them to avoid a scandal.

Athletes Can Cover Remarks.

Sitting in dugouts, however, the athletes may continue to converse in the most insulting terms by hand without giving offense to any one except those for whom offense is intended, and the boys just now are guilty of the most offensive intentions. The Athletics' special train rolled along with a headway of about one mile or over the baseball writers' special on the trip from St. Louis to Philadelphia and, as the latter train, also known as the Hyena train, followed on, blushes were seen mantling the cheeks of the ladies and little children in the steel and coal settlements of Pennsylvania.

At Harrisburg the baseball writers' train momentarily overtook the Athletics in the train shed and there, on the back stoop of the ball players' observation car, Mr. Ed Rommell, the pensioned pitcher, who has only a conversational part in the world series, was seen agitating his fingers with great fluency, rehearsing a new speech to be addressed to Mr. Burleigh Grimes, who has borne the brunt of the insults so far. Mr. Rommell has been declaiming his oration as the train passed through the wide open spaces of Pennsylvania and it was noticed that the foliage of the trees was blackened and withered for miles along the right of way, although this may have been due to the fumes of the mills which adorn the countryside.

One Lady Aboard Hyena Train.

There was only one lady on board the "hyena train" and this one, when she caught the gist of Mr. Rommell's rehearsal, quickly pulled the shade of her compartment window, remarking, "If he means what I think he means, I am sure I don't understand him."

One lady is not enough ladies for a successful social program on a train which is otherwise stag, and the experts whiled away the night and also most of the day at an innocent diversion called craps. In this game two dice are used and the score is kept by means of money. The one who has the most money at the end of the contest is declared the winner. Your correspondent was eliminated quickly and painlessly in the qualifying round and put in the rest of the time peering ahead around the corners at the back porch of the Athletics' train which seemed to have locomotives fore and also aft. However, that which seemed to be the rear-end locomotive was not an engine, but merely Mr. Mose Grove, the melancholy left-hand pitcher who won two world series ball games, incinerating a large cigar which some fan had given him in St. Louis. Mr. Grove is not addicted to large cigars, but he is a ball player after all, and ball players can not be expected to turn down a free cigar.

Shanghied to World Series.

The lady on the Hyena train was a Philadelphia lady who chanced to meet a couple of Philadelphia gentlemen on the way to town from the Athletics' ball yard after the second game had been played there. One of the gentlemen remarked that he would like to go to St. Louis for the two games there and the other two said they also would like to go. One drink led to another, and presently it was agreed that they should hop aboard the first train out and go to St. Louis just as they were, and that the first one to back down should pay the expenses of the other two. The train they hopped aboard was the Experts Special, and, although it had been understood that the train would be stag, not only absolutely, but also positively, the committee decided not to throw the lady off. The lady and the two Philadelphia gentlemen all seemed to be pretty well heeled, and

Equals Track Mark at 6 Furlongs

The Heathen Defeated by Half Length in First Feature.

Tarpaulin Also Ties Track Record With Workman Up.

By J. B. SNODGRAS.
Special to The Washington Post.

LAUREL RACE TRACK, Oct. 7.—A crowd of 15,000 saw W. R. Coe's Black Majesty, 3-year-old brown son of Black Toney—Herodias, step 6 furlongs in 1:11 2-5 to win the twelfth renewal of the Capital Handicap and thus equal the track mark held jointly by Sally's Alley and Buddy Bauer.

R. Leischman broke Black Majesty on top, but he was soon joined by C. H. Pierce's The Heathen. They fought it out around the elbows and well into the home lane where it appeared as though Black Majesty crowded over on The Heathen.

The Heathen was forced to take up, but after coming to the outside closed gamely, but could not overhaul Black Majesty, who had taken a length and a half lead.

The Heathen Overhauling Black Majesty.

As Black Majesty raced under the imaginary wire, he was rapidly being overhauled by The Heathen. J. E. Widener's Mr. Spone was also a fast-closing third.

The victory enriched Owner Coe to the extent of $5,325, while those who wagered on his chances drew down $4.40 for every $2 invested.

H. Teller Archibald's Crystal Domino, 6-year-old son of Flittergold-Lady Clara, paying $6.10 ran off with the mile and one-sixteenth of the sixth.

Away fast, Crystal Domino was pinched off at the first turn, but went up fast on the back stretch to be on top at the far turn. Once on top, Crystal Domino easily drew away from his field to be home an easy winner over Cona More, with Coin Collector third.

T. J. O'Hara, jr.'s, Cyrano, paying $10.90, accounted for the mile and one-sixteenth race that opened the 23-day fall meeting.

Well up with the pace throughout, Cyrano went after his field turning for home to just last to win from John Robert, a field horse. Thistle Coot was third after coming from far back the last half.

Mrs. Walter M. Jefford's Grace Darling, 2-year-old chestnut daughter of Golden Broom—Lightship, ran five and one-half furlongs in 1:07 in the second to lead home eleven others of her own age.

Breens broke on top and led to the stretch turn. In the meantime, Bejshak was having trouble finding clear sailing with Grace Darling, but, once straightened out in the home stretch, she easily drew away from her field to win handily from Phantasime and Greens.

C. Hazelton's Vowed Vengeance, 5-year-old chestnut gelded son of Honey Wood—Rose Marion, stepped a mile and one-sixteenth in 1:47 1-5 to account for the third.

Vowed Vengeance Leads All The Way.

J. W. Wallace broke the gelding on top and he made every post a winning one to just last to win by a nose from Wandering Gold, who was a similar distance in front of Brown Maid, the favorite.

The Rock Creek, a five and one-half furlong sprint, saw the Nevada Stock Farm's Tarpaulin under a powerful ride by Sonny Workman equal the track record of 1:05 4-5 established by Kilkenny Boy on October 31, 1914.

Workman, ever alert at the gate, rushed the 2-year-old bay son of Supremus-Washoe Belle out of the stall gates ahead of the field of eight.

Tarpaulin hot-footed it to the far turn and continued to burn oil around the elbows into the home lane. At the eighth pole, Mac Garner brought J. E. Widener's Priory up very

"A" Heads to Confer On Draft Question

Chicago, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Representatives of the three class A leagues will hold a conference in Cleveland either Thursday or Friday in advance of the major league meeting to consider their policy in the draft question.

The majors have asked the three leagues, the International, Pacific Coast and American Association, to meet with them in Cleveland two days after the final world series game to thresh out the draft problem.

"We intend to go over the question among ourselves a day before conferring with the majors," President Thomas J. Hickey, of the American Association, said.

RED SOX END DEAL WITH M'CARTHY

Ex-Cub Leader Wants Ready-Made Club, Says Quinn.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Robert Quinn, president of the Boston American League Baseball Team, announced tonight that he had called off all negotiations with Joe McCarthy, recently deposed manager of the Chicago Cubs, to manage the Boston Red Sox and that under no circumstances would the Red Sox consider him as manager.

"After conferring with McCarthy for more than an hour," Quinn said, "and finishing up by making him the most generous proposition ever made to any one connected with the game of baseball, I am satisfied I have done everything humanly possible to secure his services.

Wanted Ready-Made Club, Says Quinn.

"During the course of our conversation, he impressed me with the fact that he preferred to handle a ready-made ball club that requires little or no managing, to one that needed attention. So, after several days serious consideration, I have come to the conclusion that it would be a mistake to let McCarthy 'shop around' and then come to the Red Sox if he could not land elsewhere.

"Therefore, under no circumstances, will the Boston Red Sox further consider McCarthy as manager."

Honors in National Voted to Hack Wilson

Philadelphia, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Lewis R. (Hack) Wilson, pudgy outfielder of the Chicago Cubs who smashed all National League home-run records this year besides dethroning Babe Ruth as the major league circuit-clouting champion, was proclaimed tonight his league's most valuable player, by vote of a committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The selection was unofficial, inasmuch as the National League last year abandoned its annual custom of picking the most valuable performer and rewarding him with $1,000. Wilson won distinction, for the first time, after a close contest with Frankie Frisch, captain of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Bill Terry, first sacker of the New York Giants and the National League batting king. Wilson received 70 votes out of a possible maximum of 80. Frisch received 64 and Terry 58. No others were close.

Hack Wilson, Chicago, 70; Frank Frisch, St. Louis, 64; Bill Terry, New York, 58; Babe Herman, Brooklyn, 35; Chuck Klein, Phillies, 33; Kiki Cuyler, Chicago, 27; Glenn Wright, Brooklyn, 27; Fred Lindstrom, New York, 17; Paul Waner, Pittsburgh, 14; Elwood English, Chicago, 13; Al Lopez, Brooklyn, 12; Gabby Hartnett, Chicago, 10; Burleigh Grimes, St. Louis, 9; Rabbit Maranville, Boston, 9; Walter Berger, Boston, 8; Travis Jackson, New York, 7; Gus Mancuso, St. Louis, 6; Pat Malone, Chicago, 6; Taylor Douthit, St. Louis, 4; Pie Traynor, Pittsburgh, 3; Charley Gelbert, St. Louis, 2; George Grantham, Pittsburgh, 2; Ray Kremer, Pittsburgh, 2; Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn, 1; Harry Heilmann, Cincinnati, 1.

Danae's Soccer Team Performs Again Today

In the second and last game of their abbreviated series, the British United Soccer Club will meet the representatives of H. M. S. Danae on Monument Lot, No. 2, this afternoon. The engagement is scheduled to start at 4:15 o'clock.

An interesting battle is expected, as the Uniteds will be out to avenge last Sunday's 3-to-2 trouncing at the hands of their guests. It will be their final opportunity to do so, for the Danes players will be on board their ship tomorrow when it leaves the Washington Navy Yard, where it has been berthed for the past few days.

In Mason, at goal, and Evans, Harris and Richardson, forwards, the visiting club boasts four of the best soccerists who have ever performed on a District field.

Holt, Georgia U. Grid Star, Joins Benedicts

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—The marriage on August 28 of Fred Holt, varsity tackle for the Georgia Varsity Team, and Miss Lucy Williams, a student nurse, became known today with dismissal of Mrs. Holt from the hospital where she was in training.

The couple met last year when Miss Williams nursed the football player for injuries. She had entered training at Davis Fisher Sanitarium, which prohibits married women from training for nurses.

FRIENDSHIPS IN PRACTICE.

Coaches Eggleston and Jordan, of the Friendship A. C. unlimited team, have carded practice for their players tonight at the Virginia Avenue Playgrounds. The session will start at 7 o'clock. All Friendships are asked to report in uniform for another drill tomorrow night at the same hour and place.

Carnera Beaten on Decision By Maloney in Boston Bout

BOSTON, Oct. 7 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Primo Carnera, the ambling Alp of Italy, fought one battle in this country that was not in the bag for him to win when the decision was given against him at the end of ten rounds of hard fighting in favor of Jim Maloney in the Boston Garden here tonight. The judges were W. J. McDermott and William McEnenimen, and the referee was Johnny Brassle, all of Boston or there about.

The decision was quite popular with the rather disappointing crowd of 12,000 people, probably because it was so unexpected.

Outside of Carnera's own coterie of friends, including his managers and seconds, everybody in the house wanted to see Maloney win. As the battle progressed they were eager to see him stay the limit.

Jimmy put up a real game battle and although 2 per cent of the time he was beating a retreat from the onslaught of his gigantic opponent, there never was a time that he refused to swap punches with his larger opponent.

Maloney Spectacular With Punches.

Maloney landed the more spectacular punches, and although these had not the slightest apparent effect on his enormous opponent, they drew delighted cheers from the assembled multitude and probably swayed the officials in arriving at their decision.

Second Utah Gridman Dead From Injuries

Delta, Utah, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—The death yesterday of Joseph M. Howell, jr., 18, was the second among Utah High School football players this season.

Howell died of pneumonia, which followed the fracturing of two ribs in football practice a week ago. Orvil Henrie, 18, Ferron, died of a fractured skull suffered in a game Friday.

Breviers Make Sweep As Post Pinmen Open

The Washington Post Bowling League inaugurated its 1930-31 campaign yesterday afternoon on the Lucky Strike alleys when the Breviers took three straight matches from the Picas, the Pearls copped two out of three from the Agates, the Ionics bowed twice to the Minions and the Diamonds registered a double victory over the Rubys.

The Breviers hung up the highest total for the afternoon's play, Brandt, Finnell, Musser, Loveday and G. Bergling crashing the maples for a high set of 1,446 in their match with the Picas. Clark, of the Minions, had the highest individual set. His score of 330 pins for three games was one more than Sherwood, of the Pearls, could roll.

N. Y. Ring Body Bans Suarez for 60 Days

New York, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Justo Suarez, Argentine lightweight, today was suspended for 60 days by the New York State Athletic Commission. The New York Boxing Board acted on the suggestion of Referee Eddie Forbes, who said he warned Suarez three times for hitting low in his bout with Ray Miller at Madison Square Garden last Friday night. Suarez won the fight on points.

U. S. Mermaid Returns From Foreign Meets

New York, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Nineteen-year-old Stella Walsh, of Cleveland, who works for the New York Central Railroad when she isn't breaking world athletic records for her sex, came home today on the Majestic from the women's international games.

She won the 60, 100 and 200 meter races in the women's games, and subsequently competed in a meet between Polish, Japanese and French women athletes and defeated all her opponents.

As the Majestic docked, Stella announced that she would become an American citizen two years from now, when she's 21. Her real name is Stanislawa Walasiewics, and she was born abroad, coming to the United States with her parents when she was a baby.

A delegation of employes of the railroad, headed by Maj. William Kennelly, president of the New York Athletic Association, met Miss Walsh at the pier. She planned to go to Cleveland immediately.

Old Type Golf Ball Being Replaced by New

New York, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—The Association of Golf Ball Manufacturers discontinued manufacture of the present type of golf ball on October 1, and all balls now being produced are of the new and larger type that becomes the standard ball on January 1, 1931, it was announced today.

Prescott S. Bush, secretary of the United States Golf Association, added that no further changes in specifications are contemplated, the new ball having proved most satisfactory.

Cards Earn Respect of Rooters

Quaker City Taking Series Seriously as Ends Nears.

"Good-by St. Louis" Chanted in Ears of Players.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Staid old Philadelphia, suddenly aware that the closing act of a highly dramatic world series is to be staged upon her doorstep went slightly baseball batty today.

Pride in the hammering Athletics of Connie Mack, surprise in the gallant comeback of the St. Louis Cardinals, mingled to stir up in the faithful the excitement that was so obviously lacking when the American League champions swept the opening two games of the annual classic here. The rally of the Cards that captured two of the three battles in St. Louis has set the whole town to scrambling for a chance to be in at the death when the sixth game starts at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon in Shibe Park.

The baseball bugs of William Penn's colony had no idea that the mighty sluggers of Mack would ever be back to wind up the series in their own backyard after belting the National League title holders around in the first two matches here. They saw the Cardinal aces, Burleigh Grimes and Flint Rhem, go down under the clouting of the boyish Jimmy Foxx, smiling Al Simmons and the fighting Mickey Cochrane, saw Lefty Grove and big George Earnshaw dominate the pitching situation and concluded, as they had thought all along, that there was not enough opposition in the thing to really get excited about.

Fans Expect Seventh Game.

There seemed to be considerable feeling among the fans in the street that a seventh game will be necessary if Bill Hallahan, already nominated to do the hurling for the Cardinals, pitches anywhere close to his shutout performance against the A's last Saturday. The general impression is that Lefty Grove will be on the hill for the Athletics again tomorrow.

Grove captured the opener, lost to Haines in a tight duel Sunday, and came back to hold the Cards safe after Earnshaw retired for a pinch hitter in the eighth yesterday. The general belief is that Mack will hold Earnshaw in reserve for the final battle Thursday if Lefty fails tomorrow.

Gabby Street, manager of the Cards, was full of pep and ginger as he marshaled his cohorts around the town.

"We're far from licked," he insisted. "We're one game behind but that don't matter. We're better off than the A's are for pitchers. We'll be right back at them tomorrow with Hallahan pitching and he'll win."

Burleigh Grimes, aching for another chance to get at the A's, replayed the series in the hotel lobby for a group of the interested, and hoped that he would be selected to pitch the seventh game if the cards win tomorrow. Jess Haines, however, seems to be Gabby Street's reserve man with Grimes held for relief duty.

Grimes Foresees Victory Today.

"We'll win in there tomorrow," Burleigh announced, "because the head of our batting order is due to do some hitting. Grove and Earnshaw haven't been striking us out so much. We've been getting a piece of the ball most of the time. Tomorrow we'll begin to get it all. I wouldn't be surprised to see both teams hit and turn in one of those 12-to-10 things."

But the Cardinals, grim and determined, rolled back into Philadelphia early this afternoon, trailing two games to three in the series count, faced with the problem of winning tomorrow or joining in defeat the two National League champions in a row before them, the Cardinals of 1928 and the Cubs of 1929. There was nothing of the beaten about them as they jostled about gaily in the railroad station, threw their bags into a line of taxicabs and wheeled away to their hotel under escort of motorcycle police.

A crowd of several hundred formed in the station to point out Bill Hallahan, the quiet southpaw, who plastered a shutout on the A's in the first game at St. Louis Saturday; Jess Haines, the knuckler, who baffled the Mackmen Sunday, and Grimes, scrappy courageous, fighting foeman, Macks Need One Victory to Clinch Title; Cards Confident.

Veteran Manager Is Unlikely to Gamble on Pitchers.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—As advertised, the well-known fast-ball firm of Grove, Earnshaw, Earnshaw & Grove has been given the contract to pitch the Philadelphia Athletics to their second straight world's championship at the expense of the highly persistent and still very dangerous Cardinals, of St. Louis.

Connie Mack, insofar as he ever commits himself before any game, intimated as much upon arrival today to share with his men a noisy reception from a crowd of rooters, with a band, at North Philadelphia Station at 5:45 p. m.

They will resume business at the old home stand, Shibe Park, tomorrow afternoon in the sixth game of the contest for major league baseball

Rain at Philadelphia Predicted for Today

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 7 (A.P.). The prospect of the sixth world series game between the Athletics and Cardinals was none too promising tonight. The weather man predicted increasing cloudiness for tomorrow, probably followed by rain, in the afternoon or evening.

laurels and personal dividends that mean over $5,000 to the winner as against around $3,300 to the loser.

All of the warring forces, including the somewhat exhausted correspondents, came back to the Eastern battle front today, with the Athletics holding the lead, three games to two, after a desperate fight to take the last of three torrid engagements on the Western front.

Macks Need One Game.

The Mackmen, therefore, need only one more game to settle the issue, and the probability is that the order of operators by the pitching firm will be Big George Earnshaw, as the starter, and Robert Moses Grove, as relief man, if necessary. In this order they proved thoroughly effective yesterday in blanking the Cardinals in a thrilling game decided by Foxx's ninth-inning homer, and they will be shot right at the Red Birds, unless Mack undergoes a sudden change of mind and heart.

The Cardinals, knowing they must win to prolong the series to its limit of seven games, will rely on their able young southpaw, Bill Hallahan, who shut out the Athletics in the third game at St. Louis and inaugurated the come-back of the Red Birds.

The prospects are for a continuation of the spectacular battle of pitching wits and strong arms, by far the greatest succession of twirling performances in a decade of world's series competition.

Before it started, the prediction was that the sage of the House of Mack would be obliged to put virtually the entire pitching burden for the A's upon his right and left handed aces, Earnshaw and Grove. Subsequent events have thoroughly justified this forecast.

Mack Gambled Once And Lost.

Grove won the first game, Earnshaw the second, and they combined to capture the crucial fifth contest after three of the lesser Mackian lights had been pounded in the third game and after Grove had lost a close fight to old Jesse Joseph Haines in the fourth. Having gambled once with his boxmen and lost, Connie Mack is not likely to take any further chances, especially with both Earn-

Nats Draw $837.27 As Baseball Share

Usually any communications received from Commissioner of Baseball Kenesaw Mountain Landis by players contain nothing but bad news. However, the Nats, for once in their lives, are eagerly looking forward to hearing from the diamond czar, for they will get checks from him shortly after the Macks and Cardinals complete the title set.

As second place finishers in the league, the Washington players' share of the world series melon is $24,289.99. At a meeting of the Nats before they ended their schedule, it was decided to split this total 29 ways, making a full share net $837.27. Full shares were voted to all of the players except Catcher Pinky Hargrave, Pitcher Carl Fisher and First Baseman Joe Kuhel, and to Coaches Ed Gharrity, Nick Altrock and Al Schacht, Trainer Mike Martin and Secretary Edward B. Eynon, jr.

Hargrave draws nothing because he only recently joined the club, while Fischer and Kuhel will divide a share, each getting $418.63. Of the other share, Assistant Trainer and General Handy Man Frank Riley Baxter will get three-fourths ($627.95), with the remaining quarter ($309.31) going to Groundkeeper Emil Haeseman.

fast and Workman had to furnish his best brand of riding to get the ultimate winner home ahead of Priory. The latter was in tight quarters for a half, but closed fastest of all when clear.

E. R. Bradley's Blind Bowboy, who forced Tarpaulin to set a dizzy pace for a half, tired badly through the stretch but easily saved third money from H. Teller Archibald's Dark Hero.

The Le Mar Stock Farm's Make Believe responded to strong urging in the late stages to defeat Cogwheel in the seventh race of one and one-eighth miles for 3-year-olds and upward. The winner paid $12.80 on each $2 mutuel ticket invested on his chances.

Make Believe in Contention From the Start.

Jockey Adams took Make Believe into the contention from the start and rode him into the lead leaving the back stretch. Make Believe continued with fine courage and then held up in a grueling stretch drive with Cogwheel, which closed a margin of one-half length to a head at the finish. Cogwheel held the lead early but was displaced.

Frances St. L. took third place, being prominent in the race throughout. Bounding Deep, the favorite, was never better than fourth in which position he finished. Standard Bearer showed early sped but weakened.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CYRANO, $10.90, $6.60, $3.10; JOHN ROBERT, $19.90, $7.50; THISTLE COOT, $3.30.

CYRANO, steadied along in near pursuit of the leaders, responded courageously and, finishing stoutly, was up in the last strides. JOHN ROBERT circled his field and finished with a splendid effort nearing the end. THISTLE COOT appeared to hang during the last furlong. BILLIE N. was making up ground steadily. SEA RIP stopped badly the last quarter mile. SOMETIME had no mishaps.

CYRANO'S NOSE DECIDES WINNER IN OPENING EVENT.

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,300. For maiden 2-year-old fillies. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 2:20. Off at 2:23. Winner, Mrs. W. M. Jeffords' ch. f. (2), by Golden Broom—Lightship. Trained by S. P. Harlan. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48, 1:07.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GRACE DARLING, $6.10, $3.30, $2.70; PHANTASIME, $3.10, $2.30; GREENS, $4.10.

GRACE DARLING, going along in green fashion, but racing in good form, reached the leaders steadily, was stoutly urged the last furlong, wore her opposition down and slowly drew clear. PHANTASIME made a determined effort at the stretch turn, but was not good enough after gaining command. GREENS faltered the last furlong. BANAL GIRL came with belated speed. NERVA went well. SCOTCH BESS showed a good test. HIGHLAND BELLE could not keep pace.

GRACE DARLING LOOKS SWEET TO BACKERS IN SECOND.

THIRD RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:56. Off at 2:56. Winner, C. E. Two-dollar mutuels paid—VOWED VENGEANCE, $19.50, $10.80, $5.00; WANDERING GOLD, $7.40, $3.90; BROWN MAID, $2.70.

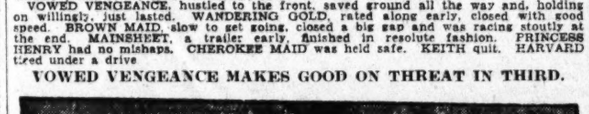
VOWED VENGEANCE, hustled to the front, saved ground all the way and, holding on willingly, just lasted. WANDERING GOLD, rated along early, closed with good speed. BROWN MAID, slow to get going, closed a big gap and was racing stoutly at the end. MAINSHEET, a trailer early, finished in resolute fashion. PRINCESS HENRY had no mishaps. CHEROKEE MAID was held safe. KEITH quit. HARVARD tired under a drive.

VOWED VENGEANCE MAKES GOOD ON THREAT IN THIRD.



FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,300; allowances. For 2-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:25. Off at 3:27. Winner, Nevada Stock Farm's b. c. (2), by Supremus—Washoe Belle. Trained by R. F. Carman, jr. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:23, 0:47 2-5, 1:05 4-5. (Equals track record).

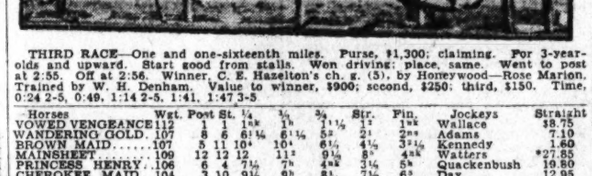
Two-dollar mutuels paid—TARPAULIN, $6.60, $3.50, $2.90; PRIORY, $8.60, $9.20; BLIND BOWBOY, $4.60.

TARPAULIN, displaying keen speed, saved ground for the entire trip, responded when shaken up and resisted PRIORY. Latter, hard ridden from the start, came with a good energy in the final drive. BLIND BOWBOY offered good early contention and held on well. DARK HERO, outrun early, passed tiring horses. LADDER faltered fast after a half mile. GREAT GUN and the others were held safe.

TARPAULIN COVERS FIELD LIKE TENT IN FOURTH.



FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $5,000 added. Capital Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:56. Off at 3:58. Winner, W. R. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BLACK MAJESTY, $4.40, $2.40, $2.10; THE HEATHEN, $3.00, $2.30; MR. SPONGE, $2.50.

BLACK MAJESTY, breaking fast, carried THE HEATHEN along at a rapid pace from the start. Leishman took a steadying hold on BLACK MAJESTY rounding far turn and latter responded with a good effort when called on in home stretch. THE HEATHEN finished gamer than usual and came again last hundred yards. MR. SPONGE, outrun first half mile, finished with a good burst of speed and was gaining on the leaders at every stride. BALKO evidently has gone back.

BLACK MAJESTY BANISHES THE HEATHEN IN FEATURE.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won cleverly; place, easily. Went to post at 4:26. Off at 4:31. Winner, H. T. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CRYSTAL DOMINO, $6.10, $3.40, $2.60; CON AMORE, $4.30, $2.70; COIN COLLECTOR, $2.60.

CRYSTAL DOMINO moved into contention with a rush when settled on the back stretch, secured command when approaching the far turn, saved ground thereafter and held CON AMORE safe. Latter, going forwardly throughout, made repeated efforts, but was not good enough. COIN COLLECTOR was rated along and held on well in the final drive. VACATION was unable to reach the leaders. BIDE A WEE and FAIR BETH were held safe.

COGWHEEL ROLLS HOME SECOND IN DAY'S FINALE.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:03. Off at 5:07. Winner, Le Mar Stock Farm's b. g. (3), by Omar Khayyam—Red Riding Hood. Trained by M. Lowenstein. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:24, 0:49 1-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:40 3-5, 1:54.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MAKE BELIEVE, $12.80, $5.90, $4.40; COGWHEEL, $4.30, $3.50; FRANCES ST. L., $6.90.

MAKE BELIEVE, going in contention from the start, gained the lead when leaving the back stretch, continued with good courage when placed to severe urging and managed to outlast COGWHEEL. Latter, rated along, came again after being displaced. FRANCES ST. L. held on well after being prominent. BOUNDING DEEP was held safe. STANDARD BEARER weakened. FIRE OPAL had no speed.

LAUREL NOTES

Special to The Washington Post.

LAUREL RACE TRACK, Oct. 7.—Ferd Hayward, secretary of the Maryland Racing Commission, was on the job early taking applications for trainers and jockeys' licenses.

Big Jim Healy brought C. Bostwick's Mate, winner of the Breeders' Futurity, down from New York. Owner Bostwick also put in his appearance and was seen with his good friend, Col. Bradley, on the clubhouse lawn.

R. E. Potts, who has Butter John, Korax, Lieut. II and three others here, will winter his string at Pimlico.

Donald Mergler has signed a contract with the Walter M. Jeffords Stable. He will spend the winter at the Jeffords Farm at Berlin, Md., and hopes to make the 1931 season his best since he took to riding.

Jesse Bennet, custodian of the jockeys' room, reports he has 90 riders on the grounds. Among the lads who will ride here, who were not seen in action at Havre de Grace, are: R. Holt, J. Passero, F. Smock, E. Smith, Nick Huff, F. Slate, J. Moore, S. Stretton and N. Godfrey.

James Butler, majority stockholder in this track, and Edward Riley Bradley, master of the Idle Hour Farm of Kentucky, came down from New York for the opening. It was "One Two Ed" Bradley's first visit to a Maryland track since his illness, and every one hereabouts was glad to see him looking so well.

H. G. Bedwell, who operates the Yarrow Brae Stud near here, is shipping 20 horses from Long Branch tomorrow. They are due Friday. Jockeys W. Cannon and L. Wells are accompanying the stable.

Trainer T. H. Healey shipped Flimsy, Crazy Coot, Angry, Hat Broom, and Halcyon, belonging to Harry Payne Whitney, from New York to this course last night. Healey now has eleven of Whitney's horses in training here.

Willie Travers was an arrival from New York and will remain throughout the fall racing in this State.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

LAUREL PARK RACE TRACK, Oct. 7.—An evenly balanced field of 3-year-olds and upward will meet over the 1-mile course in the Severn Purse, which will be the best attraction of the second day's racing here tomorrow.

Tryng to locate the winner of the Severn is going to be no easy task, but should the Geneseo Stable's LUGGAGE repeat the race he ran at Havre de Grace when he licked Voltear, Cesare, Golden Auburn and others he may do it.

LUGGAGE raced a mile and a sixteenth in 1:45 3-5 the day he won. The same day and in the following race William Ziegler Jr.'s Spinach raced a mile and a sixteenth in exactly the same time to win the Potomac Handicap. W. R. Coe's NILE MAIDEN, after her graduation race at Havre de Grace, came back and was beaten but a length by the good and consistent Her Grace. Like her mother, Cleopatra, NILE MAIDEN seems to favor a long route. She will be going but a mile in the Severn. SYRIAC won two straight at Havre de Grace. He begins very slowly and the mile may not be far enough for him

WEST VA. WESLEYANS G. U. FOES FRIDAY NIGHT

Georgetown Must Stop Battles

Big Back of Wesleyans a Finished Football Product.

Hilltoppers Hard at Work for Night Debut Here.

ONE of the best backs that has stepped on a Capital gridiron in several years will be seen Friday night in Griffith Stadium when West Virginia Wesleyan, from Buckhannon, W. Va., meets Georgetown in the first night game ever scheduled here.

This finished piece of football product is Clifford ("Gyp") Battles, of Akron, Ohio. He will wear No. 61 on the back of his jersey and very likely will have the eyes of the crowd following his every movement following the opening whistle.

Bobcat Flash Lives Up To His Name.

Battles stands 6 feet 1 inch and weighs 185 pounds. He is a perfect physical specimens. He plays left half back and executes his work on both offense and defense in flawless fashion.

The Bobcat flash can do anything that might be asked of a back. He can kick, run and pass, he can block and he can tackle, and he has the stamina to withstand the most rigorous action.

It was Battles who kept Georgetown worried last year and it was Battles last Saturday who scored Wesleyan's lone touchdown against New York University. The Akron ace picked his way through an opening in the left side of the New York University line and outdistanced the secondary defense in a romp of 66 yards.

As Georgetown drilled last week to stop Malloy, the star of Loyola, so it drills this week with Battles in mind. The Hilltoppers are well aware that "Gyp" must be stopped, just as they halted Malloy in order to win.

Battles will have capable support in the Wesleyan back field. Art Bachtel, quarter back, was in the Georgetown-Wesleyan game last fall. Tom Blondin, right half back, and Paul Beveridge, full back, are promising newcomers to the Bobcat regular array. The quartet will average 181 pounds to the man.

G. U. to Drill Under Arcs Tonight.

Tonight Georgetown will practice under the lights which received their first trial last night and were pronounced satisfactory. The illumination is shed from 68 1,500-watt lamps which are mounted in 34 reflectors. There are 14 reflectors on the south side of the field and 20 on the north.

Wesleyan will get its first taste of night football in this game, as it does not plan to arrive here until Friday morning and has never even practiced under lights. Georgetown had its night football baptism last Friday in the Loyola game at Chicago.

Bobcats Handicapped By Big List of Casuals

Special to The Washington Post.

Buckhannon, W. Va., Oct. 7.—Coach Cebe Ross gave the West Virginia Wesleyan Football Squad a light drill here this afternoon and then spent a major portion of the time in the training room assisting Trainer Bennett in getting the casualty list back into shape again. There will be no rough work for the Bobcats as they prepare for Georgetown University at Washington, D. C., on Friday night in the initial nocturnal engagement for the Methodists.

The Wesleyan squad has been suffering from an injury complex for well over three weeks, and the list grows with each succeeding game. Co-Capt. Watson, Beveridge, Biondin, Art Bachtel, Siandru, Snyder, Rhodes, Co-Capt. Spatafore and Hagerdon are all suffering from hurts, with the first-named likely out for the rest of the season.

There is probably more doubt in the mind of Coach Ross at this minute as to the starting elevens than before the 1930 campaign got under way. Battles and Edmundson are the only regulars that appear certain of being at their positions when the whistle blows for first night attraction.

A'S ROOTERS TAKING SERIES SERIOUSLY

who went down yesterday to a 2 to 0 defeat when Foxx belted him for a home run with Mickey Cochrane on base in the ninth. There was respect for these Western warriors in the attentiveness of the faithful, and the hoots and cat calls from the fringe of the crowd attested, at least, the fact that the rabid ones still consider them dangerous.

Philly Takes Series Seriously.

"Good-by, St. Louis," one group sing-songed over and over again as the players bundled into their cabs. The athletes stared at them icily. It was a display that proved at least that Philadelphia finally is taking the series seriously.

With the Cardinals berthed for the afternoon in movies or about the hotel lobby, thinking, talking, acting out of baseball, and the Athletics just arrived in their special train from St. Louis, the city itself went back to talking baseball and figuring ways and means of getting into the Shibe Park tomorrow.

The 30,000 reserved seats in the park have been sold, but speculators have enough of the pasteboards to make the hunt interesting. Prices tonight were rising steadily with single seats for the sixth fray, selling readily at $15 apiece and up. If a seventh and final game is needed to decide the issue, all tickets for the last game will be placed on sale at the gates of the ball yard Thursday at 11:30 a. m.

HARD DRILLS ON TAP AT VIRGINIA

'Forget Duke Game,' Says Coach, Pointing for Penn.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Oct. 7.—Virginia's varsity hopes by its play against Pennsylvania on Franklin Field next Saturday to partly atone for its poor performance in the Duke game last week, Earl Abell, Cavalier head coach, spent an hour yesterday pointing out to his men the mistakes they made in Durham. Then he told them to forget the Duke game. He is keeping them pointed to the future and to the Pennsylvania, V. M. I., and Kentucky games in particular.

Much fundamental drill has occupied the Virginians on the last two afternoons. The practices have been long and strenuous and have wound up with scrimmage between A, B, and C teams. Scrimmage against the first-year team is scheduled for tomorrow.

The Cavalier regulars have not tried their strength against the new men, and the coaches think that a spirited workout against the crowd of big youngsters drilling on Lefevre Field will help get them in shape to face Pennsylvania.

Thursday's drill will be the last one at home before the game with the Quakers. The Virginia squad will leave for Philadelphia Thursday night and will have a brief session for the purpose of limbering up on Franklin Field some time Friday.

Aside from the usual crop of bruises and strains, the Cavaliers came out of the Duke game in good physical trim. They started off the week in a sort of mental slump, but one afternoon at work was enough to restore their sunken spirits.

Pennsylvania has, they know, a great team in the making. Because they know the Quakers will be worthy of their best efforts, the Cavaliers hope to do things Saturday that will make the Virginia supporters forget all about what they failed to do against Duke.

Western Maryland Drills for St. John's

Westminster, Md., Oct. 7.—Dick Harlow sent the Western Maryland Green Terrors through a stiff scrimmage here today which lasted two hours. This made the second hard workout this week for the Terrors, who betrayed several weaknesses in their opening game with University of Baltimore last week.

"The real power of the team is just as much a mystery to me as it was before the Baltimore game," Harlow stated this afternoon. "We made far from a satisfactory appearance last Friday night, and I'm taking nothing for granted as far as St. John's is concerned. One thing is certain," he added, "St. John's will not be the same opponent that we met last year in the stadium.

"After their showing against Franklin and Marshall and V. M. I., we know that we're going to have a really tough foootball game on our hands."

Duke Preps for Battle From Davidson Eleven

Special to The Washington Post.

Durham, N. C., Oct. 7.—Realizing the opposition their team is facing in Davidson Saturday, the Duke coaches will use the freshmen team this week as the opposing scrimmage team. The freshmen, under Caldwell and Hagler, Wade's assistants from Alabama, will use a different system and run Davidson plays. The freshmen's work for the past two weeks has been composed chiefly of blocking and tackling.

Duke takes the Davidson game as one of the hardest on its schedule. The onslaught that the Duke team opened against Virginia left the students as much aghast as it did the fans in the State. Students were expecting a close score, but not an overwhelming victory for Duke.

Two-Hour Scrimmage For Navy Grid Squad

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—A two-hour offensive scrimmage session against Notre Dame defensive formations was given the Navy Football Team today by Coach Bill Ingraham, and he was rewarded with a slight injury to one of his best backs.

Lou Kirn, the late season find of last year, sustained a wrenched knee, which took him off the field to the doctor, in hopes it may be mended for the clash with Notre Dame at South Bend Saturday. The Navy first string did not show any consistent power in its offense against the scrubs using Rockne defense.

MACKS MAY END TITLE RACE TODAY

shaw and Grove strong and willing enough to shoulder all of the remaining box work.

Earnshaw started two successive games in the last world's series, with a day in between, so there is a precedent for his nomiantion to start again tomorrow. Grove repeatedly has demonstrated his ability to work, either as a starter or relief man, with a minimum of rest.

The Cardinals, although the odds are against them once more, believe they have another comeback in their systems, especially with their two previously victorious pitchers, Bill Hallahan and Jesse Haines, prepared for further duty. These two are not as sturdy, on the records, as their brilliant rivals, but they have been good enough so far to justify the Cardinal hopes of prolonging the battle. In winning the two straight games that put the Red Birds back on even terms last Saturday and Sunday, Hallahan and Haines held the slugging Athletics to exactly eleven hits and one run in eighteen inings.

Grimes Would Work In Seventh Game.

Hallahan and Haines have had as much to do with the striking of batting averages in the current series as Grove and Earnshaw. Even Burleigh Grimes twice the victim of Atheletic bats in hard-fought games, has pitched well enough to have won a majority of times. In some quarters the belief is, in fact, that Grimes, being stronger than Haines, will be selected to pitch for the Cardinals if the seventh contest is played, but Haines is the more logical choice, all things considered.

Al Simmons and Jimmy Foxx, with some timely aid early in the series by Mickey Cochrane, have hit up to their season's averages so far, but as a whole the team mark of the Athletics —.181 in five games—is far below their American League figure of .294. Similarly, the clouting of the Cardinals have skidded from a season's hitting figure of .314 to a series mark of only .206.

Jimmy Wilson, spark plug catcher of the Cards, and Charley Gelbert, shortstop, whose all-around play has been a sensation, are hitting well above their normal marks, but the rest of the Red Birds, especially Bottomley, Hafey and Frisch, have fallen far below their usual hitting standards.

The most extended world's series battle in four years will result in the gate receipts nearing the $1,000,000 mark by the time the returns for the sixth game tomorrow are tabulated. They exceeded $800,000 for the first five games and upward of $150,800 will be collected if Shibe Park is filled to its capacity of nearly 33,000 again. A seventh game would send the "gate" over the $1,000,000 mark for the first time since 1926.

3 Other D. C. Women Survive First Round in Baltimore.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 7.—Mrs. J. M. Haynes, the Columbia Country Club star and the only Washington entrant in the first flight, was victorious today in the first round of match play in the Middle Atlantic Golf Association tournament for women at the Elkridge Hunt Club.

The steady playing of Mrs. Haynes proved too Much for Miss Katherine Baum, of the host club, and the former emerged with a 5 and 4 triumph. Mrs. Haynes was out in 41, matching the women's par.

Three D. C. Entrants Win in Second Flight.

Of the six Capital players in the second flight, three emerged on top. Mrs. F. R. Keefer, of Chevy Chase, was victorious in the longest match of the day. She conquered Mrs. Winslow Hundley, Elkridge, after 21 holes, in the second sixteen.

Mrs. Ora Emge, Beaver Dam, remained in the third flight by downing Mrs. Walter B. Brooks, 2 up.

The second round is scheduled for tomorrow morning. Results today in which Washingtonians figured:

First sixteen—Mrs. J. M. Haynes (Columbia), defeated Miss Katherine Baum (Elkridge), 5 and 4.

Second sixteen—Mrs. F. R. Keefer (Chevy Chase), defeated Mrs. Winslow Hundley (Elkridge), 1 up, 21 holes; Mrs. H. A. Knox (Congressional), defeated Mrs. Poultney Gorter (Elkridge), 5 and 4; Mrs. E. Plunkett (Rolling Road), defeated Mrs. B. C. Hartig (Manor), 3 and 2; Mrs. D. C. Wharton Smith (Elkridge), defeated Mrs. Burton Shipley (Beaver Dam), 1 up; Mrs. E. M. McClelland (Manor), defeated Mrs. Fred Lines (Rodgers Ford), 2 up; Mrs. Julian Jones (Elkridge), defeated Mrs. W. S. Corby (Columbia), 1 up, 19 holes.

Third sixteen—Mrs. W. B. Kelly (Elkridge), defeated Mrs. T. N. Beavers (Beaver Dam), 3 and 2; Mrs. Ora Emge (Beaver Dam), defeated Mrs. Walter B. Brooks (Elkridge), 2 up.

Fourth sixteen—Mrs. Robert Merrick (Elkridge), defeated Mrs. J. T. Powell (Manor), 4 and 2.

SECOND-ROUND PAIRINGS.

First sixteen, 11:10 a. m.—Mrs. Haynes vs. Mrs. W. F. Peterson (Green Spring Valley).

Second sixteen, 11:40 a. m.—Mrs. Keefer vs. Mrs. Knox; 12, Mrs. McClelland vs. Mrs. Smith.

Third sixteen, 10:50 a. m.—Mrs. Emge vs. Miss Marion Roberts.

Emerson Night Game Moved Up Five Hours

Coach Harlan Page Sanborn, Emerson's grid mentor, announced last night that the scheduled game against Getttysburg Academy, which was to have been played Saturday night at Griffith Stadium, had been moved up to 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon on the same field.

The shift in time is because of a prior arrangement the ball park authorities had made with the George Washington University frosh.

CENTENNIALS TO DRILL.

In preparation for their game with the Del Ray A. C. next Sunday, Centennial players will practice tonight at the Virginia Avenue Playgrounds. The session will start at 7:30 o'clock.

REAL BATTLE LOOKED FOR SATURDAY

Americans, Gallaudet Appear Evenly Matched.

WHEN two determined, nearly equally matched football teams collide, something exciting is bound to happen to thrill players and spectators alike. Local fans are awaiting a clash of this nature in the American-Gallaudet game scheduled Saturday at Kendall Green. The game promises keen competition from whistle to whistle.

Both teams look ahead confidently. American is sure of itself in spite of the fact that it will be outweighed, while Gallaudet is equally as positive of its ability to win, though it knows that it needs greater smoothness in execution of its plays. Gallaudet has had only one game under its belt, having beaten the Tank School Eleven, 20 to 0.

American U. Lighter Than Opponents.

American, which has defeated Shenandoah, 14 to 2, and Shepherd, 6 to 0, will concede about an average of 5 pounds in weight per man, but it does not doubt its ability to offset this disadvantage with a display of speed afoot.

Gallaudet feels as certain that its weight advantage will prove helpful as its rival feels that it will not. And besides, the Kendall Green outfit expects to stop the fleet Eagle backs before the play reaches the open field.

This is the only game scheduled for a local field on Saturday and a record attendance at Kendall Green is anticipated.

Neither team suffered more than minor injuries in their games of last Saturday. Gallaudet was somewhat lucky in this respect for it battled the ponderous Tank School eleven. So it is certain that both sides will throw their greatest strength into the contest.

American is not worried over the prospect of Johnny Ringle, Galludet back field star, breaking loose for his copyrighted open-field runs. From Coach Walter Young down to the lowliest substitute, the Eagles are quite confident that Ringle will be held to negligible gains, if any. A defensive plan has been mapped out by the American coach that he believes will keep Ringle throttled.

SAYS PEGLER

there is no telling but that the boys on the Hyena train have been hosts to a trio of refined and exclusive Philadelphia society millionaires.

They all claim to be personally acquainted with a very distinguished Palm Beach millionaire of the most exclusive social standing, who is the soul of charity, but doesn't like to receive begging letters because they break his heart, and it must be said to their credit that they have behaved very well for society millionaires, throughout the trip.

The social life on the Athletics' train was polite, but subdued. There were a few ladies in the party, but the Athletics are not very highstrung socially. Mr. Grove, for instance, is a reticent character of mounful mien, who can not understand why people should sit and converse when they have nothing to say, and Mr. Mickey Cochrane when he wishes to be entertaining, finds it necessary to play the saxophone.

Mrs. Sam Breadon Is Hostess.

The Cardinals' train, which arrived sometime earlier, was president over as hostess by Mrs. Sam Breadon, who has red hair and sings "Sweet Adeline," and for her accompanist there was Mrs. Frank (Moon Mullins) Willard, the wife of the comic artist, who annoys a ukelele with or without provocation at odd hours of the day and night. Mr. Breadon himself, being a Greenwich Village, N. Y., boy of Irish parents, has an uncontrollable tendency to burst into Irish ballads at times, being probably the best endurance singer in the major leagues at this time and beyond question the loudest.

So, the world series, while it has its business aspects for the Breadons, is also something of a festival and a very enjoyable time has been had by all members of the family party, not including the athletes, of course, who are very grim about it all, with a matter of some $2,000 apiece at stake.

Mr. Breadon is the youngest of the major league magnates now and magnates always have been just as young as their arteries. Twenty years ago Charlie Comiskey, Garry Herrman and Ban Johnson were just as young and durable and even more festive. You could not say that the joy has been unconfined with the Breadon party during this world series, but it has been considerable less cramped than is customary among the magnates now that most of them have grown old and attentive to their physicians.

Unlimited Elevens Hold Meeting Tonight

Pilots of the seven clubs which are entered in the unlimited section of The Post's 1930 Capital City Football League will meet tonight at French's Sport Store to decide playing fields for their opening league clashes scheduled for next Sunday. William Fiester, of French's, has called the meeting for 7:30 o'clock.

All 150-pound team managers have until 8 o'clock tonight to complete the weighing-in of their players at French's.

Hallahan Opposes Grove In Sixth Contest Today

and his clever fielding a daily highlight.

In Hallahan then rests the Cardinals' hope. He is the pitcher best calculated to stop the Athletics. Getting tremendous speed out of his diminutive form as he pumps his fast balls and pours his curves into Jimmy Wilson's mitt, Hallahan mixes them both with a headiness that plays to the hitters' weakness. He is an unimpressive figure out there on the mound, but he can pitch and he works for every put-out.

Due in part to the defeat dealt Lefty Grove is the Cardinals' renewed confidence. But Grove's performances in the series are misleading. On that day on which he was beaten by a 3-1 score, he was a far better pitcher than in the opening game, when he turned back the Cardinals, 5-2.

Last Sunday, while Haines held the Mackmen to four hits, Grove held the Cardinals to five, one a home run by Douthit and the others trickling infield bouncers that were beaten out. Grove was in rare, good form, and it required a masterful performance by Haines to beat him. But he came back in the last two innings of Monday's game and held the Cardinals in check with ease, despite Hafey's double in the eighth. He clinched the game for the Athletics in typical Grove fashion by striking out Gelbert, the Cards' most dangerous hitter of the series.

Card Infield Has Outshone That of A's.

In the absence of any official proclamation by Connie Mack, it is assumed that Grove will pitch tomorrow. Mack has justified the predictions of the baseball correspondents in every game thus far and has attempted no deep strategy. Tomorrow may be the spot, but not logically. The game tomorrow holds the prospect of being another thriller. Hallahan vs. Grove. As they say, you pay your money and you take your choice. We like Grove without the formality of a deposit.

The Cardinals have reestablished the National League in World Series play after a period of three years in which the champions of the older major circuit were able to win only one of thirteen games played and the annual October postseason clashes began to take on the appearance of an annual rout, so much did the Yankees of 1927 and 1928 outclass the Pirates and Cardinals, respectively, and the Athletics of 1929 overshadow the Cubs.

They illustrated convincingly how they scampered through the National League favorites in the last stages of the 1930 pennant races, did the Cardinals in the three series games played in St. Louis. After serving mild notice of their power in the first game in Philadelphia, the St. Louis Club came into its own on its home grounds and showed the pitching, the superfine defense and the spirit that had marked it as the latest of the "miracle" clubs. Only the hitters did not justify their promise, and when it is taken into consideration that in four of the five games played the St. Louis sluggers have faced the pitching of either Grove or Earnshaw, or both combined, there is excuse for their puerile efforts with the stick for the two talented aces of the Philadelphia mound staff rank with the greatest of modern pitchers.

Despite the loose play of Frankie Frisch in the last two games in St. Louis, the Cardinals' infield has outshone the Philadelphians on the defense, with young Charley Gelbert the bright star of the quartet. Gelbert has been outstanding in the series, not only at bat with his impressive average of .429 that leads all the hitters of both teams, but with his clever play in the field where he has handled himself in the most approved fashion without the semblance of a misplay despite numerous difficult chances that came his way. He has been a Gibraltar in the Cardinals' defense, roaming far and wide with great effect.

Needless to say, tomorrow's game, if not the climax, will be the turning point of a series that has occasioned more interest than any other series since the memorable Cardinal-Yankee clashes of 1926, which required seven games before a decision was reached. For the first time since that season the National League is represented by a contender well able to pit its strength against the American League's champions. The Cardinals have proven that they are that ball club, win or lose tomorrow or Thursday.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Oct. 7.—The St. Mary's Celtics Football Team will oppose the Arrow Athletic Club, of Richmond, in their initial grid contest on Sunday, October 12, at Baggett's Stadium. An important practice for local noleskinners has been called for Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

The Del Ray Athletic Club will send twenty men to the French Store in Washington Wednesday night to weigh-in for the Capital City series. Coach Hamilton requests all players to meet him at Hamilton's Drug Store, Potomac, Va., at 6:30 o'clock, to make the trip.

Sunday the Del Rayans will oppose the Centennials in the opening league fray. This contest will be played on Edward Duncan Field.

Coach Buck Beach wants all Virginia Athletic Club football candidates to report at the Shipyard Field on Lee street in uniform Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock for a short scrimmage.

The Red Robin Athletic Club will meet the Episcopal High 100-pound team in a game Wednesday afternoon at Episcopal. Lee Crockett is captain of the local eleven.

The Alexandria City Bowling League will open Wednesday night. Eight teams are entered. The Potomacs won the honors last year. Miss Catherine Bayliss, with a score of 126, won the prize at the Health Center for the week's high score for ladies.

Manager Bill Hammond, of the Pirate Football Team, has called an important meeting of all players for Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock, at Pitt and Queen streets.

Dave Bayliss, former Alexandria High School football star, has signed to play center for the Alpha Delta Omega Eleven. The fraters meet the Mercuries in next Sunday's game.

Palace-D. G. S. Gridmen Ready to Defend Honors

ALTHOUGH the opening clashes of The Post's 1930 Capital City Football League are still four days off, Coach Joseph Perron's Palace-D. G. S. Eleven, which is entered this fall in the 150-pound section of the circuit, already is in undisputed possession of one league record. Furthermore, it is a record which never has been even approached before in the several years of the league's existance.

Coach Perron has no less than nine pairs of brothers on his 1930 squad, which constitutes a record in any league. The brothers who are performing on the gridiron this fall for the Southwest team are Albert and Oscar Heflin, Billy and "Lucky" Regan, John and Bernie Smith, Frank and Michael Scanlon, Percy and Raymond Vernon, William and Frank Tonker, Dolph and "Inky" McDermott, Fred and Edward Healey and Harry and "Sailor" Oden.

Champions last fall of the league's 135-pound section, Coach Perron hopes to repeat his triumph this year. He bases his hopes on the fact that practically his entire 1929 aggregation has returned. Several newcomers also have strengthened his club considerably. As a result the Palaces are considered an outstanding favorite to cop 1930 laurels in the 150-pound division.

League competition will be inaugurated next Sunday by the Palace-D. G. S. players when they meet the strong Mardfeidt Eleven on the Mount Rainier gridiron.

MARYLAND U. BOASTS OF IRON MEN

14 Used in Yale Game Counted on to Beat North Carolina.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND almost pulled an "iron man" stunt in the game with Yale last Saturday, using only fourteen men, nine linesmen and five backs, and it is likely to depend on practically the same gridders in the tilt with North Carolina at Chapel Hill this week-end.

Pease and Norris, ends; Fisher and Carlis, tackles; Hayden and Krajcovic, guards; Faber, center; Woods, Chalmers, Berger and Poppelman, backs, began the clash against the Elis and appear likely to begin the combat with the Tarheels. Evans went in for Poppelman just before the first quarter ended and Keenan and Sanford were sent to the relief of Fisher and Carlis at the tackle berths in the last period at New Haven.

Eight Old Liners Played All Of Yale Game.

So that eight Maryland men played all of the Yale game and three others figured in more than three-quarters of the combat.

The Old Liners went through a tough session at College Park yesterday and will repeat the dose today. That will be all the rough work that will be done in preparation for the game at Chapel Hill, with Thursday and Friday being used to polish up.

Maryland's drill yesterday concentrated on the handling of the ball and in remedying some defects in the offense and defense that cropped out in the Yale game. However, it was fumbling that cost the Terrapins a real chance for victory and Curley Byrd is determined to cure that fault if no other.

The Old Liners feel that if they can eliminate the faults mentioned that they will have at least an outside chance of getting even with the Tarheels for the beating taken last fall at College Park.

Tarheels Drill Hard For Maryland Game

Special to The Washington Post.

Durham, Oct. 7.—In its game last week, North Carolina showed all the offensive power that made it a pre season favorite in the conference. House, Branch and Magner ran brilliantly, and the Tarheels' aerial warfare did deadly damage. The fact remains, however, that Carolina's defense is still weak, for the Gobblers drove over three touchdowns themselves. And if the Gobblers did that much damage, what can be expected of Maryland, Georgia, Tennessee, Georgia Tech and the higher-powered offenses Carolina faces on coming week-ends?

Maryland comes next, in Kenan Stadium here Saturday afternoon, and the Old Liners are said to be strong. They opened with a 60-6 win over Washington College, and their star backs fought Yale on even terms Saturday except when the great Albie Booth was in Old Eli's line-up. Maryland will be gunning for the Tarheels, to avenge a 43-0 drubbing from last year, and it looks like the Carolina line will have to show more stuff every game from now on. The open question is can this Tarheel line improve fast enough?

ERSKINE ELEVEN WINS.

Kings Mountain, N. C., Oct. 7 (A. P.).—Erskine College's Seceders pushed over three touchdowns and made one extra-point kick good to defeat Lenoir Rhyne, 19 to 0, here today before a portion of the large crowd that had gathered to hear President Hoover speak at the Kings Mountain Sesquicentennial Celebration.

STOCK PRICES DROP DESPITE EARLY RISE

Few Important Shares Are Able to Gain Slightly, but Off-Trend Holds.

WHEAT AND CORN LOSE

New York, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—The financial markets jolted downhill over rough roads today. Important stocks managed to make irregular recoveries after toppling to new lows for the year, but a majority of the large number of issues traded closed lower. Brazilian and other Latin American bonds were weak, wheat lost more than 2 cents a bushel and corn more than a cent.

To the stock market the most interesting news development was the information that the exchange authorities had warned certain members against unethical practices in short selling. This was interpreted at first glance in some quarters as meaning that the exchange had declared war on the bear, but second thoughts led to a revision of such an impression. Short selling, it was pointed out, has always been regarded as a necessary part of market procedure, and what the exchange sought to do in its warning to some members, it was explained, was to prevent unfair practices tending to demoralization.

Nevertheless, the first reaction to the news was a rally at the opening. Prices rose 1 to 7 points under covering by timid shorts, only to break widely when heavy selling came into the market in midforenoon.

Most Severe Losses Recovered.

U. S. Steel, American Telephone, General Electric, General Motors and Radio, to mention only a few, were pushed through their previous 1930 minimums on large turnovers and by early afternoon the average for 90 stocks was about a point below the year's low. Prices stiffened thereafter, however, and the 1 to 5 point declines were more than recovered. Sporadic selling on the rally brought recessions from the top.

The market was most on the decline, the recovery was made on much lighter trading. Sales for the day reached the comparatively large total of 3,568,040 shares.

Extension of the revolutionary movement in Brazil had its chief effect in the bond market, where Brazilian loans broke 1 to 16 points. Coffee, on the other hand, rebounded substantially from yesterday's lows on covering prompted by a belief that the disturbances would curtail movement of the crop. Transactions in Brazilian exchange were necessarily halted by the closing of the banks in that country.

Call Funds at 2 Per Cent.

Current trends in the money markets are regarded as holding at least the germ of trade revival. Call funds held at 2 per cent as the banks withdrew about $40,000,000, the second successive day in which loan calling was substantial. In addition, there was a $79,000,000 rise in commercial loans of Federal Reserve member banks. Much depends, of course, on whether the firmer tendencies noted recently are held, if so, it will be joyfully hailed as a sign that seasonal demand for credit has attained some strength.

Official figures on steel ingot production for September revealed that the average daily output of 110,307 tons was the lowest for that month since 1924. Operations were placed at 55.10 per cent of capacity, or somewhat below earlier estimates. The unofficial ratio statistics for the past week appear tomorrow, and a decline in operations would not surprise Wall Street.

Today's decline in stock prices attracted attention chiefly because so many issues broke to new lows, although they had been dangerously near the old levels several times U. S. Steel went to 151¼, American Telephone to 198, General Electric to 57⅛, General Motors to 37¼, New York Central to 146¼, Westinghouse to 121 and Radio to 23⅛.

American Can Rallies.

With the exception of General Electric and Radio, which closed fractionally lower, and steel, which finished unchanged, this group ended the day higher. American Can touched a low for the decline and then rallied a point net.

There were gains of a point or more in Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, Consolidated Gas, National Biscuit, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Sears Roebuck and United Aircraft. Cerro de Pasco, whose annual dividend was cut to a $4 basis from $6, advanced more than 3, and so did J. I. Case. American & Foreign Power recovered more than half of a 5-point drop. Peoples Gas, down 17 points, closed only 1 lower. Missouri Pacific, Prairie Pipe, International Telephone and American Tobacco "B" were heavy.

Wheat was sold in sympathy with the weakness of stocks and lost 2¼ to 2½ net. Corn eased about a cent and a half, reflecting a weak Southwest market.

Foreign currencies eased, featured by breaks in the South Americans and the Spanish peseta.

BRAZILIAN BOND LIST AGAIN LOSES GROUND

Fear of Results of Revolt Causes Issues to Sink 1 to 16 Points.

EUROPEAN GROUP SOFT

New York, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Resumption of the selling movement had a devastating effect upon prices of a wide list of Brazilian bonds today. Prices slumped 1 to 16 points, reflecting the uneasiness of American investors over the revolution in the South American country.

While virtually the whole list of foreign bonds was unsettled, prime domestic bonds displayed a firm undertone in dull trading. Most of the activity was in second-grade liens and stock privilege issues, where a lower trend dominated. Some bonds reacted sharply to new lows for the year.

The day was notable for the appearance of the largest piece of foreign financing of the year in the domestic market—the $100,000,000 Canadian government 30-year 4 per cent bond issue being brought out under the auspices of an international banking group. It was oversubscribed during the day.

The liquidation in both foreign and domestic bonds swelled the volume of business to more than $14,000,000, the largest since May 1.

Large Sale on South Americans.

The turnover in South American issues was larger than usual in contrast with fractional movements that usually prevail. Latin American bonds were in supply several points below the previous close. Government, state, municipal and industrial bonds of Brazil were the hardest hit.

Sao Paulo state 8s slumped 16½ points; Brazilian 8s, 15; Rio Grande do Sul 7s and Brazilian Central Electric Railways 7s and Antioquia first 7s, 10 each. Bonds off 5 to 10 points included Brazilian 6½s, Caldas Department 7½s, Cauca Valley 7½s, Pernambuco 7s, Rio Grande do Sul 6s of 1968, City of Sao Paulo 6½s and Bolivian 7s of 1969.

Liquidation was extensive in some issues of Chile, Colombia, Peru, Uruguay, Argentina and Mexico, but the losses were narrower, ranging from 1 to 3 points. The European group contained many soft spots. The German International 5½s slumped 2¼ to 77½, a new year's low, compared with an offering price of 90. Italian 7s were under pressure and reacted ¾.

Domestic List Again Irregular.

There were some wide changes in the domestic list, where an irregular movement again prevailed. Selling dominated the trend of many stock privilege, second grade rails and industrials. Here and there a high-grade bond registered a small advance, but the majority were on the downside as reflected by the averages, off 2-10 of a point.

There was an unusually large turnover in St. Paul Railroad issues. The 5s of 1975 yielded 1¼, and the adjustment 5s of 2000 reacted 4¾ points to the year's low. Bonds of International Telephone and American & Foreign Power having extensive interests in South America, were weak. St. Louis, San Francisco 4½s, and Paramount Publix 5½s, reached new lows for the year. Erie 5s, Rock Island convertible 4½s and Nickel Plate 4½s C, off fractionally, were unusually active.

Treasury issues reacted slightly to announcement of the prospective sale of $100,000,000 certificates. Liberty bonds were steady to firm.

Offerings tomorrow will include $4,000,000 city and county of San Francisco, Calif., 4½ per cent bonds. A $5,000,000 Mid-West States Utilities Co. 6 per cent bond issue has been authorized by the board of directors.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK SHOWN BY SURVEY

Chain Stores, Telephone and Utility Companies Said to Have Best Prospects.

OTHER INDUSTRIES GIVEN

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The latest survey of principal industries completed by Standard Statistics Co. of New York shows chain stores, cigarettes, dairy products, electric light and power, electrical equipment, packing foods, shipbuilding, telephone and telegraph have the most promising prospects.

Prospects for beverages, cement, chemicals, machinery, motion pictures, refrigeration and specialty bakeries are described as good; and those for canned goods, meat packing and radio uncertain. Agricultural machinery, automobiles, automobile parts, bread bakeries, building, cigars, department stores, fertilizers, flour and feed, mail order, office equipment, paper, petroleum, railroads, railroad equipment, shoes, steel and sugar refining are placed in the fair class.

Poor Prospects Reported.

Prospects for aircraft, apparel, automobile tires, coal, copper, cotton goods, electrical household supplies, floor coverings, furniture, lead, leather, lumber, rayon, shipping, silk goods, sugar producing, tractions, woolen goods and zinc are reported poor.

September sales of the Melville Shoe Corporation amounted to $2,186,108, an increase of $182,843 or 9.13 per cent from September, 1929. Sales for the nine months totaled $21,097,025, an increase of 13.30 per cent from those reported in the similar comparative period last year.

Directors of National Tea Co. have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 13¾ cents per share on the 5½ per cent preferred stock, payable November 1, to stockholders on record October 14.

McCrory Stores Sales.

McCrory Stores Corporation report September sales at $3,280,888, an 8.4 per cent decrease from the month last year. Sales for the nine months were $29,219,677 or 1.8 per cent behind the period last year.

Joseph W. Byron, of W. D. Byron & Sons, Inc., Williamsport, Md., has acquired membership in the New York Hide Exchange, Inc.

Richard M. Booker has associated with the Washington office of J. & W. Seligman & Co. He was formerly with Robert Garrett & Sons, Baltimore.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Chiefly affected by severe temporary downturns of stock market quotations, grain values underwent a pronounced tumble today, more than 3 cents per bushel in some cases. Contributing impetus to the fall of wheat prices was the view that timely rains were benefiting the entire wheat belt of North America, and parts of Southern Hemisphere countries as well. Meanwhile also the world's available supply of wheat showed 5,762,000 bushels increase for the week, but for the first time in many months totaled less than at the corresponding date last year.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled 2⅞ to 2¾ cents a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1 to 1⅜ cents down, oats 1¼ to 1⅝ cents off, and provisions varying from 35 cents decline to a rise of 25 cents.

Late recoveries in securities came largely after grain trading had ended and were therefore not a price-making factor as to wheat, which showed only fractional rallies at the last, as compared with the day's lowest level. Earlier, wheat had received its first lift from reports of improved crop prospects in Argentina and Australia, coupled with Liverpool advices that Russian offerings of wheat at Liverpool were again urgent on a market bare of demand. Then came reports of rains where needed in Canada and the United States. It was at this stage that the effect of acute weakness of the stock market began to make itself manifest with cumulative force which lasted until almost the final transactions here in grain.

Acting as an additional weight on wheat values today was the fact that no new export demand of any consequence was met with for wheat from North America. Large shipments of Canadian wheat down the Lakes failed to operate as a counterbalance, and so likewise did curtailment of Canadian country marketings and of diminishing receipts in domestic spring wheat States Northwest. A further bearish circumstance was that although first transactions in next season's wheat deliveries were made here today at more than 10 cents premium over December delivery, the market afterward showed a greater drop for July than for December, July receding to 88⅛ cents, against 92 cents at the start.

Corn and oats went lower with wheat, but corn received late support from speculative buyers and also from spreaders who bought corn against simultaneous equal sales of wheat.

Provisions averaged lower with cereals despite upturns in hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—December, 78⅞; 81¼@81⅞; March, 82¼, 86⅛; May, 85⅛, 89. Corn—December, 82⅞, 85⅛@85⅜; March, 84¼, 87⅝; May, 86⅛@86¼, 89¾@89½. Oats—December, 37⅜, 38⅛; May, 41⅛, 42⅜. PUSHING OF WATER WORKS IS ORDERED Arlington County Board of Supervisors Takes Steps in Emergency.

LEGION DRIVE PLANNED

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Confronted with appeals for water, the county board of supervisors, meeting in special session yesterday morning, ordered County Engineer C. H. Kinnier to increase his force of workmen in order to meet the demands.

"The situation is becoming most serious," declared Chairman Edward Duncan, "and we must get water to the people. I am in favor of stopping all road work and putting all available men to work making extensions to the mains." The board authorized Engineer Kinnier to arrange to make necessary connections to the fire hydrants so that they may be used by residents to carry water to their homes.

J. V. Turner, representing a group of citizens in East Falls Church, reported to the board that more than 3,700 gallons of water are being supplied to sections of East Falls Church by use of water tank trucks.

Mrs. Blanche H. Roberts, of Barcroft, appealed to the board for water, stating that she had a hot-water system in her home. Mrs. Roberts explained to the board that she lives on a street where the extension would not be made but that she is willing to pay whatever is necessary to have water brought to her home. Mr. Kinnier was instructed to make an immediate investigation and get water to her home.

Mr. Kinnier reported to the board that in the last two months more than $20,000 has been expended in making water extensions.

The board approved a total of 5,015 feet of water extensions.

The Arlington County Democratic committee will hold a special meeting tonight in the offices of A. L. Kelley, at Clarendon, at 8 o'clock.

Judge Howard W. Smith, the Democratic candidate for Congress from the Eighth Congressional District, of which Arlington County is a part, will address the meeting.

The meeting has been called for the purpose of discussing campaign plans.

The Arlington County Monarch Club will hold its weekly meeting tomorrow in the Ashton Heights Woman's Clubhouse at 12 o'clock.

Tomorrow night members of the club will go to Hagerstown, Md., where they will attend a special meeting of the Hagerstown Club.

The equalization tax board will hold a meeting this morning for the purpose of completing plans for the first of public hearings to be held in the courthouse October 14.

At a meeting to be held tomorrow night at the home of C. W. Hanger, chairman of the membership committe of Arlington Post, No. 139, plans will be perfected for an intensive drive for new members. It is planned that the campaign will close with a special program of entertainment on the night of November 11.

The Clarendon Circle of St. George's Episcopal Church will hold its monthly meeting to night at the home of Mrs. R. W. Comstock, 352 Marion avenue, in Clarendon.

Methodist Leader Dies at Nashville

Dr. William W. Pinson, 76, Was Widely Known as Lecturer.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Dr. William W. Pinson, author, lecturer and for many years one of the outstanding figures in Southern Methodism, died at his home here today. He was 76 years old.

After holding pastorates in Austin, San Antonio and Gonzalos, Tex.; Macon and Columbus, Ga.; Louisville, Ky., and other cities, Dr. Pinson in 1906 was selected as assistant secretary of the board of missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and four years later became general secretary.

When this office was abolished, in 1922, he was chosen secretary of Oriental mission fields, serving in that capacity until 1926. With the reorganization of the board of missions, he became associated with the Sunday school board as writer of religious literature. As a lecturer Dr. Pinson was widely known. Originator of the missionary center movement of his denomination, Dr. Pinson served as chairman of the joint commission of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church South when $150,000,000 was pledged by these two branches of Methodism to world mission work. Funeral services will be held in Wightman Chapel of Scarritt College here Thursday.

Virginia Woman Injured When Two Autos Crash

Special to The Washington Post.

Round Hill, Va., Oct. 7.—Mrs. Ira Fewell, who lives near Round Hill, received lacerations of the face and hands and bruises on her body when the automobile in which she was riding, and which was driven by her son, Earl Fewell, 22, collided head-on with a car driven by Ralph Howell, 25, of Round Hill.

The accident occurred 1 mile east of Round Hill about 6 o'clock Saturday evening. It is said that the Howell car was passing another automobile when the collision took place. The Fewell car was demolished and the front part of the Howell car badly smashed.

Purcellville Women's Community Unit Meets

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., Oct. 7.—The Purcellville Community League met at the school building Friday afternoon, when plans were made for the coming year's work. Miss Eugenia Norman was appointed chairman of the play committee, assisted by Mrs. Mildred Walton, as business manager. It was decided to have the annual league dinner in the town hall October 17.

Mrs. Grace Popkins was appointed chairman of the membership committee with the privilege of selecting other members of her committee. Officers of the league are Mrs. Eleanor Brower, president; Mrs. Carroll Welsh, vice president; Mrs. Terry Hirst, secretary and Mrs. Mildred Walton, treasurer.

Water Supply Dwindles At Lynchburg Reservoir

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., Oct. 7.—With three week's supply of water available in the city's dam on Pedlar River, City Manager Hart declined this afternoon to curtail the use of water for lawns and automobile washing. There are 2 feet more of water on hand now than was the case in November, 1926, when the supply was the lowest on record.

City officials hope for a break of the drought in the next three weeks, but if this does not occur it will be necessary to resort to the use of James River, water from which will be clarified and purified before going into the distribution system.

Danville Schedules Utility Sale Election

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Oct. 7.—Danville citizens will vote one week from today in a referendum to determine whether or not they wish to sell the city-owned electric and gas plants and their franchises to the Western Power, Light & Telephone Co. for $4,300,000. At the same time they are to vote on the question of what shall be done with the purchase money. There are two proposals, one that the surplus left after wiping out the city's bonded indebtedness be used for the public schools, the other that it be used in public improvements.

Danville has owned its utilities for 35 years. The utility company which seeks the plants is offering as a collateral advantage a sum of $100,000 to build up new industries.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM

Cities Service Co.

L. F.—Can you give me an idea of the number of stockholders (common) of Cities Service Co.; also please tell me latest developments regarding company and how you view the stock.

Answer—As of August 31, 1930, company had 396,213 common stockholders, an increase of 98 per cent from same date in 1929. This strongly indicates growing popularity of stock among investors throughout country. This confidence seems thoroughly justified, not only on account of continuity of dividend payments, but also because of fact that they are being more than comfortably earned. Latest development contained in announcement that Henry L. Doherty & Co. had purchased controlling interest in Louisiana Oil Refining Corporation of Shreveport, for account of Arkansas Natural Gas Corporation, a Cities Service subsidiary. In view of all foregoing facts, stock very well thought of as an investment, having, in addition, speculative possibilities not to be measured at this time.

Davison Chemical.

L. O.—Please advise me as to present book value of Davison Chemical stock, also as to latest earnings and prospects for a resumption of dividends on the issue?

Answer—Balance sheet, dated June 30, 1930, gave book value of shares as $62.65, compared with $61.49 per share on June 30, 1929. Report for fiscal year ended June 30, last, showed net profits equivalent to $4.04 a share of capital stock, comparing with $3.34 a share for preceding fiscal year. These earnings would warrant directors in restoring the dividend. Official intimations have lately been given that this may be done before long. On this account, and because outlook for fertilizer companies has been improved by tendency to recover in the grain markets, stock has considerable attraction, particularly at prevailing low prices.

Pilot Radio and Tube.

Mrs. R. S.—Last winter I bought Pilot Radio & Tube stock. Is there any danger in holding it now? The stock is only quoted on the Curb once in a while. Can you explain the reason? Is it likely there will be a final payment on Conley Tin Foil? Please tell me something also about Universal Pipe & Radiator.

Answer—During past year or so radio and accessories business generally has experienced a decided falling off. Notwithstanding this, Pilot Radio & Tube for year ended December 31 last was able to show net income of $404,162, equal to $1.84 a Class A share, compared with net of $322,622, or $1.61 a Class A share, reported by predecessor company in previous year. Moreover, sales for first seven months of 1930 increased 19 per cent over those for corresponding 1929 period.

However, directors on June 16, last, omitted quarterly dividend then due on Class A stock, this action having been taken in view of expansion plans under way and for purpose of conserving cash. Though stock is now, as a nondividend payer, in the speculative class, it would appear to have attraction for holding over a period of time. September 20, 1930, announced directors of Conley Tin Foil Corporation had declared a final liquidating dividend of 58½ cents, payable September 30 to holders of record September 26, 1930. It is true Universal Pipe & Radiator reported a deficit of 19 cents a common share for year 1929. Besides, sales of company for six months to June 30, 1930, showed a decline of 19 per cent in corresponding period last year. Company passed common stock dividend of 50 cents quarterly July 2, 1928, and has not since resumed payments. Appears very little likelihood of its doing so, in view of figures here presented.

Bulova Watch.

W. C. W.—I am thinking of buying some preferred stock of the Bulova Watch Co. Would appreciate your advice and latest report of this company.

Answer—Company earned for 15 months ended March 31, 1930, not only preferred dividends, but $5.04 a common share. Recently stated by chairman of board that earnings for first nine months will equal or exceed same period in 1929; moreover, based on volume of unfilled orders on hand, there is every indication that this year's sales and earnings will be best in company's history. Considering prevailing conditions and future prospects, stock especially as a preferred issue, appears quite attractive from an investment viewpoint.

Gas Station Theft Nets Trio $14.25

Arlington County Robbers Hold Up Employe and Flee in Auto.

Holding up William F. Fisher, an employe of gas station at the intersection of the Lee Highway and the Glebe road, Arlington County, at an early hour last night at the point of a pistol, three highwaymen made their escape in an auto in the direction of Rosslyn, after taking $14.25.

Sheriff Howard B. Fields, receiving the call at the jail dispatched, three of his deputies to Rosslyn, where they were met by Washington Seventh Precinct police.

Earl Williams, Fisher's assistant, said the men called for a quart of oil which he put in the car while one of them went into the station, asking for a road map. Finding Fisher, the man flashed a gun telling him to "hold them up." "I have been held up before," said Fisher. The man found only $14.25.

50 IN SCOTTISH RITE TO BE GIVEN DEGREES

Virginia Masons Lay Plans for Alexandria Reunion Starting Monday.

ROTARIANS HEAR BOGLE

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

At the annual fall class reunion of the Scottish Rite Masons, Valley of Alexandria, Orient of Virginia, which will be held in the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Temple here beginning Monday, a class of more than 50 candidates will receive the degree of the order, from the fourth to the thirty-second.

This will be known as the "Capstone Class," and it is expected that the capstone of the new $4,000,000 temple will be set at this time, with appropriate ceremonies, Percy E. Clift is general chairman of the reunion, and the executive committee is composed of Percy E. Clift, H. A. Lipscombe, C. C. Batcheller, L. P. Chauncey and R. W. Nixon. Harry F. Kennedy is chairman of publicity and the program committee.

It is expected that Scottish Rite Masons from Strasburg, Winchester, Harrisonburg, Staunton, Fredericksburg, Woodstock, Falls Church, Front Royal, Fairfax and other sections of the State will attend. Several prominent speakers will deliver addresses, and there will be an interesting entertainment program. The program of the degree work follows:

Tuesday, October 14—Registration of class; 1 p. m., fifteenth degree, Knight of the East, of the Sword or of the Eagle; 3:30 p. m., sixteenth degree, communicated; seventeenth degree, communicated; 3:45 p. m., eighteenth degree, Knight Rose Croix; 5:45 p. m., nineteenth degree, communicated; 6 p. m., dinner; 7:30 p. m., twentieth degree, Master of the Symbolic Lodge; 8 p. m., twenty-first degree, Noachite.

Wednesday, October 15.—Registration of class; 2 p. m., twenty-second degree, communicated; 2:15 p. m., twenty-third degree, chief of the tabernacle; 3:15 p. m., twenty-fourth degree, communicated; twenty-fifth degree, communicated, twenty-sixth, twenty-seventh, twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth degrees, communicated; 5:30 p. m., dinner; 7 p. m., thirtieth degree, Knight Kadosh.

Thursday, October 16—2 p. m., thirty-first degree, communicated; 2:30 p. m., thirty-second degree, master of the royal secret; 5:30 p. m., dinner. At 7:30 p. m. there will be a public meeting, open to all Masons and their friends.

Next Sunday a delegation of 400 members of the Maryland Commandery, No. 1, Knights Templar, of Baltimore, accompanied by a large number of ladies, will attend services at the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church here, to hear a special sermon by the Rev. Emmett Spencer, pastor, who is a member of the Maryland Commandery. The officers and members of Old Dominion Commandery, of Alexandria, will act as hosts and attend services with the visiting knights.

R. Samuel Luckett, chairman of the committee on arrangements, has mapped out an extensive program of entertainment for the visitors. Members of Fairfax Commandery, No. 26, of Culpeper, will also be guests of the local commandery.

The local Knights Templar will assemble at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at their asylum, attired in full Templar uniform, and will act as escort to the Maryland Commandery, marching to the church.

After church services luncheon will be served to the visitors by the ladies of Trinity Church, after which the Templars will return to the temple, where the relics of Alexandria-Washington Lodge will be explained to them. Next they will visit the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Temple, now nearing completion, where a lecture on the interior arrangements of the temple will be delivered. Arlington Cemetery will next be visited, after which the visitors will be escorted by the local commandery members as far as the south end of Highway Bridge, on their way home to Baltimore.

A vocational talk on weed killing was delivered before the Rotary Club at its luncheon in the George Mason Hotel yesterday by Rotarian R. H. Bogle. Past President Taylor Burke presided at the meeting.

Another feature of the meeting was a short talk by Robert Insko, head of the transportation department of the Lorton Reformatory, who told of the work being done at the institution to aid the inmates, and stated that a soap factory will be opened at the reformatory next year. Mr. Insko extended an invitation to the local club to have luncheon at the reformatory on October 21, which was accepted, and the presiding officer, Taylor Burke, appointed a committee to arrange for the trip, consisting of Robert L. May, Alfred Thompson and Henry T. Moncure. Mr. Insko was introduced to the club by Rotrarian Francis H. Fannon.

The club will have as its guest next Tuesday Jeter Jones, district governor of the Rotary Clubs.

A meeting of the Crusaders, whose main purpose is to work for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, will be held at 8 o'clock Friday night in the George Mason Hotel. Members have been urged to attend and each one to bring a friend. The call for the meeting was issued by Dr. John T. Ashton, commander of the local organization.

Police Capt. W. W. Campbell, Commonwealth's Attorney Albert V. Bryan, and Elliott F. Hoffman, clerk of the corporation court, presided yesterday at the destruction of 255 gallons of corn whisky, 551 bottles of beer, cappers and containers, which had been seized by the police during the last few months.

Two bogus checks of $5 each were passed on the J. C. Penney Co. and Hoffman, the tailor, according to reports made to the police yesterday. The man passing the checks was described as being about 35 years old, weighing 165 pounds, 5 feet 11 inches tall, fair complexion, and dressed in overalls. The two checks were drawn on the First National Bank of Alexandria, and bore different names.

Dr. O. A. Ryder, of 115 South Columbus street, reported to the police [illegible] he was approaching his home [illegible] Monday night he saw two men apparently endeavoring to steal his automobile, one being in the machine and the other standing beside it. When the men saw Dr. Ryder one drew a revolver and threatened him, while both backed down the alley adjoining his home and made their escape. Police Sergt. Sims and Policeman Snoots investigated, but were unable to find a trace of the men.

Mrs. Daisy M. Morton, 30 years old, wife of Walter Morton, of Accotink, died Monday night at the Alexandria Hospital. Besides her husband she is survived by two children, Edna and Edward Morton. She was a daughter of Mr. G. W. Shiflett, of Accotink, and leaves three sisters, Miss Mae Shiflett, Miss Cora Dean Shiflett, and Miss Elizabeth Talbott Shiflett.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from Woodlawn Baptist Church.

The funeral of Miss Sue Lee Wheat, of The Plains, Va., who died in Washington Saturday, was held yesterday from St. Paul's Episcopal Church, services being conducted by the Rev. Percy Foster Hall, rector. Interment was in Ivy Hill cemetery.

Pallbearers were Arthur Herbert, Urban S. Lambert, Carroll Pierce and Taylor Burke.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS HOLDING CONVENTION

WILL DEDICATE BUILDING

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., Oct. 7.—The grand lodge Knights of Pythias and Grand Temple Pythian Sisters of Virginia convened in annual session tonight in the Ann P. Bowling Junior High School building with a large attendance of delegates from various sections of the State.

H. B. Gilliam, past grand chancellor and a prominent member of the Petersburg bar, was master of ceremonies. The invocation was by the Rev. J. M. B. Gill, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Following the invocation the opening ode was rendered by the entire audience. The address of welcome was made by Mayor I. Val Parham and the response was by H. W. Furlow, grand chancellor, of Norfolk.

One of the principal features of tonight's session was the address by Leslie E. Crouch, supreme chancellor, of Portland, Oreg., who was followed by Mrs. Elsie Vandervolt, supreme chief Pythian sister, Washington, and Mrs. Annie Enniss, grand chief Pythian sister, Petersburg. The session closed with the benediction by the Rev. C. C. Bell, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church. Immediately after these exercises the grand lodge adjourned to the medical arts building, where the convocation was called to order and business transacted.

Among the grand officers who are here to attend the convention besides those already named are Vice Supreme Chancellor Knights of Pythias William Grossman, of New York, and George C. Cabell, of Norfolk, past supreme chancellor.

After the adjournment of the opening session of the grand lodge, the grand temple of Virginia Pythian Sisters held a memorial service.

At 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, the medical arts building, where the grand lodge is holding its sessions, will be dedicated. This building is owned jointly by Naomi and Eureka Lodges, Knights of Pythias of Petersburg, and was erected at a cost of approximately $200,000.

Tomorrow afternoon the delegates will be taken on an automobile tour to points of interest in and near the city and will also be tendered an old Virginia barbecue at Pine Gardens in Prince George County near Petersburg.

POLLARD GETS DATA ON DANVILLE STRIKE

Spokesmen of Labor Union Confer With Governor on Grievances.

THANK HIM FOR HIS AID

Richmond, Va., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Representatives of national and State labor union organizations in a conference with Gov. Pollard today laid before him the "grievances" of Danville cotton mill strikers, and expressed appreciation for his offer of assistance in mediation.

Gov. Pollard said that he felt that the conference called for no statement from him, inasmuch as it was simply a statement of the situation as it exists in Danville from the viewpoint of labor union officials.

Among the grievances set forth were "low wages," "tyranny," and other matters.

The meeting was arranged through R. T. Bowden, former president of the Virginia Federation of Labor. The delegation included Buford F. Nash, president of the Danville local of the United Textile Workers of America; C. W. Bolick, of Danville, organizer of the U. T. W. at Danville; Miss Matilda Lindsay, Southern representative of the National Woman's Trade Union League; L. R. Shumate and L. J. Nunn, Danville Textile Workers; Mr. Bowden and George L. Turner, chairman of the legislative committee of the Virginia Federation of Labor.

MAN WHO FLED CELL KILLED IN NEW YORK

Dancer Begs That Address Be Kept Secret as Virginia Felon's Body Is Found.

CHICAGO GANGS LINKED

New York, Oct. 7 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Somewhere in Chicago a girl named Patsy heard today that another of her men-folks had been murdered.

In New York a blonde night club dancer named Shirley Le Mon begged Assistant District Attorney Price to keep her home address a secret, lest some one suspect her of knowing too much and undertake to silence her.

Pretty Miss Le Mon was the only witness police could find to tell them anything about the recent doings of Herbert Irving Roberts, who was found early this morning, eight hours dead, sitting in a stolen sedan that had been parked a few minutes previously in a quiet residential neighborhood off St. Nicholas Park.

Stranger to Police.

Roberts, a man of many aliases and of considerable reputation for outlawry in the West and South, was a new acquaintance to the New York police. After examining his record, the loaded .45 revolver that was in his well-tailored coat pocket, and the pistol and assortment of tear gas bombs and ammunition that were in his hotel room, they were glad enough.

But they were not cheered by the hunch that the killing may have been a by-product of the Capone murder factory in Chicago.

Miss Le Mon, who danced last year in "Pleasure Bound" and is now rehearsing for the Everglades Club Revue, did not tell a great deal. She had met Roberts and Patsy, as Mr. and Mrs. Larry Rogers, at Miami last winter, when she was in the chorus of the Roman Pools Casino. They were introduced by Dr. Kenneth Phillips, who has an office in the Huntington Building there. Last week Dr. Phillips had been in town and the four had gone to the Hotel Martinique for dinner. A few days later Patsy had telephoned that she was going to Chicago.

Victim Shy of Funds.

In Miami Miss Le Mon had heard Patsy speak of Chicago's latest murder victim as a former sweetheart, had heard the couple talk of Al Capone, a winter resident there, and she knew that Roberts was in some kind of racket. That was as far as her information went.

Whatever the racket, there was no evidence of great present prosperity. The murdered man had $1.67 in his pocket, and he and his wife since September 22 had been occupying an $85-a-month apartment at the Hotel Monterey, here. Miss Le Mon was traced by a note found there.

Roberts had been at the hotel Sunday, and his motor car was found at a garage around the corner.

Roberts was wanted especially in Virginia Penitentiary where he had left a dummy in his cell and gone over the wall in July, 1928. He was serving a seven-year sentence for binding up two watchmen and cracking a safe for $1,300. Previously he had been sentenced seven times, mostly on the West Coast; and he had done a year in Atlanta for mail fraud at Cincinnati and five years at McNeill Island for a postoffice robbery in the State of Washington.

Roberts was killed by a single bullet that entered the left side of his sharp-featured face. The car in which he was found was a brand new sedan stolen from Frank Stoltz, bearing license plates from a car stolen from Gustave Johnson.

A Montreal label on the dead man's coat made detectives think the murder may have had to do with liquor running from Canada.

Sentenced as Yegg.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 7 (A.P.).—Herbert Irving Roberts, gunman, who was found dead today in New York, escaped from the Virginia Penitentiary in July, 1928, by placing a dummy in his cell and after nightfall scaling the outside walls.

Penitentiary officials said he had a police record dating back to 1913 in seattle, Wash., then known as Lawrence McLane, alias Edward R. McLane. He served sentences in Washington, California, and Atlanta.

Roberts was sentenced to eighteen years in the Virginia Penitentiary upon conviction of safe-breaking in 1927.

DEMOCRATS' DEEDS OUTLINED BY RITCHIE

Governor, in Prince Georges, Ridicules G. O. P. Rule in Baltimore.

DRY STRADDLE IS SEEN

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, speaking at a Democratic meeting in the courthouse at Upper Marlboro yesterday, denied that a large number of issues are involved in the present campaign, as the Republicans claim. There is but one main issue, the governor said, and that is the fitness of the Democrats to continue in office.

"Let people look at government affairs in the City Hall at Baltimore as conducted by Mayor Broening and his associates, and then let them observe the work of the Democratic State administration," Gov. Ritchie requested. "Our record is our pledge and our reason for continuing in office."

After attacking the undecisive stand of the State Republicans on prohibition, he reiterated the pledge of the Democrats to work for local option. The Republicans are "pussyfooting" and attempting to straddle the issue, he said. "Their prohibition plank in their platform says nothing and means nothing. It is impossible to determine whether the Republican party is in favor of or is against the present form of prohibition."

Drought Relief Efforts Made.

The governor stated that Maryland is the only State which has made preparations to relieve economic pressure on the farmer which will be caused by the drought. It is also doing what it can to offset unemployment by hastening the construction of public works.

The record cited by the governor as the Democrats' claim to office includes the doubling of the number of miles of State roads during his administrations, until now 96 per cent of the population lives within 2 miles of an improved highway. In schools, too, there has been a great advance, Gov. Ritchie said, with much of the credit for the county system due to Nicholas Orem, county superintendent of schools.

Others to speak at the meeting included Stephen W. Gambrill, candidate for reelection to the House of Representatives; William S. Gordy, standing for the office of comptroller; James A. Young, jr., for the office of clerk of the court of appeals, and Thomas H. Robinson, for attorney general. The entire State ticket was present at the meeting, and all are candidates for reelection. No new names appear on the ballot for State officers of the Democrats.

About 500 Attend.

About 500 persons gathered in the courtroom to hear the speaking. Grand jury and circuit court, both of which had been sitting, adjourned to allow members to be at the meeting. Marvin S. Peach, of Prince Georges County, was selected as chairman of the meeting, while music was furnished by the band of the Veterans of Foreign Wars from Washington.

Upon arriving in Marlboro shortly after noon, the governor reviewed the Third Battalion of the Twelfth Infantry, under Maj. A. M. Patch, at the baseball grounds. He then had lunch in the parish hall of Trinity Episcopal Church, and went to the courthouse.

The Commissioners of Prince Georges County yesterday heard two applications for changes in zoning from residential to commercial, and approved both of them. In each case the change had already been approved by the Suburban Park and Planning Commission.

The land which was recommended for commercial purposes belonged to A. M. Gover, of Bladensburg, and Elizabeth Bewley, of Berwyn. Mr. Gover's tract comprised two lots, while the other was an area of more than an acre, on the Boulevard in Berwyn.

Maj. A. M. Patch, commandant of Fort Washington, Md., also appeared before the commissioners to ask the county to construct a concrete road from the Army post to Livingston road. The present route is by a rather winding gravel road, and the new stretch would be but two or three miles, probably going in the vicinity of Silesia. The commissioners recommended this project to the new board which will come into office after the fall elections. They did not want to make any promises which would be binding on the new board.

Maj. Patch also agreed to cooperate with the county in the maintenance of the present gravel road.

Maj. Patch's troops, which have been encamped on the fair grounds at Marlboro for several days, are expected to leave this morning for Ritchie Station. They will probably be in Benning Thursday, Hyattsville Friday, and College Park Saturday.

A $20,000 bridge on Jefferson avenue, over the Northeast Branch, in Riverside, Md., will be built by the State Roads Commission. It will be 25 feet wide, to replace the twin bridges now in use.

A third extra-party organization has planned to begin to function in Prince Georges County politics. The newcomer is the Law Enforcement League, which put forth its plans in a meeting at the Presbyterian Church in Riverdale. The other two are the Municipal Officers Association and the Taxpayers Association of Prince Georges County.

None of the three has yet announced which candidates it will support, except the taxpayers' body, and that has only declared for Stephen W. Gambrill, candidate for reelection to Congress. There is a good deal of interlocking membership among the three groups. Members of the taxpayers' organization appear at meetings of the municipal officers, and members of the Law Enforcement League speak at meetings of the taxpayers.

In spite of this duplication of membership the three groups have chosen different means of choosing their candidates. The Municipal Officers are sending out questionnaires, the taxpayers have appointed a committee to question the candidates and decide the attitude of that organization, and the law enforcers will let a majority of their members make their choice.

It is likely that these three groups will elect to back a split ticket, made up of candidates of both parties. A sign of this is seen in the taxpayers' choice of Gambrill, when it is fairly certain that they are opposed to other Democrats running for reelection.

The new officers of the Law Enforcement League are Gen. E. E. Hatch, of Laurel, president; Edward E. Perkins, of Bowie, vice president; Harry T. Jenkins, of Suitland, secretary, and Mrs. Herbert Roby, of Riverdale, treasurer.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

WHEN MR. FORD'S $27 A DAY MINIMUM WAGE COMES TRUE.

(The automobile magnate predicts a $27 a day minimum wage for the workingman by 1950 with a five-day week.)

SCENE: The lobby of an exclusive hotel. Two workingmen, Gus and Steve, who have gone there for a $3 lunch, meet and chat.

Gus: Hello, Steve. How are things?

Steve: Oh, just fair.

Gus: Anything wrong at the shop?

Steve: Oh, no, the job's all right, but I'm having trouble with my polo ponies.

Gus: Risky hobby, this raising polo ponies, Steve.

Steve: Yes, it's too much worry.

Gus: You're still working down at the gas works, I suppose.

Steve: Oh, yes.

Gus: Like it?

Steve: Pretty well, but the plant garages are inadaquate.

Gus: What's wrong?

Steve: They're too short for the men's cars.

* * * *

GUS: How's the wife?

Steve: Fine. I heard from her today. She's wintering on the Riviera. And Yours?

Gus: She's at Baden-Baden.

Steve: Are the Kiddies with her?

Gus: No, the two boys are on a trip around the world and the daughter is doing the Italian Lake region. Travel broadens one so.

Steve: It's one of the few satisfactions a workingman's family gets out of life.

Gus: Are you still living at the same place?

Steve: No, I left the Ritz last spring. I'm in a penthouse now.

Gus: Like it?

Steve: I wasn't crazy for it, but the boss thought I ought to have it. He insists there's nothing like a river view to bring out the best that's in a workingman.

* * *

GUS: Pretty good boss, eh?

Steve: Yes, but he's funny about some things.

Gus: How so?

Steve: Doesn't like it if the men come to work without their raccoon coats. Odd Dick. But means well.

Steve: How're things down at the brass mills?

Gus: We're having a little union trouble now.

Steve: What about?

Gus: The union wants a golf links connected with the grounds.

Steve: Won't the employer agree to that?

Gus: Sure, but he wants the men to buy their own golf balls!

ST. LOUIS BLUES.

Out where the hits are a little lighter,
Out where the pitching should be tighter,
Out where the outlook might be brighter—
That's where the West begins.

ELMER TWITCHELL'S DAILY EDITORIAL NO. 5.

The country is now showing keen interest in the World's series. This is an annual event. It is participated in by two teams of athletes. The game is known as baseball. The team winning the most games becomes the champion. This is as it should be and the country will offer no serious criticism. Outdoor sports are good for athletes and for spectators. They do the average man no harm and may do him good. That is a matter for scientists to determine.

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. People who do not enjoy themselves occasionally are apt to be unhappy. Sunshine and fresh air are helpful to the human system. When a man is sitting in a baseball park watching a ball game he is away from the office or shop. He is not confined indoors. He can't be reached by telephone. This is a pleasent sensation. If more People went to ball games there would be fewer people in offices. This would make them less crowded. The elevators would be less conjested at the close of the business day. People herded into elevators feel uncomfortable. In making the World's Series an annual event, America is on the right track. We are a free people. We would do well to contemplate on that.

CURTIS HAILS RELIEF PROGRAM OF HOOVER

Vice President Harks Back to Post-War Conditions in Clarksburg Speech.

LABOR CHIEFS PRAISED

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Oct. 7.—While no Democratic President has ever been successful in meeting an economic emergency, the relief measures of President Hoover are already having an effect in ameliorating and shortening the present business depression, Vice President Curtis asserted in an address here tonight. Addressing a Republican State rally, Mr. Curtis outlined the Hoover program and contrasted it with the records of Democratic administrations.

"In 1930 a new policy was announced. For the first time in the history of the United States the business men of our country were called together and were urged to agree upon a plan which would keep the wheels of the factories in motion and not to reduce wages.

"It has been estimated that this action resulted in continued production, and kept a large number of men and women at work. This new policy or plan was inaugurated by Herbert Hoover.

"It is gratifying to know that the Secretaries of Commerce and Labor and Mr. William Green, the able head of the American Federation of Labor, and his coworkers are doing everything possible to cooperate with the employers of labor to bring relief.

"We all recall that at the close of the Great War there was an opinion expressed by many that 'wages must come down to the prewar level.' But the leaders of the Republican party pointed out the fallacy of such a movement. We believe the way to bring about prosperity is to maintain a liberal wage. By doing this our millions of workers who create the great bulk of our large American home market are supplied with a purchasing power to keep up the demand for American produced goods and products. This large home market is the basis of our prosperity.

"The orators and broadcasters for our friends on the other side of the political fence seem to have forgotten the conditions of the country when their political organization turned it over to the Republican administration in 1921. We found credit on the wane, a large number of business failures, manufacturers at a standstill or running at a loss, laboring men out of employment to the extent of about 5,000,000, the farmers and stockmen harder hit than for many years, and taxes extremely high.

"The Republican party fully realized the situation and at once adopted a policy and enacted legislation which brought relief to all classes except agriculture and it did everything possible to bring about relief to that great industry."

Albemarle County Man, Farm Owner, Buried

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 7.—Robert L. Thomas, 68, retired contractor and owner of several valuable farms in Albemarle County, died yesterday at his home, Forest Lodge, 5 miles south of the city, after an illness extending over several years.

The funeral was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon, being conducted by Dr. J. W. Moore, pastor of the First Methodist Church. The burial rites were conducted by the local lodge of Elks, of which he was a member, and the interment was in the Elks' section in Maplewood Cemetery. Mr. Thomas was a son of the late Peyton L. Thomas, of Leesburg, Va. He is survived by his brother, Peyton L. Thomas, jr., of Culpeper, Va., and several nephews and nieces.

WETS IN MARYLAND WILL BACK RITCHIE

Antiprohibition Amendment Body Rates Candidates for Offices.

BROENING HELD EVASIVE

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Oct. 7.—The Maryland division of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, making public its recommendations on the candidates for State-wide offices in the November election, today urged the voters of the State to support Gov. Albert C. Ritchie and oppose Mayor William F. Broening.

"Mr. Broening has wholly failed and refused to express himself in this campaign on the prohibition question," the association's announcement said. "He is now running on an evasive platform and as an associate on the same State-wide ticket with one of the most ardent drys in the State.

"We are forced to conclude that Mr. Broening is attempting to mislead the voters and to give the impression in dry territory that he is a dry and in wet territory that he is a wet. We think him wholly unworthy of the support of any person, wet or dry, who believes in sincerity in public men."

Rating the candidates in the congressional contests, the association recommended the Republican nominee, John Philip Hill, in the Third Congressional District.

Robinson Is Indorsed.

For attorney general the association indorsed Thomas H. Robinson, Democrat, against David A. Robb, Republican. For comptroller, William S. Gordy, Democrat, was favored over W. Newton Jackson, Republican, and for clerk of the court of appeals the association choice was James A. Young, Democrat, over Charles S. Warner, Republican. The report on candidates for the National House of Representatives follows:

Second District—William P. Cole, jr., Democrat, is satisfactory; Linwood L. Clark, Republican, is an outspoken dry and unsatisfactory.

Third—Both Vincent L. Palmisano and John Philip Hill are satisfactory. But when John Philip Hill was in Congress he was the acknowledged and able leader of the wet cause in the House of Representatives. And after two terms in Congress Mr. Palmisano, with the best intentions in the world, has not been able to attain anything like the same position and influence. Therefore, we believe that the interests of the antiprohibition cause will best be served by the election of John Philip Hill and accordingly we urge all voters in the Third Congressional District to put partisanship aside and vote for John Philip Hill.

Linthicum Called "Satisfactory."

Fourth District—J. Charles Linthicum, Democrat, is the present able leader of the wet forces in the House of Representatives and satisfactory.

W. O. Atwood, Republican, is an outspoken dry and unsatisfactory.

Fifth District—Stephen W. Gambrill, Democrat, is satisfactory; A. Kingsley Love, Republican, is unsatisfactory.

Sixth District—In the Sixth Congressional District the candidates are Frederick N. Zihlman and David J. Lewis.

The present incumbent, Frederick N. Zihlman, is politically dry and wholly unsatisfactory.

David J. Lewis, in his statement accepting the nomination, declared himself opposed to the Volstead act and stated that President Wilson was correct when he vetoed it and that, had he been in Congress at that time, he would have voted to sustain President Wilson's veto.

We, therefore, recommend the election of David J. Lewis.
